LEGGE ACCEPTS CHAIRMANSHIP OF FARM BOARD

Leaves $100,000 Job for One at $12,000.

BY ARTHUR CRAWFORD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 2.—[Special.]—Alexander Legge of Chicago will be the chairman of President Hoover's new farm board.

In announcing the Chicagoan's acceptance of the appointment, the President made it known that Mr. Legge is giving up compensation of more than $100,000 a year as President of the International Harvester company to take a $12,000 salary.

Mr. Legge, the President stated, probably is making as great a sacrifice as any citizen who ever entered public service.

It was made evident that Mr. Hoover is placing reliance upon Mr. Legge as the man who can take the leadership in working aloft a solution of the farm surplus problem.

Stone to Be Vice Chairman.

Besides announcing that Mr. Legge will be chairman, the President announced that James C. Stone of Kentucky, the tobacco cooperative member of the board, will be vice chairman. He announced also that an acceptance had been received from C. C. Teague of California, identified with fruit cooperatives, who was offered a place last week.

Mr. Legge, it was indicated by the President, will serve as chairman for the first year. This statement was not amplified, but it was construed as possibly meaning that Mr. Legge has agreed to serve only for the one year period, and that at the end of that time he will return to private business.

Five of the eight appointive positions on the new farm board now have been definitely filled. Besides the three named, the others who have accepted are C. B. Denman of Missouri, president of the National Livestock Producers' association and Carl Williams of Oklahoma, editor of a farm paper and identified with wheat and cotton cooperatives.

Dairy Member Holds Back.

W. S. Moscrip of Minnesota, an official of dairy cooperatives, who was offered a place on the board, has not accepted as yet.

It was indicated at the White House that difficulty has been encountered in selecting a man to represent growers of wheat and other small grains. The membership of the board probably will be completed within the next few days.

A biography of Mr. Legge, which was issued at the White House, emphasized the fact that he was brought up on a farm; was born on a farm in Dane county, Wis., in 1866; moved to Nebraska in 1881 and worked on a farm until 1891, when he entered the employ of the McCormick Reaper company.

He advanced by promotion until he reached his present position as president of the International Harvester company in 1922. He was vice chairman of the war industries board during the world war and was manager of the allied purchasing commission.

Dollar a Year Activities.

Excerpts from "Industrial America in the World War," by Grosvenor B. Clarkson, secretary of the council of national defense, also were made public at the White House to give a line on some of the Chicagoan's activities as a "dollar a year man during the war."

According to Mr. Clarkson, Bernard Baruch, chairman of the war industries board, never had heard of Mr. Legge when his name was suggested for the management of the allied purchasing commission.

"On a list of twelve names that Mr. Baruch made up from answers he got to queries for 'coming men' who would be good material for the general management of the allied purchasing commission, appeared the name of Legge," said Mr. Clarkson.

"Baruch never had heard of him. When the list was shown to one of the chairman's associates, he pointed to Legge's name and said: 'There is your man, but you can't get him. He knows Europe, he knows human nature, he is a very shrewd trader, he is as straight as a die, and an unbeatable fighter. His is the best head in the International Harvester company. He is a rare combination of talent for leadership and gentleness.'

McCormick Holds On.

"Cyrus McCormick, then president of the International Harvester company, which Legge now heads, did not see how he could spare Legge in those ominous times for business. But Baruch wanted him. But in the border McCormick clung to Legge, as Baruch wanted him. But in

ENGINEERS TAKE STRIKE VOTE IN RAILROAD WAR

Locomotive engineers employed by the Missouri Pacific lines and the Terminal Railroad association of St. Louis have taken a strike vote to compel both railway carriers to recognize an individual grievance agreement with the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. This was announced last night by R. E. Edrington, an assistant grand chief of the brotherhood.

Negotiations for a similar contract with the Santa Fe, the Union Pacific, and Southern Pacific railroads have come to an impasse. It is reported that the engineers on these western railways will also take a strike vote within a short time. Other western, eastern, and southern railroads may become involved in threatened strike action as negotiations develop.

It is expected that the United States board of mediation, however, will assume jurisdiction before any actual walkout occurs.

The controversy is of a triangular nature. It involves the railroads, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen. Officers of the engineers' union declare it should be the sole right of their organization to represent all engineers, regardless of whether they belong to the engineers' or firemen and enginemen's brotherhood.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, July 2.—Elie Calvé, nephew of Mme. Emma Calvé, opera star, fainted and died before going on in a dramatic competition at the national conservatory, where he was graduating. Either stage fright or overwork in preparing for the final contest, or both, was given as the cause. When the time came to go on Calvé was found sprawled on the floor of his dressing room. He died several hours later. Doctors gave the cause as heart attack.

Ex-Pastor War Hero Is Picked Up as Derelict

In times past the Rev. David Brown, who wears the British Distinguished Service Medal and who has letters of commendation for his part with the American army in the Filipino insurrection, has extended the helping hand to many a fallen brother, but this morning the helping hand will be extended to him.

He will appear before a fellow veteran of the world war, Judge Joseph Burke, past commander of Blackhawk post, American Legion, as one who has strayed from the fold. Otherwise he would merely be one of the many unfortunates who are brought into the Des Plaines street court every day.

Picked up as Derelict.

Policeman B. A. Finnell came upon the huddled figure of the 60 year old man who had collapsed in the street, and took him to the station. There he was revived and he told the sergeant he had come to Chicago from Montreal three weeks ago, becoming a derelict in the Des Plaines street district.

Gray and haggard, Brown looked nothing like a hero of two wars but the contents of his pockets included four medals for distinguished service and bravery with an Essex regiment of the British army. Then there was a letter from Brig. Gen. Robert L. Howze, of the United States army, stating that the bearer, David Brown had been captured by Aguinaldo and was held prisoner of war for nine months during 1899, and he was rescued by the command of Gen. Howze who was then a lieutenant.

Photographs, newspaper clippings, letters and credentials identified him as David Brown, a minister of the Methodist Episcopal church, ordained Dec. 2, 1894 at the Montreal conference. His clerical papers were signed by A. Carman, general superintendent of the conference, and by E. B. Ryckman, president.

Pastorate in Southwest.

One letter to him referred to his pastorate at the old Harrington mission in Prescott, Ariz. Another from the Rev. Wilson Ard of Denver, Colo., represented Brown as "a man of high ideals and conduct above any reproach." A letter from Lynn Harold Hough, D. D., pastor of Central Methodist Episcopal church of Detroit, Mich., indicated that Dr. Hough felt concern for Brown's condition.

"The strain may be testing and difficult, but the fight is tremendously worth while, and when your physical strength has been rehabilitated that will be an asset all the way through," Brown was admonished.

A few more documents showed he had been through considerable sickness as a result of his war service and he was receiving a pension of $40 a month through the ministry of pensions at Ottawa.

Judge Burke was notified.

"We must do whatever will rehabilitate and reclaim him," Judge Burke announced. "The American Legion will naturally interest itself in the Rev. Mr. Brown but in addition I will ask George Dixon, who is the leading Methodist layman of the city, to come to court and help me arrange to restore him to society and happiness and health."

HARDINGE CALLS HIMSELF 'CHUMP' IN LOVE AFFAIR

Ann's Lawyer Makes Him Squirm.

BY KATHLEEN McLAUGHLIN.

Piloted by a relentless inquisitor, Franklin S. Hardinge, wealthy Chicago oil burner manufacturer, traveled the hot sands of cross-examination yesterday in the $250,000 breach of promise suit which Ann Livingston, attractive Oklahoma divorcée, is conducting against him. And the courtroom mercury soared skyward in the resultant explosion of legal pyrotechnics.

Attorney Benjamin Ehrlich, representing the plaintiff, laid down a resounding barrage of pertinent questions from the moment Defense Attorney John H. Bussian, personal lawyer and friend of the defendant, signified that he had finished his direct examination. Less than ten minutes later Mr. Ehrlich had the witness sitting on the edge of his chair on the witness stand in Judge Charles H. Miller's court in the county building shaking an excited forefinger at his questioner as he made his replies.

Denies He Repented Action.

Outstanding among the numerous points made during the day was the attempt of Ehrlich to make Hardinge admit that after he had taken "French leave" of the girl he was to have married two days later, he repented of his action while at the Astor hotel in New York, where he registered under an assumed name.

"Did you," Ehrlich shot at the witness, "have a conversation there in your room at the Astor hotel with the secretary of your company, Albert Schmutte, in which you told him that you had played a dirty trick on Ann —that she was a fine girl, and that you guessed after all you'd call her up and have her come to New York and make this trip to the West Indies with you?"

"I did not," retorted Hardinge.

May Subpoena Schmutte.

Ehrlich has signified his intention of subpœnaing Schmutte as a court's witness to tell of a conversation with Hardinge in the Astor hotel at New York, but has emphasized the fact that the latter is an unwilling witness, and what he may say on the witness stand is problematical.

Ehrlich's active handling of Hardinge on cross-examination kept the defense counsel, Bussian, continually interposing objections, which in the majority of instances were overruled. Exchange of uncomplimentary comments between counsel finally reached a point where Judge Miller halted them with the admonition, given with a grin:

"I don't have to take a militant attitude in this, but I can if necessary."

Returns Evasive Answers.

Apologies were immediately forthcoming from counsel.

Ehrlich's continual verbal thrust and parry as the witness returned evasive answers kept the defendant constantly on his mettle, almost pugnacious in his manner, and volunteering remarks that escaped the "catty" designation only because of his gender.

"Weren't you so absorbed in your conversation with Miss Livingston in this Howard street restaurant you've both told about," Ehrlich asked once, "that you didn't notice whether anybody was there or not?"

"I wasn't unconscious," replied the gray haired man on the stand.

"A Chump and a Damned Fool."

There was something more nearly approaching the vindictive than at any time since he started his testimony, as he described how he had been disillusioned by Ann's conduct toward him, and how he had branded himself "a chump and a damned fool," after deciding that she was more interested in Charles Nax, St. Louis advertising man, than in himself.

On direct examination during the morning session he asserted that Ann had confided to him her vast admiration for Nax, who could write poetry and loved music, and that she had told him she would like Nax to be the father of her child.

Under questioning by Ehrlich after the noon recess, he absolved the modish young woman sitting with her attorneys at a table facing him, clad in a black chiffon frock, from any suspicion on his part of immoral conduct with either Nax or Henry Born. Her dinner engagement with Born one night precipitated a violent quarrel between them.

On the other hand, he placed to her discredit a disgraceful scene in his

4,000 Battle Fire in City of Rich Men

San Francisco, July 2.—(AP)—Four thousand men tonight fought a fire which threatened to destroy Mill Valley, a town of more than 10,000 population, just across the bay from here. Mill Valley is the vacation center and home of scores of wealthy San Franciscans.

Starting in the wealthy northern residential section of the town this afternoon, the flames destroyed scores of residences and entered the business section. At midnight the fire was under control.

Early estimates of property damage placed the loss at $5,000,000.

A company of soldiers from the Presidio in San Francisco, together with soldiers from Fort Baker, were hurried to the scene upon a plea from Mayor Adolph Eberhart of Mill Valley to help battle the blaze. San Francisco sent four engines and four chemical wagons with fifty men.

Force Is Inadequate.

The Mill Valley mains hold only 1,400 gallons of water, Fire Commissioner Joseph Oppenheimer announced, and the supply was deemed insufficient to fight the flames.

The banks of the town began early to move out their cash and papers as it appeared the fire might advance into the business section. Stores also commenced removing their stocks of goods, and residents of houses half a mile away from the fire vacated the premises with whatever household possessions they could remove.

$200,000 Home Razed.

Many of the homes in Blythedale cañon, center of the fire area, were valued at $8,000 to $10,000 each. One report, unconfirmed, said nearly 500 structures were destroyed in Blythedale cañon alone.

Three persons were made unconscious by smoke prior to 9 o'clock and were removed to a hospital.

The home of Charles Coles, housing a $100,000 library and art collection; the $200,000 summer palace of Ralston White; the residence of Lucian Marsh, San Francisco importer, and the summer home of Kurt Ziegler, German consul at San Francisco, were among those razed.

The Northwestern Pacific railroad station was turned into a headquarters for fire refugees.

GAG A HERMIT WITH HIS BEARD AND LET HIM DIE

Toledo, Ia., July 2.—[Special.]—Scott Rouse, 80, hermit for 60 years, died tonight in a hospital at Marshalltown, as a result of being overpowered, gagged with his own beard, bound so securely he could not move and left to die in a dilapidated cottage on a farm near here.

Tama county officials believe Rouse was overpowered Saturday evening by robbers bent upon stealing a large sum of money he was credited with having hidden in his hut.

John Winn, Indian youth from the Sac-Fox reservation, found Rouse at noon today. A small safe that had been knocked open with an ax and emptied of its contents was found in the kitchen.

Many years ago a bank failed in Tama county and Rouse had not deposited money in a bank since. He was disappointed in a love affair in his youth and had been a woman hater since. He had this sign on his fence, "Women keep out."

'UNTIN' BOWLER GOAL TONIGHT IS HUDSON BAY

Large Crowd Sees Plane's Take Off.

BULLETIN.

The 'Untin' Bowler, with good weather ahead, took off shortly after 8:30 o'clock this morning for Milwaukee on the first leg of its flight for Berlin. The motors had been started an hour before and everything was found in perfect condition. A large crowd gathered near the ramp at 8th street in Grant park to watch the takeoff.

BY ROBERT WOOD.

Today we fly to Berlin, the center of another continent on the other side of the world. Our course lies over strange lands where the drone of an airplane motor aloft is unknown. Our aim is to beat a path for commerce to follow. Our goal—Berlin and home again.

Tossed on a pile of furs and skis and arctic equipment in the cabin of the 'Untin' Bowler is a government mail bag. In it is a sachet of letters addressed in a dozen foreign languages to the kings and presidents of as many foreign kingdoms and republics. We hope to deliver that bag to the postmaster at Berlin before another week rolls around—the first air mail to be carried from Chicago to Europe.

Pilots Are Confident.

"Berlin and back or bust!" is the slogan that Skipper Bob Gast repeated last night as he stood, with Shorty Cramer, giving final inspection to the 'Untin' Bowler poised on the 8th street beach, the nose turned toward the water ready for the takeoff today.

"If any ship will fly us across," he said, "the Bowler will, and all we want is our share of tail winds and good weather and we'll make it without a bobble."

THE TRIBUNE ship was ready for the takeoff late last night. Earlier in the day Gast and Cramer flew it over to the lake front from the Municipal airport with two radio men and a department of commerce inspector aboard to test its wireless. Landing in the yacht club harbor it taxied over to the ramp off 8th street in Grant park, and rolled up on the shore.

Takes Off at 8:30 a. m.

The crew will arrive at the ramp shortly after eight o'clock tomorrow morning. The twin motors will be warmed up and at 8:30 the Bowler will slide into the water and take off for the first stop at Milwaukee. There the ship will land in Milwaukee harbor and the crew will ascend the bluff to place a wreath of flowers at the base of the statue of Leif Erieson which overlooks the lake.

On the first day out the Bowler expects to reach Great Whale, a Hudson Bay trading post, 1,000 miles north of Chicago. From Milwaukee the course will lie over Lake Michigan to the Soo, where the Bowler will land and clear the Canadian customs. Flying on again to Remi Lake, Ont., a heavy load of fuel will be taken aboard.

If the preparations at Remi Lake, a forestry patrol station 40 miles west of Cochrane, do not take too long the Bowler expects to fly the additional 400 miles to Great Whale. Otherwise she will fly to Rupert House, only 200 miles farther on.

Fuel Awaits Airship.

Five thousand miles are ahead of the 'Untin' Bowler on its flight to Berlin. Of that distance 1,500 miles are across open water, although none of the water hops are more than 300 miles in length. On the shores of Greenland and Iceland, in the small ports of the Faroe and Shetland islands and through the northern woods, are supplies of gasoline stored weeks ago in caches 300 miles apart along her course.

Data compiled by Prof. Cox of the Chicago weather bureau showed that an area of low barometric pressure was centered about the eastern coast of Labrador, but it was expected to move on across Davis strait to Greenland by the time the Bowler reached Labrador. THE TRIBUNE ship will probably catch up with the tail end of this rain and cloud area at Greenland. Except for some likelihood of cloudiness north of Cochrane, the weather report showed that the weather would be generally clear for the first two days' journey.

Keep Check on Arctic Storms.

From the time the ship leaves Chicago weather reports will be gathered periodically in Chicago and sent ahead of the Bowler to be available when the ship arrives at the various stopping points, in order to avoid any unnecessary delays. THE TRIBUNE base station, which will be tuned to the ship's set throughout the flight, will flash reports to the ship in flight and on the ground.

At Greenland the weather reports will be received at the meteorological station of Prof. William H. Hobbs of the University of Michigan. Information on the weather over the Greenland ice cap and the 300 mile stretch of ocean between Greenland and Iceland will be sent to Mount Evans from Reykjavik, Iceland. Reports will also be sent from Chicago to this point. When the flyers leave Mount Evans their weather information will be received from European stations relayed through Reykjavik.

The voyage over the great ice cap of Greenland will be on the third or fourth day. No plane has ever flown across this continent before, although the army round-the-world flyers have skirted its coast. For 500 miles the Bowler will speed across skies unfamiliar to airplanes. On the other side of the ice fields is Angmassalik, an Eskimo settlement, whose chief mark of civilization is a radio tower.

The mail to be flown by the Bowler was received yesterday by Postmaster Lueder and placed in a government bag to be posted at Berlin. The greater portion of the mail is from Chicago consuls and from ambassadors at Washington, addressed to their foreign ministers.

The mail also includes messages of greetings from Gov. Emmerson of Illinois to the king of Norway and from Gov. Kohler of Wisconsin to President von Hindenburg of Germany.

Gov. Emmerson's Letter.

"I rejoice," states Gov. Emmerson, "that the initial effort to establish air mail connections between Europe and the American central west has originated in our metropolis, Chicago. It is my hope that this letter will mark the inception of the most modern communication between the two hemispheres, a closer knitting together of the nations of the earth that will serve to advance the cause of world harmony."

To President von Hindenburg, Gov. Kohler writes:

"I take this occasion to send to you and the German people greetings from the state of Wisconsin, large numbers of whose citizens are of German birth or descent. There are many common interests and ties of kinship between the people of Germany and the people of the United States, and it is our hope that the flight of the 'Untin' Bowler is but the beginning of regular air transport between our countries, and especially between Germany and Wisconsin."

From their respective consuls in Chicago are letters to the king of Norway, the president of Poland, President von Hindenburg, the king of the Serbs, Croats, Slovenes, the regent of Hungary, the president of Czecho-Slovakia, the president of Greece, the king of Sweden and Denmark, and one to the boy king, Michael of Roumania.

Hoan Writes to Berlin.

Mayor Daniel Hoan of Milwaukee has sent a message of greeting to Mayor Moess of Berlin.

The following letters came yesterday from Washington: From the Belgian ambassador to M. Evers, Belgian minister at Berlin; from Dr. Jan Skalicky, counselor of Czecho-Slovak legation at Washington, to Dr. Jan Opocensky, minister at Czecho-Slovakia; from the Austrian minister to Minister Eduard Ludwig at Wein, Austria; from the British ambassador to Sir Horace Rumbold, British ambassador at Berlin; from the French ambassador to M. de Margerie, French ambassador to Berlin; and from the Norwegian legation to the royal ministry for foreign affairs at Oslo.

The mail bag was the last item to be put on the ship last night. The other equipment was carefully placed to avoid the shifting of the load of the ship. A "duffle" bag contained the rugged clothing which will be donned when the plane reaches the arctic.

Ready for Ice Cap.

A complete set of skis and skate sails was added to the equipment yesterday. If stormy weather forces the Bowler down on the ice cap of Greenland, which has never before been crossed in an airplane, there will be equipment for "walking out." The ice cap is dome shaped with the summit in the center of the continent. From here the winds all blow outward to the coast. The crew will "sail" out from the interior of Greenland if the Bowler comes down there.

Health certificates, required by the Danish government for foreigners entering Greenland and Iceland, were assured for the crew yesterday from City Health Commissioner Kegel.

AVIATION CHIEFS LAUD TRIBUNE'S SKY PIONEERING

'Untin' Bowler Pilots Are Sent Best Wishes.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 2.—[Special.]—The enterprise of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE in sponsoring the pioneering course charting flight of the Sikorsky amphibion 'Untin' Bowler on a sky route over the top of the world from Chicago to Berlin was highly praised today by chief government aeronautics officials.

At the same time former associates of the pilots of THE TRIBUNE plane, Bob Gast and Parker D. Cramer, in the aeronautics branch of the department of commerce telegraphed to the pilots through THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE their best wishes for the flight.

Route's Possibilities Seen.

The pioneering flight was lauded by Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, chief of the naval bureau of aeronautics; Brig. Gen. Benjamin D. Foulois, commanding the air corps materiel division at Wright field; Dayton, O.; Brig. Gen. W. E. Gillmore, air corps operations chief, and by Maj. Clarence M. Young, director of aeronautics and acting secretary of commerce for aeronautics in the absence in Europe of the assistant secretary, William P. MacCracken Jr.

Rear Admiral Moffett said:

"THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE project of charting a new air route over the top of the world from Chicago to Europe is one of the most ambitious yet undertaken, and I trust it will have every measure of success. There is no doubt but that eventually the principal highway by air between the American and European continents will be developed just as were the ship lanes of today, and it is possible that this new route will prove to be the principal one.

"I am especially interested in the projected flight because it is to be attempted with a plane which is capable of landing both on land and in the sea. It has been my contention for some time that no such flights should be attempted over the ocean, except by planes capable of landing upon the water and remaining there for long periods."

Route of Major Importance.

Maj. Young, the director of aeronautics, said:

"It is obvious that there will eventually be trans-Atlantic air transport service. One of the major factors in its development is the determination of a practical route.

"Other things being equal, it would seem again obvious that the natural intermediate facilities should be used to the greatest extent possible. This would seem to indicate that the route which Gast and Cramer propose to follow offers apparent advantages definite in character which are well worthy of complete investigation."

Gen. Foulois, who directed the recent war games over Ohio, said:

"THE TRIBUNE project of a flight over the arctic to Europe is a most interesting one and one which should prove extremely valuable in the development of the highways of the air between America and Europe."

Complete Success Forecast.

Gen. Gillmore said:

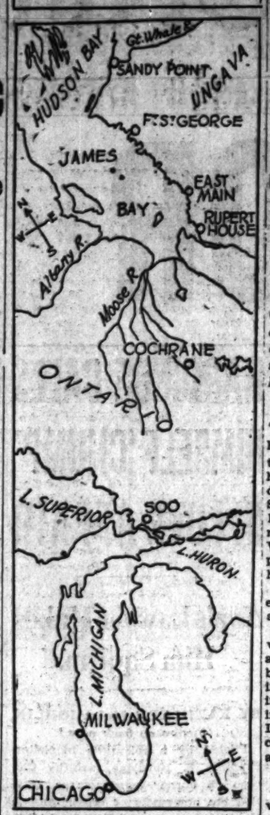
"I think the proposed flight of THE TRIBUNE amphibion from Chicago to Berlin has been splendidly conceived.

"Capt. Wilkins and others who have had experience in flying in the arctic assure us that it is a country not difficult to fly over and abounding in facilities for landing if anything goes wrong."

The two pilots of THE TRIBUNE plane, Gast and Cramer, were formerly inspectors of the aeronautics branch, department of commerce. Their former chief, G. C. Budwig, chief of the inspection section, today forwarded to the pilots, through THE TRIBUNE, this message from their former associates:

"Your old friends in the inspection section wish you every success in your contemplated flight to Berlin. 'Happy landings and best luck.'"

First Day's Flight



The map shows Chicago, from which plane is to start at 8:30 a. m. today (daylight saving time), Milwaukee, where a brief stop will be made; Cochrane, Ont., where a stop will be made for gas, and Rupert House and the mouth of the Great Whale river, at one of which, according to conditions, the plane will stop Wednesday night.

Mountain Fire Destroys Hotel and Many Homes

Santa Cruz, Cal., July 2.—[U. P.]—Fire burning over a radius of ten miles in the center of the Santa Cruz mountains tonight had destroyed Forde's resort, including the hotel and many summer homes. Three other resorts and 50 summer residences are in danger. Motorists were drafted and 100 men were on the lines at sunset. Dynamite was being used to check the flames and an airplane from San Jose was dropping bombs in an effort to extinguish the blaze.

Australia-to-London Flyers Land in Calcutta

CALCUTTA, India, July 2.—(AP)—Capt. Charles Kingsford-Smith and three companions on a flight from Sydney, New South Wales, to London, arrived at Calcutta today. The distance from their last stopping place at Rangoon was about 700 miles.

GIRL IS FOUND ASPHYXIATED.

Verona Patt, 26, of 6120 Grace street was found asphyxiated in her home last night by her brother, Dallas. An inhalator squad failed to revive her. Police found the pilot light on the gas stove out. Her death is believed to have been accidental.

HIGH ADVENTURE MARKS LIVES OF BOWLER PILOTS

Careers of Three Berlin Flyers Sketched.

Following are sketches of the lives of Robert H. Gast and Parker D. Cramer, co-pilots of the 'Untin' Bowler, and of Robert Wood, Tribune aviation editor, who will write the story of the trio's northland flight from Chicago to Berlin and back:

Robert Henry Gast, pilot of the 'Untin' Bowler, is a Kentuckian who has been flying airplanes for almost twelve years. Most of that time he has spent in seaplanes. He has been dodging clouds all over the United States for the last two years in Sikorsky air yachts, and says that never once has either of the twin Wasp motors which power these amphibions even so much as "spit at him."

He is a big, jovial, 32 year old southerner who refers to the present voyage as "Berlin and back or bust."

Soon after he quit school in Louisville Gast began working for the Packard Automobile company in Detroit, but his interest was in aviation and in 1917 he enlisted in the Royal Flying corps and trained in Canada. During the world war he was stationed in Ireland, and led patrols over the Irish coast searching for enemy submarines and ships.

Pilots "Aerial Showboat."

Early in 1919 he returned to Louisville, where he bought several war surplus planes and organized the flying field which now is known as Bowman field.

In December, 1926, he joined the department of commerce as an aviation inspector and flew all over the United States. In Hollywood a year and a half later he resigned and headed back for Louisville. He organized the Cardinal Flying service, which later was taken over by the Curtiss Flying company.

PARKER D. CRAMER

Parker D. Cramer, co-pilot and navigator of the 'Untin' Bowler, is a crackerjack flying man. He also knows his icebergs and his way around in the far north for he has been up there in airplanes three times.

On the Bowler's round trip flight to Berlin Cramer will profit by his experience last summer when he flew with Bert Hassel in the plane City of Rockford as far as Hobbs' camp, Greenland.

Cramer is small in stature but strong in courage and is well equipped in training for the Bowler flight. Born in Lafayette, Ind., on March 16, 1898, he attended public school there and later moved with his parents to Bradford, Pa., where he was in school until 1916. He now calls Clarion, Pa., his home town.

Starts Flying in Gliders.

By 1909 Cramer had shown his love of flying. He began making flights in home made gliders and by 1911 had developed a fairly successful glider. In 1915 Cramer joined the Curtiss company in the experimental research department.

When the United States entered the world war Cramer joined up with the air service.

He joined the department of commerce in December, 1926. In the department of commerce he worked with Bob Gast.

After the unsuccessful attempt to fly from Rockford to Stockholm with Hassell, Cramer resigned from the government service.

In April of this year he flew to Mexico on a proposed mail route inspection tour. Then he flew to the far north, Siberia and Nome.

ROBERT W. WOOD

Robert W. Wood, aviation editor of THE TRIBUNE, was born on May 2, 1905, in Canton, Ill. Soon after graduating from Lake Forest college in 1926 he joined THE TRIBUNE staff as a reporter. A year ago, when the aviation department of the newspaper was established, Wood was made editor. Since then he has flown on many trips in the 'Untin' Bowler, describing the plane's air adventures.

Second Day's Flight

The map shows Rupert House and the mouth of the Great Whale river, from either of which the start will be made tomorrow morning, and the territory between them and Port Burwell, Cape Chidley, Labrador, at which the plane is to stop tomorrow night. The frozen wastes of Ungava, over which this day's flight must be made, present unusual dangers in case of a forced landing.

ALL SCANDINAVIA HAILS OPENING OF ARCTIC BY 'UNTIN'

Northern Airway Means Spur to Prosperity.

BY JOHN AHL NIELSEN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

COPENHAGEN, July 2.—The northern air route by way of Greenland has been important to Denmark since the arctic explorer, Sir Hubert Wilkins, first boosted it following his trans-arctic flight. Last summer it was stimulated by the Cramer-Hassel flight from Rockford, Ill., but doubt arose when that flight ended on the Greeland ice deserts, where the lost airplane today rests as a rusty memory of the efforts to bridge the northern route.

When THE TRIBUNE announced the flight of Robert Gast, Parker Cramer and Robert Wood as a serious effort to prove the stability of the northern route, new interest was awakened here, as Denmark will prosper by a northern airway.

Danish Government Enthusiastic.

The Danish governmental offices displayed keen interest in the bold enterprise, which seems to be the first seriously based outlook for linking the new and old worlds above the sea routes of the old vikings.

In the foreign ministry and monopoly department handling Greenland trade, was found the greatest understanding of the project, which, if successful, will draw the far arctic shores into the limelight of modern civilization, opening new possibilities for the future of the arctic islands.

During his visit here after his unsuccessful flight last year, Shorty Cramer won scores of friends. If he succeeds this time he will win not only Denmark, but Norway, Sweden and Iceland, and if friendship and good wishes mean anything, THE TRIBUNE flyers will wing their way to success on Scandinavian sympathy.

Capt. Koehl Tells Views.

[Copyright: 1929. By The Chicago Tribune.]

BERLIN, July 2.—"I have heard with pleasure of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S projected flight to Europe in easy stages, for it is only by experience garnered in this way that progress can be made with a view to choosing the best means and best route for a trans-Atlantic air service," Capt. Hermann Koehl, famous German trans-oceanic flyer, said.

"I assume the best possible plane and pilots have been chosen. Under these conditions, success should be insured provided they have ordinary luck. If I presumed to give advice it would be not to go too far north. There is big danger from fog and violent storms. Once they have passed Labrador, the atmosphere and conditions ought to favor the flight, for there the fog is usually absent and the normal wind conditions are to the east.

"The route chosen is one of the shortest, and if the Labrador difficulties can be overcome it would be one of the best possible. We who are interested in trans-ocean flying will watch with interest the progress of the flight and the experience thus gained. Already since we made the westward crossing, aviation has made great progress, and I assume that this progress is reflected in the choice of THE TRIBUNE'S plane."

Aviation Notes

The United States navy yesterday placed an order for eighteen planes with the Great Lakes Aviation corporation of Cleveland, according to Col. Benjamin F. Castle, president of the company. The planes will be so constructed that they will be available for bombing, torpedo work or scouting.

The number of pilots licensed by the department of commerce had reached 6,735 on July 1, according to figures released yesterday by the department. At that date the department officially recognized 418 private and commercial airports and 24 radio communication stations for airplanes.

A dispatch from St. Johns, New Brunswick, told yesterday of a projected record smashing flight from Canada to Paris, to be headed by W. Scott Hammond, former American world war ace. Hammond will be accompanied by Capt. John O. Donaldson, an official of the Newark, N. J., airport, and a relief pilot whose name was not made public. The flight will be backed by P. D. Eelands, a New York stock broker.

New two years ago —in the mode today

THE LINCOLN'S perennial beauty is untouched by passing fads and fancies. The Lincoln that first saw service two years ago is still one of the smartest cars on the boulevard. Its beauty is independent of time and place. This two-year-old car is admired today for the fine thing it is—a Lincoln.

Lincolns that have stood the test of service — splendid cars with only a few thousand miles of use—are purchasable at prices that in no way indicate their true values. These cars are as smart—as much in the current mode—as new cars. They are as powerful, as quiet, and as thoroughly capable as a car can be made. They will provide a kind of satisfaction in motoring difficult to experience outside Lincoln ownership.

A few such Lincolns are now to be seen on local dealers' floors. Every one is in perfect mechanical condition. Authorized Lincoln dealers are always glad to demonstrate them to you, without the slightest obligation. Drop in today.

W-G-N TO FLASH WORD PICTURE OF BOWLER'S START

Roar of Motors, Pilots' Talks to Be Heard.

Both park officials last night predicted that 5,000 persons would gather at the foot of 12th street this morning at 8:30 o'clock to watch the 'Untin' Bowler soar northward on the first leg of its flight to Berlin. They made this estimate after looking over the multitude which assembled last evening to see the big amphibion drop down to the water after its hop from the municipal airport.

For the countless thousands who will be unable to visit the ramp at 12th street this morning, W-G-N, THE TRIBUNE'S radio station, has planned to reproduce the scene, with Quin Ryan furnishing the color and atmosphere and the microphone itself carrying the roar of the motors and the talks of the flyers.

Col. McCormick to Speak.

Col. Robert R. McCormick, publisher of THE TRIBUNE, will speak over WGN this evening at 9 o'clock. He will discuss the reason for the flight and the manner in which it originated, explaining why the northern route from Chicago to Berlin was thought most feasible.

Ernest Pribble, manager of the radio entertainments, last night completed the special extensions of wires which will make the broadcasting of the takeoff possible. Thus, Chicagoans at their breakfast tables will hear Bob Gast and Parker Cramer, pilots, and Jack Wood, historian of the trip, express their feelings as they sit in the plane just a few moments before they take off on their trip half way around the world.

The flyers, their families and others closely connected with the flight, will gather at THE TRIBUNE Tower this morning at 7 o'clock. Under a special motorcycle escort, they will proceed in automobiles to the 8th street ramp. Half an hour later, the two pilots and Wood expect to be in the air with the 'Untin' Bowler's nose pointed towards the Arctic circle.

Police Will Guard Ship.

Several squads of police will guard the flying ship at the ramp, preventing the crowd from massing forward and perhaps causing some damage to the boat. There will be ample space for the crowd to assemble in the wide area just west of the ramp and east of the entire drive, officials pointed out. The ramp itself is protected by a heavy wire fence.

Ceremonies preceding the takeoff will be brief. Gast, Cramer and Wood will say a few words and a few other short talks will be made. Then the radio listeners will hear Pilot Gast press the electric starter. They will hear the roar of the twin Wasp motors. They will hear the splash of the lake water as the 'Untin' Bowler's prow strikes the waves. And with Announcer Ryan describing the ship as it grows smaller in the distance, they will be able to visualize the start of the first Chicago to Berlin flight.

All three flyers talked over W-G-N last night, expressing their confidence that they would be viewing the Willebmstrasse next Sunday.

Gast Predicts Success.

"This is just a matter of sitting down at the controls of a good ship and flying 5,000 miles," said Pilot Gast. "She's a great boat and I've never had a kick about her. The route is practicable and the weather should be good. Even if the weather isn't too favorable, the 'Untin' Bowler will plow through it."

"I've fought for this route to Europe for years," Cramer told the radio audience. "It's logical and it's safe."

"We have a sturdy ship and an able crew and if the weather man gives us a hand, we ought to be over on the other side within a week, ready to take up again and come home," said Navigator Wood. "We'll try to give you a word picture from day to day, telling the story of how it is to fly from Chicago to Berlin in an airplane."

Kidnaped Banker Tells Story

Willard H. Elliott, vice president of Hobart Trust company of Passaic, N. J., who was seized by men who told him they were Chicago gangsters last Wednesday and released yesterday, without explanation either for his kidnaping or his being freed being given. He is shown with his 8 year old daughter, Ruth, who was with him just before he was kidnaped.

KIDNAP BANKER, TREAT HIM WELL AND LET HIM GO

Nobody Knows What It's All About.

New York, July 2.—[Special.]—Willard H. Elliott, vice president of the Hobart Trust company of Passaic, who disappeared last Wednesday, was found early this morning calmly reading a newspaper in the front seat of his automobile in Nutley, N. J., a few miles from his home.

The story he told left the police, who have been searching the country for him the last week, as puzzled as they were when their first investigation disclosed no reason for Elliott's disappearance. Elliott himself professes to be completely mystified concerning his experiences.

It was not until after he had telephoned John J. Roegner, mayor of Passaic and president of the Hobart trust, promising to come back to work tomorrow, that the details of Elliott's experience were learned. He joined his wife and small daughter, Ruth, at his home in East Orange and it was there that he related the whole adventure to detectives.

Followed and Captured.

He left home in his car last Wednesday morning, accompanied by Ruth, he told the detectives, and dropped the child at the Columbian playground in East Orange. Then he started for the bank in Passaic. About a mile from the bank, he said, he noticed a gray sedan in which there were two men following him.

"Both of them were Italians—there is no question in my mind about that," he declared. "One of them was about 33 years old and the other fellow must have been about 35. When I got to a driveway opposite a roadhouse in Passaic avenue, Passaic, a small dark car came out of the driveway and pulled up alongside my car. I noticed a fellow in the small car had a revolver in his hand and then I saw that the gray car had pulled up on the other side of me. From somewhere a command came for me to stop. I just stopped.

Taken to Junk Yard First.

"The man in the small car got out, stuck his revolver in my ribs, demanded that I get out of the seat and made me lie down in the back of my own car. I was assured that I would not be harmed if I kept still. My car was driven to what I believe was a junk yard of some kind. I saw a large paper press and bales of paper.

"A handkerchief was used to blindfold me. Then I was driven in my own car for what seemed to be about half an hour. The car stopped and I was ordered to get out and was brought up to what I think must have been a porch.

"There was a slight pause, and then a door opened and a feminine hand, or at least it seemed as though it was, took hold of my hand and led me in the house and up some stairs. The next thing I knew these two men from the other car entered the room and removed my blindfold. It was a small room. The shades were drawn. There was a bed in the room, but no carpet on the floor.

Captors Acting Under Orders.

"From upstairs I heard many telephone conversations and heard children playing around. The men continually told me that if I just took things easy no harm would come to me. They admitted they were Chicago gunmen hired to kidnap me but they didn't know why. They were acting under orders. They kept impressing upon me that no harm would come to me. They told me if at any time I should hear gun play they would leave the back door open, so that I could make my escape that way, because I was not mixed in that.

"I was kept in that house until 1:30 o'clock this morning. They treated me very fine. We played poker and drank wine. My food consisted of sandwiches and most wonderful coffee. They took nothing from me, excepting $2.80. I lost playing poker with them. In fact, that cleaned me out of ready cash. For some reason, they wanted a souvenir of this job, so I gave them my belt, which had a very fine silver buckle on it.

"On Saturday night, I told them I could not stand this any longer, that I must find some way to let my wife know I was all right. So they dictated a note for me to write to my wife. It read: 'I am O. K., don't worry. Am being detained. Best love to you and Ruth. Willard.'

Note to Wife Not Delivered.

"They told me they would mail that to my wife or see that she got it very promptly, but Mrs. Elliott tells me she never received it. I don't know where I was, but I think I was somewhere in Bergen county. I remember seeing a milk bottle with the name Clifton on it. [Clifton is a Bergen county town near Passaic.].

"They let me go this morning at 1:30. They had kept my shoes from me all the time I was there.

"When they turned my shoes over to me they were very muddy and they scraped the mud off them with a revolver.

Shoes Cleaned with Gun.

"If it hadn't been for the worry about my wife, I would have had a wonderful time. They were, I must admit, very decent to me. They had many conversations between themselves, but I did not hear anything about the bank.

In leaving the house where he was kept prisoner, Elliott said he was blindfolded again. He was driven about for a short time, and when the blind was removed he found himself in his own car, parked on a lonely road.

Passaic police, shortly after Elliott's return, found a woman who carroborated part of his story. This woman, Mrs. Marina Richardson of Passaic, telephoned Capt. Charles Monkee and told of seeing Elliott in the car.

ROCKFORD CHAMBER SENDS GOOD CHEER TO BERLIN FLYERS

Rockford, Ill., July 2.—[Special.]—The Rockford Chamber of Commerce issued a statement tonight, wishing the 'Untin' Bowler success in its trans-Atlantic adventure. "Rockford is keenly interested in the flight," said the statement signed by C. E. Patrick, secretary. "A year ago Rockford backed such a flight over the same route to Stockholm with Bert Hassell as pilot and Parker Cramer as co-pilot. We feel that the northern route to Europe which they tried will be demonstrated through the enterprise of the World's Greatest Newspaper as the safest and most logical route."

PREPARE TO KEEP FLYERS INFORMED ABOUT WEATHER

Illustrative of the efficiency with which the 'Untin' Bowler's flight to Berlin has been planned was the general order drafted yesterday at a conference in which the three flyers and C. A. Donnel of the United States weather bureau participated. The order follows:

"Flyers will leave Chicago Wednesday morning, July 3, at 1:30 (daylight saving time) and will reach Rupert House or Great Whale river that night.

"Plane will leave this station Thursday morning and will fly to Port Burwell, Cape Chidley.

"Chicago will send weather bureau report to Port Burwell, Cape Chidley, by commercial stations at 11:30 o'clock (Chicago daylight saving time) Thursday morning.

"Port Burwell operator is requested to call plane first half of every odd hour, that is, between 7 and 7:30, 9 and 9:30, and so on until the plane arrives, and give the plane the weather at Cape Chidley at that time.

"If everything is favorable, the plane will gas up at Port Burwell and continue to Hobbe observatory at Mount Evans, Greenland.

"Hobbe observatory is requested to advise Port Burwell by noon Thursday of weather conditions in its vicinity and to endeavor to send weather information to the plane the first half of every odd hour between that time and the plane's arrival.

"THE TRIBUNE will send the weather bureau's report at 11:30 o'clock (Chicago daylight saving time) Thursday night to Hobbe observatory.

"Weather permitting, plane will leave Hobbe observatory Friday morning and fly to Reyjavik.

"Reykjavik requested to inform Hobbe observatory every hour Friday morning as to weather conditions around Iceland and to send the same information to the plane the first half of every odd hour until the plane arrives at Iceland."

BY HAL FOUST.

Milwaukee, Wis., July 2.—[Special.]—Into Milwaukee bay, which was mapped in 1673 by the explorers, Father Marquette and Louis Joliet, will drop the 'Untin' Bowler tomorrow morning at the beginning of its flight to Berlin.

Wisconsin promoters of sky commerce tonight were discussing the flight as another reconnaissance that may place the state's largest city on the industrial map of the near future as an important point on a trans-oceanic trade route.

It is with such an opinion of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE plane's intercontinental cruise that Wisconsin and Milwaukee officials and business leaders have prepared a brief ceremony for tomorrow morning on the lake front here.

Advance Time of Welcome.

The time for the arrival of the 'Untin' Bowler here was advanced yesterday from 9 a. m. to 8:30 a. m., central standard time, so the plane can take advantage of the favorable flying weather. The craft will leave Chicago at 8:30 a. m., daylight saving time.

The 'Untin' Bowler will come here over the route followed in a canoe more than two and a half centuries ago by the adventurers from Europe, up the west coast of Lake Michigan. Again there is the comparison. Father Marquette and Joliet were exploring a country new to the white man; the 'Untin' Bowler is to explore sky new to commerce.

After the plane takes off from Milwaukee its nose will be turned north for the 4,750 mile swing to Berlin, with convenient stops such as would be practical for commercial service.

Flyers to Be Met at Dock.

The crew will be met at the dock here by Mayor Daniel W. Hoan, resident members of the legislative air committee, and a delegation from the Milwaukee Chamber of Commerce. Pilots Bob Gast and Shorty Cramer with Bob Wood, THE TRIBUNE aviation editor, who comprise the sky survey party, will be greeted by the public on the Lincoln Memorial bridge, near the dock.

The visitors have ordered a wreath that they will place at the foot of Leif Ericson's statue in Juneau park, on the water front, in tribute to the Norseman who tested the value of the northern route in sailing from Iceland to America in 1000 B. C.

W-G-N to Broadcast Ceremony.

Back on the Lincoln Memorial bridge again, business and political leaders of the community will express their good wishes, and the crew will be returned to the ship. The ceremony will be broadcast over W-G-N, THE TRIBUNE radio station.

The 'Untin' Bowler will carry messages to Germany from the Milwaukee Association of Commerce and from the Milwaukee Herold.

"We take this opportunity," Gustav Haas, editor in chief of the Herold, is writing to the Berliner Lokal-Anzeiger, "to convey to you via the airplane 'Untin' Bowler of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, the greatest and most influential newspaper of the great American west, greeting and best wishes of the German-Americans of this region to the kinsmen in the old country."

Business Sends Message.

Oscar F. Stotzer, president of the Milwaukee association of commerce, wrote to the American chamber of commerce in Germany as follows:

"This letter written on the occasion of the departure of the 'Untin' Bowler of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE from Milwaukee to Berlin, and conveyed to you through the courtesy of its crew, carries to the people of our great sister republic and to your organization the compliments and good wishes of the industrial and business interests of Milwaukee and Wisconsin represented by this association."

CLOSER TIES WITH U. S. ARE PLEDGED BY MACDONALD

Labor Premier Outlines Plans to Parliament.

BY JOHN STEELE.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

LONDON, July 2.—For the first time in the history of England a Labor lord chancellor opened parliament today with all the ancient ceremony and read the king's speech, which was written by the Labor prime minister, Ramsay MacDonald. The occasion was shorn of some of its brilliance by the absence of King George, who, although nearly fully recovered, is not yet allowed by his doctors to undergo the strain of such public ceremonials. In his absence his speech was read by Lord Sankey as head of the commission representing the monarch.

In the house of commons real business began this afternoon when the speech was read and a preliminary debate opened. The speech itself was one of the longest and most comprehensive in recent history, and contained little of a really controversial nature. The only piece of real socialism is the suggestion for an inquiry into the ownership of minerals, which is understood to mean a proposal to nationalize mining royalties.

Appeals for Harmony.

The other proposals are such, in general, that all parties can agree if they are in the spirit of agreement, and this spirit seemed abroad in the house today. Mr. MacDonald admitted freely that he led the minority party in the house, and appealed for the house to form itself "rather into a council of state than regiments arrayed against each other," for there was much useful work, he declared, which could be done by coöperation and good will. He promised for himself and his party to abstain as far as possible from useless controversy and party acrimony.

Former Premier Baldwin spoke in the same strain, and the back benches cheered these unusual sentiments. Mr. Baldwin, as leader of the opposition, on the whole, made a very conciliatory speech. He reminded Mr. MacDonald that he, Mr. MacDonald, was leader of the minority, which the latter admitted. He then asked a series of questions, which Mr. MacDonald referred to in his reply.

Chiefly interesting of these was the reference to Mr. MacDonald's intended visit to America. Mr. Baldwin wanted to know when and under what conditions he would go and if he had asked the king's permission.

Baldwin Urges U. S. Visit.

Mr. Baldwin explained that he fully approved of a personal contact between English and American statesmen and as it was not constitutional for President Hoover to come to Europe, Mr. MacDonald ought to go to America. At the same time, he thought, it should be made clear that the visit was made for personal contact only and too much actual accomplishment should not be expected or attempted.

Because of the present state of negotiations, the prime minister asked to be excused from answering now but promised a statement at the earliest possible moment.

Mr. MacDonald, describing his conversations so far with Ambassador Dawes regarding disarmament, said they were purely preliminary and of an exploratory character. The relations between America and Great Britain have not been too happy in recent years, he said, and both he and Gen. Dawes are determined to do all in their power to change that. He assured the house that no time would be lost, but that it would be fatal to rush matters.

Will Include Other Powers.

He also gave his assurance that as soon as a stage of actual negotiation was reached both would seek at once the coöperation of other great naval powers, but the public must understand that first of all an Anglo-American agreement was necessary for success.

Referring to the charge that the new government might repudiate some of the British debt agreements, the prime minister declared:

"We will go back on none of our contracts, but in future bargaining we will not forget the just business interests of our own nation."

Replying to Mr. Baldwin's questions regarding the Labor policy of safeguarding, which is the Tory euphemism for protection, Mr. MacDonald said there would be no expansion of safeguarding to new interests and he held himself free to drop protective duties in existence as and when it became convenient.

Toward the end of the speech the prime minister became involved in a question and answer interchange with David Lloyd George, leader of the Liberal party, for whose benefit it is supposed he included in the king's speech a promise to set up an inquiry into the working of the electoral system. Mr. Lloyd George is complaining that, while the Liberals polled nearly a quarter of the total votes, they have got less than one-tenth of the house.

The prime minister made it plain that, while he intended to inquire into the possibility of remedying this, he also intended to try to find some remedy for the use of immense election funds which, he declared, while not technically illegal, violated the spirit of the corrupt practices act.

Gets Off to Good Start.

One the whole, the sessions opened well for Labor. The temper seems good, the Tories seem in a frame of mind to play the game decently, allowing the Laborites to get on with pressing reforms. The Liberals are still to be heard from, but it is difficult to see how they can object to the Labor program, most of which formed the planks also of the Liberal platforms.

There was only one controversial note, which came when the attorney general gave notice that he would introduce a bill to amend the trade disputes act.

ADMIRAL FISKE WINS $195,500 IN PATENT BATTLE WITH NAVY

REAR ADMIRAL FISKE.

Washington D. C., July 2.—[Special.]—The fight waged by Rear Admiral Bradley A. Fiske to obtain royalties from the navy department for its use of a patented device of his invention which made practicable the dropping of aerial torpedoes from seaplanes was won in the federal courts today.

Justice Wendell B. Stafford of the District of Columbia Supreme court awarded the fiery rear admiral a judgment of $195,500 against Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, chief of the naval bureau of aeronautics. Originally the suit also included former Secretary of the Navy Curtis D. Wilbur and Rear Admirals Claude Bloch and Charles B. McVay Jr., as defendants.

Suits against all but Rear Admiral Moffett were voluntarily dropped by Fiske. Rear Admiral Moffett was named because he was in command of the bureau of aeronautics when the Fiske device was first installed on naval aircraft.

Although the judgment was rendered against Rear Admiral Moffett, it is understood the government eventually will pay Fiske if the Supreme court upholds the lower court decision today.

Rear Admiral Fiske asked a royalty of $500 on each navy torpedo plane using his device and the court agreed this sum was reasonable. A total of 337 torpedo planes were built by the navy department during the two years covered by the suit. Should the Supreme court uphold Justice Stafford, the rear admiral would be able to file similar suits to collect $500 on each torpedo plane built since 1927.

Justice Stafford held that the right of an officer of the navy to take out a patent on an invention of the type evolved by Rear Admiral Fiske has been recognized by the Supreme court. The government had contended that the navy department had a legal right to the free use of devices invented by naval officers while in the service.

TEXT OF SPEECH

LONDON, July 2.—(AP)—The king's speech, read to parliament today by Lord Chancellor Sankey, follows:

"While I regret that it is not possible to address you in person, I thank Almighty God that I can look forward with confidence to that complete restoration of health for which the prayers of my people throughout the empire, with sympathy and affection which will call forth my deepest gratitude, were offered during the months of my long illness.

"My relations with foreign powers continue to be friendly.

"The independent financial experts appointed to draw up proposals for complete and definite settlement of the German reparations problem have presented a unanimous report which is at present being considered by my government in preparation for a conference of representatives of the governments concerned.

"A settlement of this problem will enable occupying powers to proceed with evacuation of the Rhineland.

Early Reduction of Armaments.

"Conversations have commenced with the ambassador of the United States of America on the subject of naval disarmament, in consequence of which it is the earnest hope of my government to insure in coöperation with my governments in the dominions, the government in India and the governments of the foreign powers, in early reduction in armaments throughout the world.

"My government is examining the conditions under which diplomatic relations with the government of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics may be resumed.

"Estimates for public service will be laid before you. It will be the foremost endeavor of my ministers to deal with unemployment."

"My government has under consideration the question of reorganization of the coal industry, including hours and other factors, and of ownership of minerals.

"Inquiries will be undertaken immediately into the condition of the iron and steel and cotton industries in order to discover the means for coöperating with them to improve their position in the markets of the world.

Will Name Liquor Commission.

"My ministers decided that the time has come to investigate the whole field of legislation relating to sale and supply of intoxicating liquor and on their recommendation I propose to appoint at an early date commissioners for this purpose."

Mention was made of the survey of national insurance and pensions schemes and it was said a bill was being prepared to amend the widows and orphans and old age contributory pensions act.

FRANCE MAY PUT RESERVATIONS ON O. K. OF WAR DEBT

Accords Win Approval in Preliminary Test.

BY HENRY WALES.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

PARIS, July 2.—Rarer than the great auk is the French politician who is willing to risk his seat in parliament by ratifying the debt accords with the United States and Great Britain without a safeguard clause effective in the event of Germany's refusal to continue to pay reparations.

Of the finance and foreign affairs commission of the chamber of deputies, which met today to examine the debt question preparatory to the general debate in the chamber next week, only one member raised his hand when the respective chairmen asked who was for unconditional acceptance.

Fifteen for Conditional O. K.

But ratification with reservations had proponents in sufficient number so that if the ratio is extended to the chamber itself there will be a majority. The foreign affairs commission has fifteen members for conditional ratification and eight against. Of the eight opponents, five are members of the Louis Marin group, representing the industry crowd, two are Socialists, and one is a Royalist.

The supporters belong chiefly to the moderate group, where Premier Poincare's chief strength lies.

The finance commission, by a vote of 20 to 13, elected François Pietri, hardfisted Corsican financier, and a partisan to ratification with the simplest reservations possible, to draw up a formula satisfactory to everybody.

Rally to Poincare.

All important parliamentary groups met to decide on tactics for the forthcoming battle. The government's position was strengthened when the Marin group, the seat of the bitterest opposition to ratification in any form, decided that each member should have freedom to vote as he saw fit, except in the event that the left wing plotted to overthrow Premier Poincare, in which case they would be all bound to rally to the government's standard.

The important moderate group of ninety-four members known as republicans of the left, who are a pillar of the Poincare ministry, met and drafted their idea of a proper reservation to attach to the accords which, if ratified, will take the form of a law.

"The annual credits necessary for the execution of this law will be exclusively drawn for each payment on the annuities paid by Germany," the reservation reads.

Warned of U. S. Opposition.

The radical socialist group, headed by M. Malvy, chairman of the finance commission, insisted on an even more elaborate safeguard clause, making payment conditional also on German acceptance of the Young reparations plan and the integral execution of it.

M. Lamoureux, former reporter of the budget, jumped up and warned them that such a clause would certainly excite serious opposition in the American senate and might result in that body quashing the Mellon-Berenger accord entirely.

An eleventh hour attempt to bring about the downfall of the government before the debate on ratification of the war debts failed miserably at the end of tonight's session. Jean Goy of the veterans' associations arose to interpellate the government on the manner in which the chamber's will regarding postponement of payment of the war stocks debt due the United States on Aug. 1 was conveyed to Secretary of State Stimson. Premier Poincare, in a cold rage, threatened a confidence vote and forced postponement of the interpellation.

KILLED BY LEAD POISONING.

Clarence McClanahan, 36 years old, a sheet metal worker living at 5858 South Homan avenue, died yesterday in the Post Graduate hospital, supposedly of lead poisoning contracted while at work.

HUNGARIANS ARREST CZECH; INTERNATIONAL RAILWAY IS CLOSED

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

VIENNA, July 2.—International railway service between Hungary and Czecho-Slovakia has been discontinued on the line running between Kaschau and Miskolcs owing to the arrest yesterday of a Czecho-Slovakian stationmaster, Wenzel Pecha, in the frontier town of Hidasnemeti by Hungarians. In reprisal for the arrest the Czechs discontinued the service. The Hungarian government said it knew for some time that Pecha was trying to spy into the military activities of Hungary.

Make Formal Protest.

PRAGUE, July 2.—The Czecho-Slovakian government has sent instructions to its minister at Budapest, Hungary, officially to protest against the arrest of a Czecho-Slovakian citizen, Wenzel Pecha, charged with being a spy, at the border station of Hidasnemeti.

Arrest Italians.

BELGRADE, July 2.—The captain and crew of an Italian boat have been arrested by Jugo-Slavian authorities at Port Racista on the island of Korcula, charged with abetting Italian espionage in Dalmatia.

HUMANE SOCIETY ASKS DOG POUND HEAD QUIT POST

Charges Cruelty in Catching, Killing Waifs.

Canine ears and tails wagged eagerly yesterday as Chicago's dog population took the spotlight in a controversy waging over the treatment of the waifs whose last resting place before leaving this earth is the city's dog pound. The aristocrats of dogdom and the mixture of strains which compose the vast lower class of curs and mongrels, all were concerned in the discussion which included the manner by which they are caught, if not licensed, and later sent to the "happy hunting" grounds.

This interest in the affairs of the dog was aroused by the charges of the Chicago Humane Education society that William S. Stuart, superintendent of the pound, violates the humane laws and a demand that he resign. It was a familiar subject to Mr. Stuart, who said he has been receiving letters from the society for three years, but he became incensed at the implication that he is not the dogs' friend.

Can't Assist in Execution.

"I think just as much of a dog as the members of the society do," Mr. Stuart declared. "I realize that dogs were placed on the earth for some purpose and my long association with all breeds has engendered a friendly feeling in me for all of them.

"In fact, the feeling is so strong that I haven't the heart to aid my assistants in preparing the waifs for their last scent of the trail. Why, I wouldn't let anyone abuse them. If I saw a man treating a dog cruelly I would fight."

Many dogs have been the guests of Mr. Stuart at the pound during the twenty-five years he has been associated with it and the charges of cruelty recalled to him his efforts to obtain kind treatment for his ever changing lodgers.

Tells of Sending Aid to Hospital.

"Seventeen years ago I caught an employe abusing one of our charges," the superintendent recalled. "I used the same practices on the employe that he had been using on the dog and he retired to a hospital to mend. And now I continually lecture the employes to exercise kindness in handling the strays and the lost ones that are brought here."

The society's charges mention a lack of interest in the canine welfare, lack of personal supervision, and the use of unnecessarily cruel methods in the handling of the dogs. The cruel methods referred to include the practice of catching the dogs with a thin wire noose and of putting them to death with charcoal gas instead of using harmless halters on the end of long poles and illuminating gas or electricity in the death chamber.

Says Method Is Painless.

"It is more painful to the dog to belabor him with a long pole trying to slide the halter over his head than our wire method," said Mr. Stuart, "and our method of putting them to death is painless and instantaneous. Electrocuted dogs and cats have come back to life, but those treated with our method don't. Our system has been praised as the best in existence."

Chicago has a dog population of approximately 200,000, three times as large as that of any other city, according to Mr. Stuart. The pound now houses 600 dogs and yesterday 190 calls came in for the dog catchers to pick up biting dogs.

AMERICAN PEOPLE TO SPEND 75 MILLION IN CELEBRATING JULY 4

New York, July 2.—(AP)—It will require $75,000,000 to finance the American people's celebration of the Fourth of July, bankers estimated today.

Items for which this sizable sum will be expended range from firecrackers and hot dogs to gasoline and railroad tickets, the amount of the actual cash outlay depending on whether the weather permits Uncle Sam's nieces and nephews to take full advantage of the holiday. However, the possibilities of rain are not taken into account as the prospective merrymakers go to their banks for funds, and financial institutions must prepare for the maximum.

Holiday withdrawals have a tightening effect on the money market, but this is promptly relieved when the myriad hands into which the cash has been paid on the festive day carry it back to the banks for deposit.

GIBRALTAR ROARS WILD WELCOME TO SPAIN FLYERS

Franco Tells Hardships While Drifting at Sea.

GIBRALTAR, July 2.—(AP)—The Spanish flyers headed by Maj. Ramon Franco, whose fate had been in doubt for more than a week while they floated in their seaplane off the Azores islands, came into port this morning on the British aircraft carrier Eagle, which rescued them. No greater welcome than they received ever was accorded to brave men who had faced the terrors of the air and seas.

All the British residents of England's great rock fortress, together with thousands of Spaniards, Moors from Africa in picturesque garments, and other foreign visitors, gathered in the streets, along the slopes and at all other points of vantage to greet the men who were as those returning from the grave.

Maj. Franco and his three companions, Maj. Eduardo Gonzales Gallarza, Capt. Julio Ruiz de Alda, and Mechanic Pedro Madariaga, responded lustily to the cheering, the handshaking and the embraces from the thousands of their admirers.

Franco Tells Experiences.

Shortage of water, cold, rough seas and a bitter sense of being at the mercy of the waves were the chief memories of the flyers.

"The landing when we ran out of gas on June 22, was made perfectly on a quiet sea," Maj. Franco said. "My watch showed nine in the morning. At first we did not know where we were, although we presumed that we could not be so far from the Azores. Then the sea became rough and strong winds pushed the plane from one side to the other. We saw no vessel. We felt slightly cold. Naturally we were much disappointed. Thinking that we would soon see a boat, we settled ourselves and arranged to stand guard.

"We were not worried about eating since we had food for 15 days. The first night we did not sleep, although at dawn I had a little nap in the commanding cabin. On the morning of the 23rd the sea was rough and we feared for the plane. We even thought of dismounting the wings to avoid being shipwrecked. However, thanks to God, this was not necessary.

Drink Water in Radiator.

"We began, then, to feel thirsty, but soon decided to drink the water stored in the radiator. We did not drink it all. There is some left yet. You may taste it if you want.

"The following night was rather bad. It was cold and we had to put on our fur overcoats. The sea was rough and the plane was being buffeted by the waves, one of them dented the left wing and the man on watch became wet. We were then beginning to feel somewhat uneasy and nobody slept.

"We spent the night in the best manner we could. Toward morning the sea became calmer and we were able to rest a little. We did not eat much. We were hoping and hoping to see some ships. On the night of the 24th we began to light rockets but our signals were sent up to no avail. Doubts began assailing us because the realization dawned on us that we were at the mercy of the waves. Yet, even though we were outside the regular steamer lanes, we did not lose hope altogether.

"When topics of conversation became exhausted during our moments of leisure, when we were not on watch, we began to wonder what our families were thinking in Spain. During the day the sun bothered us some. You can see that we are tanned. But I can assure you that we did not suffer from hunger. Food and the water we got from the radiator to make up for our shortage of regular drinking water, were sufficient.

"We spent our time scanning the horizon. There was one moment when we almost despaired of ever being saved. We shall always remember the night of the 27th, which was terrible. The sea was strongly lashing the left wing and we also saw the right wing being broken up. Further, the rudder was being affected by the constant beating of the waves. The situation was almost desperate.

Rescued at Last.

"On the morning of June 28 the sea became calmer, but we did not know where we were even though we had the sun to guide us. Every spot on the sea seemed to us like a boat, but nothing came into sight, the day proceeded comparatively well. Our spirits were low, but we never gave up hope.

"Early on the morning of the 29th Maj. Gallarza was on watch. Suddenly, with joy in his voice, he shouted that he thought he had seen lights. Then we all came out and sent up rockets. We spent an hour sending these rockets. About four o'clock we thought we heard the noise of engines, but as it was still dark we could not see anything. At five o'clock we saw smoke and then soon after this enormous ship, the Eagle. You can easily understand how great was our joy.

"It took an hour for us to get on board the Eagle. First of all we thanked the commander and then we sent radios to our families. The rest of the story you already know."

PLASTERER'S UNION HOLDS UP O. K. ON $1.70 WAGE SCALE

Departing from a precedent of many years' standing, the journeyman plasterers' union, at a meeting attended by 800 members last night in their headquarters at Ashland avenue and Van Buren street, withheld assent to a $1.70 hourly wage scale already accepted by the bricklayers' union. In the past the plasterers have invariably accepted the bricklayers' scale.

The bricklayers, in recent negotiations with the building contractors, obtained an advance from $1.63 to $1.70 an hour, effective for three years beginning on Oct. 1. There were murmurs against the length of the contract and demands for $1.75 an hour among the plasterers last night.

A referendum will be taken on Saturday to determine whether the rank and file will accept $1.70 an hour or hold out for $1.75 in negotiations with the Employing Plasterers' association. The result will be announced at a meeting the following Tuesday night. If the union and employers reach a deadlock a strike may be called within thirty days of the termination of negotiations, union officials said.

BEER FLAT OWNER SENTENCED.

Frank Westrick, owner of an alleged beer flat at 4905 Jansen avenue, was sentenced to serve thirty days in the Bridewell yesterday, and fined $100 and costs by Judge William E. Helander in the Racket court. Police testified they found nine men trying to consume 10,000 bottles of home brew when they raided the flat. The patrons were discharged.

MOTHER CLAIMS BODY OF BOY, 12, KILLED ON JUNE 10

Identifies Her Son Just Before Funeral.

In an old black hat and a black coat Mrs. Jennie Colburn, 306 Kostner avenue, yesterday watched Boy Scouts bury her 12 year old son, Clarence, in Mount Hope cemetery. The boy's body had lain unidentified in the county morgue since June 10, when he was run over by a Rock Island train.

Just seven hours before the funeral scheduled for the then unknown boy, Mrs. Colburn was shown a newspaper picture of the dead youth and decided it was a picture of her son. At the morgue yesterday morning she positively identified him by a scar on his wrist.

Disappeared Six Months Ago.

The boy disappeared six months ago from the farm of Fred Jeffry, near Marshall, Mich., where Mrs. Colburn says, she placed him because she could not support him in Chicago. Clarence and a younger brother and sister were children of her first marriage. She has since remarried.

Eight months ago she visited Clarence. He told her then that his father had come to the Jeffry farm and beat him, and that he intended to run away. She promised him that she would send for him if he would stay there a while, but she was never able to do it, she said yesterday.

"When they told me he had disappeared from the farm I knew he was trying to come to me," she said.

The mother was entirely alone at the funeral of her son, provided by Boy Scouts of troop 607 of Beverly Hills, of which Donald McKinley, son of Judge McKinley, is a member. After the shock of the identification at the morgue she found her way by street car to the cemetery. The hands on her shoulders, supporting her as the white casket was borne between the marching boys, were those of strangers.

"Boy Scout in Spirit."

"We do not know if this lad was actually a Boy Scout," the Rev. Clyde McKee of Bethany Union church said over the body. "But we do know that he was a Boy Scout in spirit. He wish to be a Scout. He had our ideals. His story will make us remember to be thoughtful to boys who haven't the advantages we have."

At the close of the service, just before taps were sounded for the boy whose life was crushed out under the wheels of a locomotive, a freight train roared by on the tracks adjoining the cemetery.

ORDERS DRUNK DRIVER, KILLER OF THREE, TO PRISON

Judge Says 1-14 Year Term Is "Too Easy."

William Sweeney, 27 years old, drink crazed driver of an automobile which killed three boys at play on May 17, was sentenced to serve 1 to 14 years in Joliet penitentiary yesterday when he pleaded guilty to manslaughter before Judge Harry B. Miller in the Criminal court. Today Sweeney will face trial on two additional charges of manslaughter and two co-defendants will each be arraigned on three charges of accessory to manslaughter.

Sweeney, driving a stolen car and accompanied by his cousin, Frank O'Dee, 26 years old, 8522 Rhodes avenue, plunged the machine into a group of five boys playing in front of St. Thomas the Apostle church, 55th street and Kimbark avenue. The boys killed were Robert Hemmel, 12 years old, and Jerome Boyd, 13 years old, both of 5519 Kenwood avenue, and Le Roy Rousseau, 14 years old, 1413 East 55th street. Sweeney and O'Dee said they had purchased gin from John Nelson of the Lakeridge hotel, a bootlegger.

Pleads Guilty in One Death.

Yesterday Sweeney pleaded guilty to manslaughter in the death of Hemmel. He is a shoemaker from New Hampshire, now living at 444 South State street. He has served a term in the New York city penitentiary for larceny, police declared.

"It is too bad that the law prescribes such a light punishment in in these cases," Judge Miller said. "I am sorry that the punishment is not much heavier. You should spend the remainder of your life in jail."

Judge Miller indicated that if Sweeney is found guilty on the remaining charges, the sentences will be ordered to run consecutively and not concurrently. Assistant State's Attorneys Duane Read and Joseph Nagle will press the additional counts and the charges against Nelson and O'Dee.

Toll Mounts to 396.

One death raised the 1929 Cook county motor toll to 396. The victim:

Albert Marshall, 40 years old, 727 North Carpenter street. Died in the county hospital of injuries received on Sunday when he was struck by a hit and run motorist and thrown into the path of another car at Morgan street and Washington boulevard.

Martin Link, 1702 Washington street, Evanston, was captured by Motorcycle Policemen Herman Dricker and Martin Majewski in Asbury avenue, Evanston, early this morning after his automobile had struck a car driven by Attorney Robert Spengler, 1341 Pratt boulevard, at Devon and Western avenues. The lawyer was bruised and shaken up in the crash.

During the mile long chase the policemen fired several shots after the fleeing Link. In his machine they said they found jugs of moonshine. Link was held on charges of transporting liquor, speeding, and running away from the scene of an accident.

RONGETTI GIVES SELF UP ON NEW MURDER CHARGE

Freed on $15,000 Bond Shortly After Arrest.

CRIMINAL COURT.

Ernest Edmundson and Eddie Robinson, robbery, sentenced to 1 to 20 years each in Pontiac reformatory by Judge Frank Comerford.

Bruno Schwara, burglary, sentenced to 1 year to life in Pontiac reformatory by Judge Jacob Hopkins.

William Sweeney, manslaughter, sentenced to 1 to 14 years in the penitentiary by Judge Harry B. Miller.

Jesse Simons, burglary, sentenced to life imprisonment by Judge Thomas Taylor.

Dr. Amante Rongetti, once sentenced to death for murder by abortion and now under a one to fourteen year sentence for manslaughter, surrendered yesterday to face the latest charge of murder brought against him as a result of the death of Mrs. Elizabeth Palumbo, 238 South Ninth avenue, Maywood. She died on May 23, two days after the operation was performed.

Released on $15,000 Bonds.

Dr. Rongetti, however, was in jail only a few minutes, because his attorney, William Scott Stewart, had arranged in advance for his release on a $15,000 bond. The physician was detained only long enough for the bond to go through the regular routine channels.

Assistant State's Attorney William Rittenhouse in agreeing to the bond told the judge that he was sorry, but the indications were that the prosecution would not be able to present what might be a capital case.

Awaiting Review of Condition.

The physician was found guilty of the murder of Loretta Enders, unwed mother, and her baby, about one year ago. The jury at that time sentenced him to the electric chair, but the Supreme court reversed the case. The second trial resulted in the one to fourteen year penalty for manslaughter. Rongetti is now out on bond pending review of that conviction.

DOG TRACK HEAD TELLS COSTS OF RUNNING PLANT

Edward J. O'Hare, president of the Hawthorne dog racing plant who was indicted last week with officials and employés of the three dog tracks operating in Cook county, testified yesterday before Master in Chancery Max Kornhak that expenses of the Hawthorne track were $30,000 before it was opened this season. He said the money was spent for repairs, printing, advertising and similar items.

The hearing of evidence in behalf of the dog track owners to sustain the temporary injunctions under which they are operating was finished with O'Hare's testimony. The state will proceed today. A report must be made to Judge Harry Fisher, who issued the injunctions, by July 10.

O'Hare urged that the dog track owners were liberal in returning money to the patrons who made contributions to see the dogs race. He said that money was often refunded in the shape of big returns to the holders of wining tickets to stimulate business. He maintained that no betting is allowed at the track, that only contributions are accepted.

COURT DISMISSES SUIT ATTACKING PARK BOND ISSUE

Circuit Judge Philip L. Sullivan yesterday signed a decree in favor of the south park board in the suit attacking the $15,500,000 bond issues, approved at the election of June 4, 1928. The decree dismisses the suit for want of equity in accordance with the indication given by the judge last week.

Attorney Hayes McKinney, who brought the suit, announced that he will appeal on the grounds that the propositions did not receive a majority of the votes cast. In a surprise move Attorney McKinney withdrew his objection to contested ballots and will make his fight for delay solely on his contention that the blank ballots should be computed in establishing a majority.

Attorney Joseph B. Fleming, representing the commissioners, said that an appeal will delay the release of the bonds for projects designed to benefit the World's Fair of 1933 until December. He said he will seek favorable action in the Supreme court by pointing out the absurdity of the appeal and on the fact that six of the ten petitioners in the suit have withdrawn.

ANN'S ATTORNEY MAKES HARDINGE SQUIRM ON GRILL

Admits He's "Chump and a Damned Fool."

apartment at Tulsa, already referred to by Ann as a time when she fell asleep on the divan. She testified that Hardinge threw a raincoat over her and that she slept an hour, after which he told her he had been admiring her figure.

"Did you say anything like that?" queried Ehrlich.

"I did not," Hardinge answered. "I couldn't do much studying with a raincoat over her."

Q.—Did you tell her she had pretty limbs and that you'd like to see more of them? A.—I certainly did not.

Q.—Then what did you mean by the reference in a letter, to "the treat from your baby girl?" A.—Do you really want to know what she did?

Demonstrates with Coat.

At Ehrlich's nod, "Certainly," the witness arose, grasped his coattails and twisted them around his waist.

"That's what she did as she was getting into her coat and hat," he asserted.

Q.—Do you really want the jury to believe that this incident occurred, without any other conversation on the part of either? A.—I certainly do.

Q.—Then what did you do? A.—I got a cab and drove her home.

Q.—That is all? A.—That is all.

Hardinge spent a bad half hour on the stand when Ehrlich carried the topic back to the initial meeting of plaintiff and defendant, on a train bound for Denver, and later to his visit in Tulsa.

Q.—Did you tell Miss Livingston when you met her that you were looking for a wife? A.—I don't think so—I don't remember it.

Q.—Were you looking for a wife? A.—I may have been.

Q.—Did you tell her you wanted a young wife? A.—I don't remember that.

Q.—Are you married now, Mr. Hardinge? A.—Yes.

Q.—Did you marry a young wife? Attorney Bussian's objection failed by a second to prevent the witness' response of "Yes."

THOUGHT HER "NICE GIRL"

Q.—What was your opinion of Miss Livingston? A.—She seemed like a very nice girl.

Q.—Did you tell her you thought she was beautiful? A.—I didn't say that—I may have said nice looking.

Q.—But didn't you think she was beautiful? A.—I wasn't unconscious. I thought she looked very well.

Q.—Now when you arrived in Tulsa, did you kiss Miss Livingston? A.—I may have—I believe I did.

Q.—Don't you know you did, or don't you know you put your arms around her, and kissed her and caressed her on several occasions at Tulsa? A.—I may have—I don't recall exactly.

Not Sure He Wanted to Wed.

Q.—Wasn't your trip of 800 miles there, to see her? A.—Not entirely. I went for the petroleum exposition, and also to see her.

Q.—When you went to Tulsa, did you intend to marry Ann? A.—I had no such intention. I only wanted to get better acquainted with her.

Q.—For what purpose? A.—Because I liked her and I thought I'd like her better if I could know her better.

Q.—Did you intend to marry her when she came to Chicago? A.—I did not. I intended her to come here and visit a couple of months, and then everything would depend upon how we liked each other.

Q.—You still deny that you had any remote thought of marrying her when she arrived here. A.—I do.

Q.—Did you ever propose to her? A.—I did not.

Q.—And you were surprised when she broached the subject of marriage, when she proposed to you on Nov. 24, as you say? A.—I didn't say she proposed to me. I said she brought up the subject of marriage saying that her Tulsa friends expected her to become engaged to me. I was very much surprised.

Q.—And you told her what? A.—That I could never marry any woman without a prenuptial contract, because I had to think of others, and that my business would require it.

Doesn't Kiss in Public.

Q.—All right—you went on down to this little restaurant on Howard street and continued this conversation. What did you say when Miss Livingston agreed to marry you? Did you kiss her across the table? A. [Indignantly]—I did not. I don't go around kissing people in restaurants before a hundred other people.

Q.—Were there 100 other people there, or just a few? Weren't you so absorbed in your conversation with Miss Livingston you didn't notice whether any one was there? A.—I wasn't unconscious—nor excited.

Q.—Then this was the entire conversation had there? A.—Yes, it was.

DISCUSS WOMEN'S ROW

Then Ehrlich directed the witness to cast his memory back to the discussion between Ann and Josephine, and to the quarrel between Ann and Hardinge, in which Ann had testified that Hardinge accused himself of immoral relations with Josephine Brand, his housekeeper, even previous to the death of his first wife.

Q.—You testified Miss Livingston refused an invitation to dinner at the Morton's because she had an invitation to dinner with Mr. Born. As a matter of fact, didn't you and Josephine have the invitation, and didn't Ann ask your permission to go out with Born, naming no date, and didn't you tell her to make it Saturday because you had this previous engagement with Josephine? A.—The invitation was for Miss Livingston and myself, and Josephine was included.

Cites Iago and Desdemona.

Q.—Did you make half a dozen calls to Miss Livingston's room that night, and when you finally got her did you curse and shout and ask where she'd been? A.—I made two calls that night. Nobody else called.

Q. — Mr. Hardinge, do you know Shakespeare's play, "Othello"? A.—I do.

Q.—Are you familiar with the opera, and with the rôle of Iago? A.—I am.

Q.—And Desdemona, and Othello? A.—I am.

Q.—Didn't you tell Miss Livingston, when you and she settled your quarrel next morning, that Josephine Brand had been playing the part of Iago all night long, waving the red handkerchief at you because she was out with another man. A.—I don't recall saying anything like that.

Q.—Did you tell Miss Livingston at that time, that you and Josephine Brand had lived together as man and wife for twenty-five years? A.—There was no such conversation.

Q.—Did you ever have immoral relations with Josephine Brand? A.—I did not—[with emphasis].

Q.—Isn't it a fact that your friends knew you had been living as man and wife with Josephine Brand?

There was no answer, counsel having plunged into another controversy over objections.

Josephine Provided For.

When the friction had been settled, Ehrlich returned the witness to the grill pursuing the same topic—Josephine, the housekeeper for whom he has said he wished to make provision, because she had practically raised his children.

Q.—Did you make other provision for Josephine? A.—Yes, I did. I told her that no house was big enough for two women, and that since Ann objected to her—she blamed her for my having called her early that morning—I would make a settlement on Josephine and let her arrange something elsewhere.

Q.—What about this talk about Jim Irwin of Kansas City wanting to contribute $25,000 to a trust fund for Josephine? A.—Yes, he was a rich man, and he told me that he would contribute as much as I did—$25,000.

Q.—Josephine had been Irwin's sweetheart, hadn't she, for years, and you knew all about it? A.—I don't know that she ever was his sweetheart.

Jim Irwin, it was developed some days ago, was a Kansas City man and an old friend of the Hardinge family. Ann testified that Josephine had told her she and Jim were sweethearts, but that he couldn't divorce his invalid wife, and that while they were waiting for her to die in order to be married, Irwin was drowned in Minnesota.

It was on his way west from Kansas City after attending to some details about Irwin's funeral that Hardinge encountered Ann.

He "Doesn't Recall."

Q.—Do you recall Miss Livingston telling you she had felt queer every night after dinner at your house, and that she wondered if Josephine could be putting anything in her food? A.—I don't recall any such conversation.

Q.—Did you ever tell Ann that your attorney wanted to see her, and when she asked you "What does he want to see me for?" you said he could tell it better than you could? And it was about the matter of this prenuptial contract? A.—I don't recall that.

Q.—Do you recall telling her just a few days before the date set for the wedding, January 23, that this contract was only to please John [Bussian] anyway, and that you would tear it up after you and she were married? A.—I certainly do not.

Denies Friends Interfered.

Q.—Weren't Mr. Bussian and Josephine attempting all along to break up your affair with Miss Livingston? A.—They were not.

Q.—Did they ever discuss your coming marriage with you—unfavorably? A.—That's my business.

Q.—I want an answer, Mr. Hardinge. A.—Well—they were favorable to her. They weren't the ones to decide. I made the decision.

Q.—Wasn't Mr. Bussian your confidant all this time? A.—I talked to him about some of the plans.

On direct examination Bussian had asked the witness to state his [Bussian's] attitude toward Hardinge's marriage.

"Didn't I," he had asked, "Tell you that you were entitled to a companion in your declining years?"

The witness had replied that such was the case, and that Bussian had advised him to marry whenever he found "the girl."

WHAT ANN COST HIM

"Mr. Hardinge, how much do you figure Miss Livingston cost you while she was in Chicago?" Ehrlich returned to the attack.

"I never totaled it up," Hardinge replied. "I believe the bookkeeper has some kind of a statement. She said it was $5,000 without the jewelry."

Q.—That was without the diamond solitaire engagement ring that cost over $2,000. A.—Without that.

Q.—Now isn't it a fact that outside of the two rings you bought, the clothes you purchased for her didn't cost over $800 or $900? A.—It is not. It is about $5,000.

Q.—Who suggested buying these things for Miss Livingston? A.—Why, she needed things——

Q.—How was she dressed when she came here? A.—Too lightly for this climate.

Clothes "Not Very Good."

Q.—But I mean with regard to style. Was she well enough dressed to suit your taste? A.—Well—it didn't matter. Her clothes weren't very good to go around—places—in.

Q.—Didn't you want her to be well dressed?

From this point on, for the next five minutes, the defendant and the attorney chased each other around rhetorical corners, Ehrlich battling to get a direct answer from the witness and failing completely. Hardinge, in his sartorially correct dark blue suit and bow tie, leaned one arm on the rim of the witness box and returned to the other's relentless queries:

"All women liked to look nice—she had to have things to go places—it was something all women wanted—nice clothes—she liked pretty things," and so on.

Ehrlich Gives Up.

"I give it up, your honor. I can't get this witness to give an answer to that question."

Which immediately brought the request from Bussian that the comment be stricken from the record.

Reverting to those ubiquitous $100,000 prenuptial contracts, Ehrlich tried to get the witness to admit that it was Bussian who had first broached the subject to Ann, instead of Hardinge, and referred to a visit Hardinge and Ann made together to the attorney's office, where a draft of the first one was presented to her. The witness protested he had no memory of such an incident.

How They Wed in Oklahoma.

Q.—Now don't you remember Miss Livingston saying in the office that day that if that was what you wanted, she would sign it right there? A.—I do not.

Q.—And don't you remember that Mr. Debolt told her she would have to get an attorney, and she said she didn't need an attorney—she could sign it? A.—I don't.

Q.—And don't you recall Miss Livingston remarking, "Well, this seems funny to me. Down in Oklahoma when we go to get married, we call in a preacher instead of a lawyer"? A.—I don't remember anything like that.

Q.—Didn't Ann call you "Dad" quite a bit? A.—She may have caught it up—I don't remember.

Q.—You stated that Miss Livingston told you she wanted your house and a block of stock? A.—She did.

A.—Did you notice the absence of any such provisions in the contract Mr. Emil Wetten drew for her? A.—I didn't think anything about it.

Excited Over Nax Visit.

When court was adjourned for the day, Hardinge had grown excited over Ehrlich's questions about the visit here of Charles Nax. The subject occupied some little time.

Hardinge repeated his version of the incident, stating that he objected to Nax coming to Chicago to see his intended bride on the eve of her wedding, and that he had called him "a dirty skunk."

He reiterated his tale of the luncheon table episode when he gave Ann a $1,000 letter of credit with a card to sign.

"She tossed it back at me and said, 'Why didn't you make it fifteen hundred?'" he testified, leaning across the witness box and shaking a vigorous forefinger above the heads of the two stenographers so busy just in front of him. "Then I realized just what a damned fool I'd been—what a chump I was. She was just showing off in front of Charlie."

"Now Mr. Hardinge," put in Ehrlich, "you took her home after all this, and kissed her when you left?"

"Yes, I did," admitted the witness.

"The Last Kiss."

Q.—Why did you do that? A.—Because it was the last kiss. I meant it for good-by.

Q.—But you didn't tell her you were going for good? You said you'd see her as usual in the morning? A.—No, I didn't promise to see her in the morning. That was the day I left town.

Q.—But after this "slur," as you call it, at luncheon, you still accepted Nax's invitation to eat with them? A.—I had dinner with them, yes.

Q.—And you weren't jealous of him? A.—I was not—not then. It was later, when I learned he had come back to Chicago earlier than he said he would.

Q.—And after calling this man a dirty skunk, you offered him your opera tickets for that night, to take Miss Livingston to the opera? A.—I did. I acted a gentleman with him at all times.

those days there was no resisting the appeal of the country's need.

"So Legge came to Washington—from the troubles of a corporation to those of the world. His remarkable success in the larger field partly was due to his wide experience in international business, but more to his profundity of perception and comprehensiveness of analysis.

"He could tell unerringly and almost immediately two things about every man he dealt with; namely, whether he knew what he was talking about and whether he was sincere—that is, believed in his proposition or contention. His thus saved an immense amount of time that men less keen in analysis must inevitably lose.

"Legge was as good at analyzing problems as at sizing up men. His mind went unerringly to the key to every situation. Not only could he see a problem in its simplest terms but he had the faculty of stating his views in the clearest and most convincing way. When he spoke debate ended, for somehow it almost always appeared to all that he was right. Besides, it was soon known to all that he was right."

After serving as manager of the allied purchasing commission, Mr. Legge became head of the requirements division of the war industries board when it was created in June, 1918. In October, 1918, Mr. Legge went to Europe with other experts for consultation regarding shortages of various industrial materials.

The armistice was signed shortly after his arrival there. Mr. Legge remained in Paris until after President Wilson's arrival, assisting Col. E. M. House in the preparation of data relative to the industrial status and requirements of that section of France that had been more or less damaged by the Germans.

CROWDS AT HARDINGE BREACH OF PROMISE TRIAL JAM CORRIDORS

Scores of Chicagoans eager to indulge in the city's most recent summer sport, attending the Hardinge-Livingston trial, jammed the corridors outside Judge Charles H. Miller's courtroom on the ninth floor of the county building yesterday. A quartet of bailiffs is needed to maintain order inside the courtroom and to keep the overflow on the exterior of the big double doors. Those who come and are turned away seem always to come back another day, but the jam of yesterday, extending halfway down the hall and around the corner, outnumbered any previous day's total.

KEGEL ATTACKS TRANSIT NOISE AS HEALTH HAZARD

Asks Council Ban Racket in New Franchise.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Commissioner of Health Kegel declares that avoidable noise in the operation of street and elevated cars shall be prohibited in the proposed new franchise to a consolidated company. He wrote a letter yesterday to Ald. Joseph B. McDonough [13th], chairman of the council local transportation committee, asking an opportunity to present the health department's views on provisions for the new ordinance and data and argument supporting them.

"Noise is a health hazard," said the commissioner in his letter presenting the effect of noise. "Scientific research has shown that it requires 19 per cent more energy to perform duties in noisy fecations than it does to perform similar duties in quiet locations. These tests were made on normal subjects. We cannot even hazard a guess as to what a 10 per cent saving in energy means in a person's added capacity for enjoying recreation or as a reserve in performing additional work.

Acts Even in Sleep.

"Noise not sufficient to wake a sleeping person will cause muscles to become tense and stay tense for as long a period as 30 minutes before they relax. Sleep under such conditions is not refreshing and no doubt accounts for many people waking fatigued after sleeping their allotted period.

"To date there have been no adequate steps taken to control the nuisance of noise, which is gradually assuming the proportion of a health menace. We believe that the adverse effect of noise on public health and comfort requires that regulating measures be written into the ordinance which will abate, to a degree, this health hazard."

Vehicles Cause 70 Per Cent.

The commissioner wrote that 70 per cent of the objectionable noise of the city is produced by vehicles, elevated cars, street cars, automobiles and other wheeled carriers. He related the results of the comprehensive investigation in Milwaukee and added that elaborate tests have been made in Chicago. He reported in his letter that the local tests have registered the following intensities of noise under the indicated conditions:

Street car starting	20 feet	70
Street car stopping	20 feet	65
Street car operating	20 feet	60-70
Surface car operating	2 blocks	15
Street car operating	1 block	30
Elevated railroad	50 feet	90
Elevated railroad	100 feet	70

The letter also contains a number of suggestions for curbing noise, most of which the commissioner believes can be adapted to the requirements of a transit franchise.

Col. A. A. Sprague of the Citizen's committee will have a meeting this morning in the office of Walter L. Fisher, adviser to the council in the transit problem, to discuss what recommendations the committee will make to the council committee on local transportation with reference to a franchise for a consolidated company.

SOCIETY GIRL'S RIDE TO BASEBALL GAME INTERRUPTED BY COP

An inexorable speed cop, plus an escort who could not upon the instant produce $3 with which to pay her fine, yesterday caused Miss Beatrice Ripley, 22 years old, daughter of Robert H. Ripley, 29 Indian Hill, Winnetka, to miss the opening innings of the ball game at Cubs' park. Mr. Ripley is vice president of the American Steel Foundry and the Ripleys are well known in Chicago and north shore society.

Motorcycle Policeman Frank Kreml proved the nemesis of Miss Ripley, who was recently graduated from Vassar college. Kreml turned north in Ridge avenue as Miss Ripley and her escort rode south in an automobile with Miss Ripley at the wheel. Kreml overtook the couple at Howard street and led the way to the court of Magistrate Charles G. Franklin, of Evanston. There the young woman was charged with driving at 37 miles per hour.

Neither Miss Ripley nor her escort, who refused to give his name, could at the moment produce the $5 for the fine and $3 for the court costs. But the youth soon found a friend out on the street who submitted to a "touch" for the necessary amount.

ADVANCE TAX PAYMENT PLEA BRINGS $10,000

Less than $10,000 has been paid by Cook county taxpayers to County Treasurer George F. Harding since the city council adopted a resolution urging citizens to aid in meeting the financial emergency of local governmental bodies by making advance payments on 1929 tax bills, it was learned yesterday.

Realty Dealer, Active in G. O. P., Tries Suicide

William Cripp Wood, former Republican precinct captain and a real estate dealer at 5000 South State street, turned on the gas in his living quarters at 420 East 46th place yesterday in a suicidal attempt. Neighbors notified the Wabash avenue police, who found Wood unconscious and revived him. A fully loaded pistol dropped from the pocket of his dressing gown as the policemen placed him in position for artificial respiration. Wood was arrested last December as the alleged leader of a band of robbers, but has not been tried.

Ex-Senator John Dailey Is Critically Ill Here

Former State Senator John Dailey was critically ill in the Washington Boulevard hospital last night as a result of intestinal poisoning. His family was called to his bedside. Mr. Dailey represented the Peoria district in the state senate for twenty years. He made the race for the Republican nomination for attorney general, but he was defeated by Oscar E. Carlstrom. Then Mr. Dailey moved to Chicago and opened law offices here. He is 65 years old.

2 Injured in Second Floor Leap from Burning Factory

Two workmen suffered broken ankles yesterday when they leaped from the second floor of a blazing furniture factory at 400 North Oakley boulevard. The injured men, Theodore Lazny, 5027 Sunnyside avenue, and Edward Filer, 1742 Augusta street, were treated at a nearby physician's office. Seventy-five other employes escaped unhurt. A 3-11 alarm was sounded and $25,000 damage done before the fire was extinguished.

HOOVER STUDIES WAY TO SLASH INCOME TAXES

December Message Likely to Demand Action.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 2.—[Special.]—President Hoover made it known today that "careful study" is being given to the question of another tax reduction.

It seemed almost a certainty from the President's statement that he expects to be able to recommend a tax cut to congress in his annual message in December. Necessary information on which to base a decision as to the feasibility of a reduction probably will be available by Nov. 1, the President believes. This will make it possible for the President to incorporate a recommendation in his message to congress.

Hopes for Safe Surplus.

"We are giving careful study to the possibility of tax reduction," said President Hoover. "We all hope that the situation may work out on the side of a safe surplus for material relief. We must determine three things before there can be any conclusion upon the subject."

In elaborating on the three things which must be determined, the President said nothing to indicate that he believed the final decision would be adverse to a tax reduction.

"First," said the President, "we must know what the effect will be of the legislation during the last 12 months which has greatly increased expenditures for the present fiscal year beyond the original budget. The new enlarged program for naval armaments, the increased expenditure on army and navy aviation, the rebuilding of army posts and increased expenditures on veterans' services, in addition to the necessities in the Mediterranean fly and farm relief work, have all intervened since the budget was passed by congress.

Compensate for Increases.

"Second, we must know how far we can reduce expenditures of the government in other directions to partially compensate for these increases imposed during the last 12 months.

"We know that expenditures for the fiscal year just past exceed the original budget by over 200 million dollars and much of the legislation expanding expenditures has not yet come into effect.

"The completion of the budget for the year beginning July 1, 1930 will be helpful in determining the rate of these increased expenditures.

"Third, we must know how far the increase in revenue is due to the temporary stock exchange activity."

The President evidently believes that it will not be necessary to wait until the March, 1930, tax returns are available before determining whether income tax revenues may be expected to continue at their present volume.

The administration program for tax reduction is likely to include a greater deduction for earned income and a reduction in the tax on corporation earnings.

Accident, Report of Jury on Thos. Hyland's Death

Thomas Hyland, 43 years old, 1501 Jarvis avenue, former deputy collector of internal revenue, who was found dead in bed two weeks ago, died from an overdose of a sleeping potion, administered accidentally, a coroner's jury decided yesterday. Hyland's body was discovered by his 12 year old son, Edwin.

NEW ENDURANCE PLANE STARTS AS RIVAL CRASHES

Culver City, Cal., July 2.—(AP)—One endurance flight ended unsuccessfully near here today and barely six hours later a second airplane took off in another attempt to beat the record of 172 hours 32 minutes 1 second for continuous flight.

A plane piloted by L. W. Mendell and R. B. Reinhart left the ground at 7:28 o'clock this morning. Late today, the cabin ship, a four passenger model with a 220 horsepower motor, had received one refueling of 240 gallons and was soaring over the air port at an altitude of about 3,000 feet and a speed of about 75 miles an hour.

Early today Leo Nomis and Maurice Morrison bumped to earth with a dead motor after more than 40 hours of flight. In the dark they smashed their landing gear as the plane touched ground and skidded to a stop on the ship's fuselage. Nomis and Morrison were slightly bruised.

Cleveland Plane Still Up.

Cleveland, O., July 2.—(AP)—The monoplane "City of Cleveland," in which Pilots Byron K. Newcomb and Roy L. Mitchell are seeking a new world's endurance refueling record, soared above Cleveland tonight on its fifth day of consecutive flight. It had passed the 100 hour mark at 10:37:52 p. m. The present record is 172 hours 32 minutes and one second.

One of the last messages dropped by Newcomb and Mitchell to the field today was an order for a floral wreath to be delivered for the funeral of Waldo E. Robey, air mail pilot killed Sunday at Columbus, O.

G. O. P. MAY RUN RUTH PRATT TO OPPOSE WALKER

New York, July 2.—[Special.]—Mrs. Ruth Baker Pratt, New York's multimillionaire congresswoman, is being strongly favored by certain powerful elements in the Republican party to run against Mayor Walker on Nov. 5, it was learned today.

Mrs. Pratt, not forgetting her brother congressman, Fiorello H. La Guardia, at the present time stands forth as the only opponent who would give Mr. Walker a run for his money.

Mrs. Pratt has many friends high in the G. O. P. ranks. She has earned for herself the reputation of a fighter. Even more important, she is a good vote getter.

Mrs. Pratt knows Tammany hall. Her three years in the board of aldermen were three years of anti-Tammany speeches and she has a personality that befits a political candidate.

She would be the first woman mayoralty candidate of a major party in New York City, and being "first" is a characteristic of Mrs. Pratt. She was the first woman alderman, and enjoyed it.

Although one of the wealthiest women, not only in New York City, but in the country, Mrs. Pratt does not attempt to conceal her financial position when campaigning in the poorer communities.

She used to drive down to city hall in her car and her chauffeur waited for her outside.

URGE OFFICIALS TO ENFORCE LAW FOR SANE FOURTH

City Club Blames Laxity for Fireworks Toll.

City and county officials were asked yesterday to enforce laws prohibiting the illicit sale and dangerous use of fireworks with a view to giving Cook county a safe and sane Fourth of July. The request was made by the City Club of Chicago and a resolution condemning ineffective enforcement as responsible for accident hazards.

The resolution pointed to the danger of fireworks by recalling the toll of dead and maimed in former years, with the mention that 80 per cent of the victims were children. It declared that city and state laws restricting the traffic in fireworks offered ample safeguard against repetition of former tolls, and urged strict enforcement.

Asks Aid of Civic Bodies.

Copies of the resolution were sent to Commissioner of Police Russell, Sheriff Traeger, and police authorities in county municipalities. Civic bodies were also asked to urge enforcement of law.

On receipt of the resolution Chief William Collins of the county highway police said that he is legally unable to stop the bootlegging of tons of fireworks into the city from roadside stands which line the highways.

Has No Power, Collins Says.

"The state law is designed to curb the manufacture and sale of dangerous explosives," Chief Collins said. "It was passed in 1878 when fireworks were a part of the day's celebration. I cannot proceed under this law against the sale because it does not give authority. My men have been instructed to arrest those who explode fireworks on charges of disorderly conduct. There are no other laws, save those enacted by cities and villages, and it is not in my province to enforce them."

Citizens of Waukegan appealed to Police Commissioner Wilson L. Gee to abate the period of fireworks, because of numerous accidents in that community. The community has become aroused because of the death of Alex Benson, 318 Belvidere avenue, who committed suicide Monday to escape the noise of firecrackers.

ALDERMEN SEEK REGULATION OF ICE PLANT GAS

Special Meeting Called on Kegel Ordinance.

Regulation of the use of "possibly dangerous" gases in artificial refrigeration plants will be sought by the city council committee on public health at a special meeting on Friday, Ald. Terence F. Moran [18th], chairman, announced yesterday. He said the meeting was called as a result of the finding of a coroner's jury that Mrs. Violet Clark came to her death from inhaling methyl chloride gas.

The committee will have up for consideration the draft of an ordinance which Health Commissioner Kegel has been preparing during the last three months to prevent sickness and death from gas leakages from refrigerators. The program of regulation, according to the commissioner, is in accord with a proposal of manufacturers of this type of refrigerators who have asked for supervision by the health department.

A number of the manufacturers or their representatives met with Dr. Kegel last week before the death of Mrs. Clark on Saturday and approved the general plan for regulation of the use of gases. At that time they agreed with the commissioner that the installation of refrigerators should be supervised.

The principal points in the draft of the ordinance concern the installation of refrigerators, the testing of them, and a provision that the city may condemn plants whose operation does not come within the scope of the ordinance.

Chief Provisions of Ordinance.

In brief the five chief provisions of the ordinance are as follows:

1. Determination by the health commissioner of what gases are possibly dangerous and should come under the provision of the ordinance.

2. A provision that plans for installation of the artificial refrigerators using these gases should be submitted to the health department and a permit be issued for the installation whether of the single unit type or the central plant type which was in use in the Clark apartment.

3. A thorough test of the equipment by a health department inspector to determine if there are any leaks in the system.

4. Installation of the plant in a well ventilated room in order that any escaping gas cannot accumulate in sufficient quantities to cause sickness or death.

5. In case of loss of pressure in the refrigerator or failure to operate the health department should be notified.

The importance of notifying the health department when the artificial refrigerators fail to work was stressed by Commissioner Kegel. In several cases in which the deaths of persons are thought to have been caused by refrigerating gases the illness could have been prevented by ordering the persons out of their homes, he said.

Methyl Chloride Volatile.

"I believe there would have been more deaths from this gas poisoning," said Dr. Kegel, "but for the fact that methyl chloride is highly volatile. Most places in which the refrigerators are stored are well ventilated if near a kitchen due to the presence of cooking odors."

Coroner Bundesen sought to lessen the alarm caused by the finding that methyl chloride was responsible for the death of Mrs. Clark. Refrigeration is necessary, he said, or people would be poisoned by spoilt food. He declared that manufacturers of the plants would be called in from time to time to confer with the coroner's jury of expert chemists and pathologists to determine what safety measures could be adopted.

Clifford Clark, husband of Mrs. Clark; and Mrs. Margaret Hennesler, her mother, were reported to be recovering yesterday. They were in the apartment with her and inhaled the gas.

25,000 GARMENT WORKERS STRIKE IN NEW YORK

Demand Pay Increase of $5 Week.

New York, July 2.—[Special.]—Responding to the strike call of President Benjamin Schlesinger of the International Ladies' Garment Workers' union 25,000 of the 28,000 employes of the cloak industry gathered in 14 meeting halls today and pledged loyalty to the union.

It was reported there was no defection among the employes of the industrial council of cloak, suit and skirt manufacturers, the stylists of the industry and the American Cloak and Suit Manufacturers' association, the contractors.

These associations employ about 15,000 workers, the remainder being in the employment of independent and nonunion shops.

President Schlesinger declared the strike, which centers around a new wage scale, "marks the definite revival of our great union and an end to the hateful sweat shop." The strikers demand a $5 a week wage increase.

"The solidarity of our workers never before has been so amply demonstrated," Mr. Schlesinger said. "The iniquitous discharge system, the piece work system and the attempt to rescind the five day, 40 hour week, are doomed to failure. Union officers are confident that with the marvelous spirit of the cloakmakers they will be able to grapple successfully with such important problems as the chain store menace, hygienic certification of shops, the discharge system, the restoration of the unemployment insurance fund and wage increases."

One incident of disorder marred the otherwise peaceful strike. While 7th avenue was black with crowds of marching cloakmakers several left wing furriers sought to prevent loyal cloakmakers from passing out strike circulars. Samuel Mellasky, an operator, was severely injured with razor slashes. His right arm may have to be amputated. Three men were arrested and held in $3,500 bail.

SISTER-IN-LAW OF GOV. LESLIE DIES DESTITUTE

Husband Jobless; Indiana Politics Blamed.

Mrs. Edith Leslie, mother of four small children and a sister-in-law of the governor of Indiana, died in a charity ward in Mercy hospital at Gary, Ind., last night. The family has been destitute since last winter.

The husband, William Leslie, 39 years old, attributed her death indirectly to the victory of his younger brother Gov. Harry G. Leslie, a Republican, in the gubernatorial election of last Nov. 4. On election day, Leslie's employer, a Hammond plumbing contractor and a Democrat, discharged him from his job, the governor's brother declared.

After weathering the winter with the help of a charitable agency, Mrs. Leslie found work in a bakery in the spring. Six weeks ago she scratched her finger. Blood poisoning developed but Mrs. Leslie delayed a week before going to a hospital because the family lacked funds. The delay cost her life, physicians at the hospital said.

Welfare Group Gives Help.

Last Christmas time the plumber's family was in dire straits. The Sixth Ward Welfare association came to the rescue with fuel for the Leslies' three room frame dwelling, food baskets for the children, from 3 to 12 years old, and an overcoat for Leslie to use on his job hunting.

On April 27, 500 Lake county Republicans held a banquet in Gary's Elks' front park and the governor was guest of honor. He had shaken hands with his brother at a reviewing stand earlier in the afternoon. After the banquet Otto Braun, head of the Sixth Ward Welfare association, informed Gov. Leslie of his brother's circumstances.

The governor wrote a $50 check, payable to the Welfare association and, according to Braun, promised to provide further.

Tells Governor, He Says.

Braun says he notified the governor of his sister-in-law's illness and the condition of his brother's children, who were deprived of care when their mother went to the hospital. The governor sent no answer, Braun said.

Last Saturday a clerk in the governor's office glimpsed a telegram on the executive desk which bore the following message: "Too late. Your Brother Bill."

Assuming there had been a death in the governor's family, the clerk informed newspaper men of the telegram and its Gary origin. By this means William Leslie was found yesterday in Gary.

"Yes, I sent the message," the plumber said. "I wrote Harry three times for help and received no answer. When the doctors told me on Saturday that my wife hadn't a chance to live I wired him that it was too late to help me now."

Gov. Leslie's Comment.

Gov. Leslie made the following comment:

"I first heard that my brother, William, and his family were in need after the banquet last spring at Gary when a man approached me as a friend of William and said they were in need. This was a great surprise to me as I had seen my brother, for the first time in a long while, earlier in the day. We shook hands but he said nothing about needing financial assistance.

"However, at his friend's suggestion, I wrote a check. Subsequently, when I heard of my brother's wife being taken to a hospital it was arranged that her two children by her first husband be cared for by her sisters and I arranged for the younger two—my brother's own children—to be taken in at my sister's home at West La Fayette. Only yesterday I sent a check from La Fayette to this same man to be used for my brother's aid."

CUSTOMS PATROLMAN ARRESTED FOR DEATH OF PLATTSBURG MAN

Plattsburgh, N. Y., July 2.—(AP)—Arrest of W. J. Cheatham, a custom border patrolman, on a charge of manslaughter today came as a climax to two weeks of investigation into the fatal shooting of Arthur Gordon of Plattsburgh, alleged liquor runner, near Mooers early on the morning of June 15.

The investigation was marked by the appeal of Clinton county officials to Seymour Lowman, assistant secretary of the treasury in charge of prohibition, requesting him to order customs officers to cooperate in the inquiry, and by refusal of those officers to testify at the hearings on the ground that they might incriminate themselves.

Gordon was brought to a local hospital on June 15 by Cheatham and another patrolman, F. L. Coveney, who left without giving their names, according to hospital officials. Gordon was dead when examined at the hospital and his death was reported to District Attorney B. Loyal O'Connell and Coroner Edwin W. Sartwell who began an investigation.

Coroner Sartwell, who is also justice of the peace, issued the warrant for Cheatham's arrest. The customs officer was arraigned immediately. He pleaded not guilty and requested further hearing on July 23. Bail was fixed at $10,000, which was furnished.

John C. Tulloch, collector of customs at Ogdensburg, issued a statement to the press declaring Gordon had been running a load of liquor across the line from Canada and, when halted by Cheatham and Coveney, attempted to escape across the international boundary. Gordon was shot accidentally, Collector Tulloch said, a rifle in the hands of Cheatham being discharged when the border patrolman stumbled while pursuing Gordon.

PERIL OF BORDER WAR OVER BOOZE SEEN BY PICKETT

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Alternatives of coöperation between Canada and the United States or the use of force were offered as the only possible solution to the problem of rum running between the two countries by Deets Pickett yesterday. Pickett is the research secretary of the Methodist board of temperance, prohibition and public morals, known as the "Methodist lobby." He is attending the sessions of the world's service commission of the Methodist church at the Chicago Temple.

In giving a statement to the press yesterday, Mr. Pickett referred to the recent conversations between Washington and the Canadian government concerning the illegal transportation of liquor from Canada into the United States, and stated that unless those conversations are continued until a satisfactory settlement between the countries is reached, a state of virtual border warfare is likely to take place.

Asks Refusal of Ship Papers.

"The coöperation which Canada should give toward the solution of the problem is a refusal to give clearance papers to ships bearing liquor to the United States," Mr. Pickett said. "All that the United States government and people ask is that Canada cease to protect a traffic and criminals so utterly without legitimate right to expect protection in their nefarious activities."

Because it gives public officials close and interested relations with the liquor traffic, and has not been conducive to the protection of popular interests, Mr. Pickett declared, the Canadian system of "so-called government control" is losing favor with the people of Canada.

"Canadian and American capital are protected under the laws and policies of Canada in offensive measures against peace and order of the friendly people of the United States," he said.

Adopt Budget of $9,600,000.

The latter alternative, Mr. Pickett believes, would be of such a nature as to be irritating and embarrassing to the governments and people of both nations.

The world's service commission of the Methodist church yesterday adopted a budget for 1930 of $9,600,000 to be expended through the various agencies of the church. More than $100,000 was allotted to the Washington board for legislative activities. The finance committee recommended that if income should overrun the expected amounts, the excess proportion accruing to the Washington board should be spent on "temperance and prohibition education."

U. S. AUTO ASSN. ASKS UNIFORMS FOR DRY PATROL

Urges Government to Protect Drivers.

BY TOM PETTEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Niagara Falls, N. Y., July 2.—[Special.]—The American Automobile association in convention here today went on record as favoring a distinguishing uniform for all prohibition agents patroling the highways.

A much stronger resolution had been expected, but somewhere between the committee room and the general meeting the protest against the killing of innocent motorists by dry enforcement guards became emasculated. The resolution as finally adopted read:

"Public sentiment in various parts of the country has been aroused over the unfortunate shooting of citizens on the highways in connection with the enforcement of federal and state laws. The American Automobile association believes it is the paramount duty of federal and state officials to protect law abiding citizens in the enjoyment of the highways, and to this end recommends that all federal, state and local officers patrolling the highways be required to wear a distinguishing uniform."

Thomas P. Henry of Detroit was re-elected president of the association for the seventh consecutive year after his only rival for the office, Charles M. Hayes of Chicago, had instructed the nominating committee to withdraw his name in order that no contest might arise. Other officers elected were: Charles M. Hayes, Chicago, first vice president; S. Edward Gable, Lancaster, Pa., second vice president; A. E. Mittendorf, Cincinnati, O.; Owen P. Augspurger, Buffalo, N. Y.; Perley F. Rip-

KILLING OF INNOCENT MEN BY DRYS HIT BY SAN FRANCISCO BOARD

San Francisco, Cal., July 2.—(AP)—A resolution condemning "wanton killing of innocent persons by prohibition agents" and indorsing Congresswoman Florence Kahn's bill providing for indemnities of $25,000 to the dependent of guiltless citizens so slain, was adopted by the San Francisco board of supervisors yesterday.

Supervisor Sylvester Andriano denounced the whole prohibition movement as an "evil tree, conceived in fanaticism and reared in corruption, whose fruits are murder, perjury, lawlessness and hypocrisy."

ley, South Paris, Me.; John H. Wright, Jamestown, N. Y., and R. C. Holderman, Harrisburg, Pa., vice presidents. Charles C. Jones of Columbus, O., was named secretary and George W. White of Washington, D. C., treasurer.

Not a "Near-Beer"

But a Master Brew, Well Aged~ Just as Helpful and Delightful as of Old

If you miss beer, don't turn to makeshifts, wretched and impure. There is still a malt-and-hop brew, even better than the best of old. All the old-time purity, quality and age. All the old-time sparkle, zest and foam.

Of course, most of the alcohol is evaporated. But you never would know that unless told. The flavor is there, the aid to digestion and the aid to sleep.

Try this new-day brew and forget the old. You are missing far less than you think.

Never a Finer Brew

Atlas in the old days brewed a matchless beer. But the new-day Atlas is better still. If you go without the brew you like, or substitute an impure drink, you do yourself injustice.

ATLAS SPECIAL BREW

Every Bottle Certified

A.B.Co.—1929

Atlas Special Brew contains the finest barley malt, the best Bohemian hops. The yeast we use results from a thousand experiments to get the utmost flavor.

The water we use is specially treated to match the brews of England. The brew is boiled for hours to sterilize, then cooled in filtered air. The product itself is filtered again and again. It is aged four months to mellow. Then, when sealed up in glass, the bottles are pasteurized.

No country ever knew a better malt-and-hop brew. And never before did a famous laboratory certify on every bottle the quality and purity.

Just Like Old Days

If such a brew at mealtime used to aid digestion, here are those aids at their best. If the hops at bedtime invited sleep, they are with you still.

If the brew was a tonic, that was largely due to the esters and aldehydes. They remain. If you liked the flavor, sparkle, foam and zest, no need to go without them.

Let us prove that to you. It costs only $2.20 a case of 24 bottles (plus deposit), delivered to your door. Just ask your dealer or phone us. Over 8000 neighborhood stores supply it at 15c a bottle.

AIR WARFARE.

Air commerce in the United States has now discarded wartime equipment and is furnished with planes and engines designed exclusively for commercial service. Until 1926 civil aviation was a consumer of war surplus machines, turning swords into plowshares. Under these circumstances flying was limited. During the last three years, however, a new industry has been inaugurated; the disappearance of war surpluses has created a demand for modern planes with improved engines, and the aircraft manufacturers are producing planes for business.

Daily the exploitation of new air transport routes, the extension of existing lines, and the refinement of equipment suggest the universality of aviation in our world today. The independence of commercial flying from wartime standards stimulates initiative and progress in the industry. But as it continues to exert a dominating influence on our business outlook it increases its potentiality as an instrument of warfare. Liberated from the war department, invention in aviation and its popularity have grown rapidly, but just as there has been a transformation of the industry from war to peace there will be a transformation back to war in times of emergency, and the wartime weapon will have accumulated the power which it has gained as a business system.

In the world war flying was a distinct military department. Although it was coördinated with other branches of the army and navy, aviation was regarded as a highly specialized pursuit and its use was thereby restricted. In future military operations, however, the airplane will condition all military and naval strategy. It will be an essential of warfare and will require the knowledge of men, and particularly of officers, in all branches of the defense. Flying, at least as an observer, will be no more a departmentalized privilege or function than is the ability to fire a rifle.

Orders have been issued that observation flying shall be included in the duty of officers and men in the British army. The order does not contemplate that artillery and infantry troops should become trained pilots. It is intended merely to give the officers and men familiarity with the air, especially a familiarity with reconnaissance work. Perhaps instruction in the use of machine guns and explosives from the plane will be included as a valuable if not essential resource.

The United States should adopt this order for the army and it should go the British one better. All naval officers and men should be acquainted with air tactics. Even more than in the case of the army, the navy must prepare in the future against attack from the air and must develop an airplane offensive program. There will be few sea battles, we predict, without accompanying air skirmishes. And a man with eyes trained to see from the air and even prepared to manipulate a machine gun from the air will be just as valuable and a less expensive casualty than an experienced pilot for observation and firing duty.

Perhaps the outstanding predictable consequence of this order would be an increased efficiency of artillery attack. Regulations during the world war prevented officers of artillery units from reconnaissances in the air. In the absence of a commanding observation post artillery commanders had no visual conception of the enemy's location. The target was sometimes attacked by mathematical processes alone—obviously an unsatisfactory method to the commander who in an observation flight could gauge his firing and see the results at first hand.

The ability to handle a machine gun from a plane would be profitable in many contingencies of battle. In the event of a shortage of trained pilots many of them could be released for duty at the controls by detailing air wise, but not necessarily expert, soldiers for machine gun duty.

There is an intangible advantage, too, in training the land army and sea navy for air duty. It has to do with morale—a term which has been somewhat discredited by overuse during the war, but which is far from a negligible reality. With officers trained and subject to air duty, putting them in the front line of danger, the men would respect their superiors. Commanding officers would then appear to their troops as leaders instead of manipulators.

The attention of the army and navy staffs is directed to this innovation. It has not been incorporated in the British army program without a serious motive and practical understanding of modern developments in warfare. It cannot be overlooked in this country and a decision is demanded. No considerations of jealousy, false conceptions of comparative prestige, or traditional naval and military conventions should interfere with the introduction of such a program. We fail to discern any argument against this order, and the reasons that we have produced in its favor do not exhaust the possible benefits to be derived from it.

KANE COUNTY'S CLASSIC EXAMPLE OF PROHIBITION.

State's Attorney Carbary of Kane county presented the board of supervisors with bills for $6,424 to cover the expense accounts of the investigators employed in prohibition enforcement. A committee of drys headed by a minister asked the supervisors to pay them, but a payment of only $2,892 was authorized. The board threw out items which related to playing slot machines, betting on horse races, buying cigarets and paying for moonshine at above the market price.

Almost the whole pattern of prohibition can be found in recent Kane county events. A state's attorney is incited by dry moralists to give a conspicuous exhibition of enforcement in the locality. A number of irresponsible spies are recruited by the inducement of fees and commissions. They are given expense accounts and begin to live the life of small town sports, the county to pay for their drinking and their gambling and other recreations.

Apparently the theory was that violations of the prohibition law could be discovered only by penetrating into the dark recesses of vice, a theory which does not allow much for the general enforcement of law. One of the men thus induced to work for a higher moral order swore falsely to an affidavit upon which a warrant was issued. The service of a proper warrant could have been had by an unarmed officer in daylight, but a night raid with armed men was made on the house.

About everything which violence and disregard of sanity and decency could suggest was done and the consequences were what might have been expected. The householder, the man sought with the fraudulent warrant, was knocked out with the butt of a gun, his wife was killed by a deputy and he was shot by her son. Then into a room already representing an insanity of law enforcement an idiot of an enforcement officer tossed a tear bomb. The whole spectacle was one of brutalized hysteria.

Mr. Carbary, whose agents these men were, so presented the case against them to the grand jury that the woman killer was not indicted. The man whose false affidavit started the raid is the only culprit the law in Kane county has found for such barbarous proceedings and the dry moralists who had incited them have indorsed them. No other person among those responsible or guilty has as yet been held to account, and when the prosecutor asked that the county pay the vice expenses of the spies the clergy and moralists indorsed those expenditures.

Mr. Carbary and his supporters who are responsible for this unpunished lawlessness have given the whole picture of prohibition enforcement.

CORN VS. BLACKSTRAP.

The farmers of the corn belt are renewing their demand for substantial duties on blackstrap molasses. This molasses is used in the manufacture of alcohol. The farmers contend that as such it is a substitute for corn. If the molasses is kept out, in whole or in part, the market for corn will be increased.

The farmers have encountered earnest opposition from consumers of alcohol who fear that the proposed rates might increase the price of alcohol. Of course they might. That is a consequence which is to be expected of tariff increases. The present tariffs on manufactured articles raise the cost of living of the farmers, but we do not recall that any manufacturers of steel, for instance, have ever objected to the steel schedules on that account.

It is safe to say that many of the industries consuming alcohol benefit from the tariffs on manufactured goods. They seem to feel that the nation is bound to protect them, but not the corn farmers who contribute to their prosperity. In their zeal to defeat the farmers the manufacturers suggest that, if the price of alcohol is increased through the substitution of corn for blackstrap, chemists will discover new methods of producing alcohol which will take their newly won market from the farmers. That is a contingency to which the farmers will look forward with regret, but until the new process is perfected they will manage to retain their composure.

The alcohol users cannot have it both ways. If the substitute methods are perfected the price of alcohol will not be much, if any, higher than it is today, and it may well be lower. If the process is not perfected, the farmers stand to benefit materially from a new market for their corn.

THE WISDOM OF DR. SCHACHT.

Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, head of the Reichsbank and chief representative of Germany at the reparations negotiations in Paris, says that Germany would do well to avoid misconceptions of American purpose and should not be deluded into the prevailing European error of finding in American usury and greed the cause of hardships and discomforts.

It would not require much guile of German statesmanship to consider that the time was ripe for the promotion of good will. Americans are not insensitive to what they regard as unprovoked defamation by peoples who should have reason for different sentiments, and their impatience is likely to grow. Diplomacy, if it had a rare moment of discretion, would not ask for a better opening to take advantage of mistakes elsewhere. The French have been misguided by their politicians and by their natural disinclination to separate themselves from good hard money which could remain under the mattress if it were not owed to somebody else.

"HARD MONEY" OUT WEST.

[Boston Herald.]

No matter what changes the government may make in the size and style of our paper money, the chances are a hundred to one that the west will stick to silver cartwheels, and the colored citizens of the south will retain their money that jingles. How the west can tolerate the heavy and clumsy silver coins may mystify the east, but probably it is a matter of tradition, habit and convenience. The west is used to solid money, whether of gold or silver, and in the early days of the mining settlements there was no other money available. Moreover, paper money does not wear—ask the man who spends his days on horseback, or the miner at his toil, or the man who lives in a hot southern climate.

The east, too, has its habits and preferences. The treasury learned by experience a few years ago that the east could not be induced to cultivate a liking for silver dollars. Paying tellers handed them out with deprecating smiles, and explained that their use, in relatively small quantities even, would spell a handsome saving to the department in the renewal of old bills. But the east insists on its paper.

PARROTS AND OLD AGE.

It is said that parrots live more than one hundred years. Certain parrots have been known to live with people that long, it is said, and on this the notion of the longevity of parrots is based. But how about the people who live with parrots? What hazards are they subjected to? Parrots have tuberculosis, but it is not certain how contagious it is for human beings. A greater danger seems to be that of asthma and certain forms of hay fever.

Dr. G. T. Brown writes of a gentleman who suffered from perennial, or all-the-year-round hay fever. He went to Atlantic City and while there was free from his trouble. He jumped to the conclusion that a trip to Atlantic City was a panacea for hay fever. But later he had to go to a less auspicious place and again he was free from the disorder. He came to the conclusion that it did not matter where he went so long as he went. It was getting away from home that did the trick. But what and where was the fault with home? He finally discovered that the fault lay with the family parrot. The association with the bird was sacrificed on the altar of Aesculapius and the hay fever disappeared overnight.

Dr. G. Pipess had a patient who had a somewhat similar experience. Ha was sensitive to feathers of several kinds and it was necessary for him to get rid of chickens and ducks as well as the parrot. This patient had a bronchial asthma and that disorder holds on more firmly. It starts with a bronchitis. This becomes chronic and, finally, asthma is superimposed. Bronchial asthma is generally pretty well rooted when the effort to cure it is made. Therefore the time and effort required for cure is greater. This man got better when he banished his parrot, but his cure was not complete when the report was made.

KEEP WATCH ON DIET.

S. W. writes: Recently a woman wrote you that she cured her child of a tendency towards acidosis (whatever that means—does any doctor know?) by experimenting with different foods. The result was that she left certain things out of his diet, among them cereals and lettuce. It would be interesting to know whether it was the sugar and cream used on the cereals and the dressing used on the lettuce which caused the difficulty rather than the cereals and lettuce themselves. Both are extremely unpalatable without dressings, and few people would eat them plain. And if they did eat them plain they would not be likely to eat them in sufficient quantities to be harmful (as any food is harmful if eaten in larger amounts than the system can take care of). I suspect the difficulty with the cereal was due, first, to the excessive amounts of sugar and cream needed to make it palatable and, next, to the large amount of cereal eaten because of its being made so tasty by the cream and sugar. I never give cereals to my children for the reasons mentioned. All the grains they need can be supplied by bread which, if toasted crisply, is very pleasant to the taste even with only a small amount of butter. Only a little fat is needed and most people use too much, and then they blame the cereal instead of the cream, the meat instead of the gravy, the salad instead of the dressing. It is astonishing the amount of fats and sweets one can consume if one does not watch his diet carefully, and I think these are responsible for more ills than people realize. Aside from the harm they do in themselves they cause overeating of all other foods. I am against the idea of cutting a food out entirely because an excess is harmful, but that is the first thought that occurs to people. If one eats moderately, there is scarcely any food the system cannot tolerate. It took me many years and plenty of sad experience before I learned that moderation was the thing.

QUESTION OF LEVELS.

Chicago, July 1.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My folks bought a piece of property about four years ago. The alley had been filled in by neighbors and now we find that our part is the lowest in the block. When it rains, the water comes into our yard as far as the back porch. The sidewalk in the gangway was laid quite low. The man who laid this walk did not have enough ground or cinders and made a step down from about the back porch. At times, when it rains hard, water goes over this step and makes its way through the basement. Kindly let me know whether the real estate agent should lay a new sidewalk or if it is up to the property owner to do that. Also let me know how high the alley should be.

H. S.

Your right against the vender would depend on the wording of your agreement with him. While at common law interference with surface drainage was prohibited our Supreme court has said "Where a city has established an artificial grade, and provided an artificial sewerage, of which property owners can reasonably avail themselves, we should probably hold it their duty to do so." THE UNKISSED BRIDE

By BERTA RUCK

SYNOPSIS.

Joy Ramsden, living in London and working for Dr. Rex Travers in Harley street, is alarmed by a letter from her fiancé, Geoffrey Ford, a well known novelist, asking to be released from the engagement. Preoccupied with her own troubles, she fails to notice that Dr. Travers seems troubled, too. Towards the end of the day he tells Joy that he has lost a great deal of money through an unscrupulous solicitor and he will be forced to give up his house in Harley street.

Dr. Leslie, a tenant, tells Rex that he has just been offered a practice with a considerable villa in the south of France which he cannot take on, and he suggests that he recommend Rex for it. The only hitch to the plan is that they want a married couple and Rex is a bachelor. To his partner's suggestion that he marry and take up the new post Rex turns a deaf ear.

Joy, who has been listening to the doctors' colloquy, suddenly sees a method of escape for her and she asks Dr. Travers if he will marry her on a business arrangement. The doctor is stunned by her suggestion and finally asks her why she made it. She tells him that she is badly in need of another job, although her real reason is to have Geoffrey free of her engagement to another man.

The doctor broods over the change his altered circumstances will have on his young nephew and ward, Percival Arthur Fitzroy. Finally he decides to take Joy at her word and later enters into an agreement to marry on a strictly business basis. Immediately after the ceremony Rex, Joy and Percival Arthur go to the south of France. Joy enjoys Leslie's house and Percival Arthur has the time of his life. Joy and Rex become interested in each other. Then the Fords, Geoffrey and his mother, appear on the scene. Joy invites them to her first tea party. Geoffrey renews his attentions to Joy and Rex grows jealous. Joy is no longer interested in Geoffrey, but a misunderstanding arises between herself and Rex which strains their relations. They are both miserable.

INSTALLMENT LVII.

ON THE DEFENSIVE.

Joy murmured, "O, yes: divine——" "I haven't seen it yet; I must," or "Terribly effective, isn't it," to her cues for these replies, the while she asked herself: "Could I risk telling Rex I didn't mean that about 'freedom'? Supposing I told him, 'All I want is to be allowed to stay on at Mon Plaisir with you; to go on seeing to your meals and your laundry and your letter-book as I did before the Fords came and spoilt everything! Please, please can't you let me? Supposing he said, 'No, I have other plans'—it would kill me!"

As she thought this she was finishing some dance. Her two small, gold three shod feet came smartly and mechanically to rest on the last snapped-out note. Mechanically her hands clapped for the encore.

"These blokes can play, can't they?" said Joy's partner.

As she looked up to smile a mechanical assent she was quite surprised to find that her partner was now no longer Geoffrey Ford; she saw, now, that it was Mr. Smitson—This Pilot. She only half heard his friendly inquiries why Mrs. Travers hadn't been energetic enough to come down to the beach this morning with young Percival Arthur. What? Being domestic instead? I say! Taking lids off vegetable dishes in the larder and peering into them and that sort of thing?

"That sort of thing," Joy echoed, always mechanically.

"Jove! You must be a wizardly wife? You don't look it, if I may say so, and yet you are it. Marvelous. I say, I do hope I get one like you, Mrs. Travers, when I marry."

Joy, thus knifed, thought, "Rex, Rex, why is every other man in the world such a fool?"

"Not that I mean to, you know," continued This Pilot, doing his boyish best to entertain the flying doctor's little missus (to whom he gave top marks for eye ability, though to talk to, the wench seemed positively stupid. Married to Travers and didn't want to fly! Could she be quite right in her head?) "No getting married for me; but my mater always says, 'My dear boy, nowadays it's a case of nice men waiting until they're asked!' Nasty one for the modern girl, I thought; but my mater says, 'Well, Queen Victoria asked her husband to marry her!' But I can't imagine an ordinary girl proposing to a man exactly, not in so many words, can you, Mrs. Travers?"

Her reply startled him. She exclaimed, softly but vehemently: "The British navy. The British navy."

"The which?" ejaculated Alan Smithson, missing his step—and it was only as she caught sight of the alarmed look on her partner's face that

"It's well after midnight. Finish that champagne and then slip away."

Joy became aware she must have uttered aloud these words with which she had been reminding herself that a sailor's daughter (whatever happens to her, however hopeless her horizon, however storm tossed and derelict she feels, however tempestuously the waves and billows of bad luck dash over her, however the depths of misery yawn to engulf her!) must go down with her flag still flying.

"So sorry," she apologized, softly. (Young Smithson thought the girl was undoubtedly balmy.)

Knives, knives into Joy tonight!

She thought, "Perhaps it's because of that Rex hates me? Because I asked him to marry me? I can't believe now that I did? Must have, or I shouldn't be here." Another stab "and I shan't be here much longer!"

Incalculably later it seemed that she sat in the supper room at a little table whereon were fruit, drinks, a dish of caviar rolls, and opposite to her sat Geoffrey Ford who was apparently her partner for another dance.

He, talking to her about the cabaret turn, was reminded by her little air of the dancer in that number of "this year of grace" who turns, twists, and turns in that shuffling crowd of masks, until she tries to break away, but is hemmed in, breathless, exhausted, made to go on and on—"dance, dance, dance, little lady," and leaning towards her, he said without a trace that he sometimes used to his absurd mother when she was overtired. "My dear, it's time you were going home."

"Home?" Joy uttered a small staccato laugh, and added: "Isn't it quite early?"

She did not know what time it was . . . what day of the week . . . what month of the year.

"It's well after midnight. Finish that champagne and then slip away, Chickella," said Geoffrey, "and get your wrap."

In the cloak room, where she went to retrieve her shawl and sac, she was confronted by what she took at first for a smiling girl—and then realized was the newly engaged little Mrs. Ford.

More irony, if each woman had guessed the truth about the other!

Here was Pansy Ford, who had all the odds against her. Pansy, who had, after all, to spend over her appearance the time, thought and toil an artist must devote to some exhibition canvas depicting "youth"; Pansy to whom every cross-light, sleepless night or fit of tears spelt wrinkles. Pansy, who had to "study" her figure and be careful about what colors or styles she wore. Pansy, who (outwardly such a flirt) had remained fatally in love with the type of man most bored by constancy.

Here, on the other hand, was Joy Travers with Youth on her side, Youth's own brown gleaming her hair, Youth's own pink pulping her lips! Joy, to own shapeliness it did not greatly matter which sun faded tennis frock she put on, or what wisp of gorgette she put off, that sun kissed dimpling lack of here—Joy, who had become drawn to just the type of Englishman who should have been most attracted by her own type of wholesome, vital, warm blooded simplicity—Joy, living under this man's roof, in daily contact with him, with every factor of circumstances, propinquity, like-minded in her favor—Joy was suddenly reft of hope. Fate refused her the thing she wanted. She, of these two women, was to lose her man.

Every moment brought her nearer to that loss. Every moment the strain of facing it seemed to become more desperate.

Pansy, turning from powdering her nose at the mirror, exclaimed at Joy her guise so soon; she wasn't going to gamble, she wasn't going to wait for the waltz dancer?

"But I expect you've hated leaving your husband even for one eve-ning," added Pansy, Ford, out of the depths of her own feelings. Over her powder puff her dark eyes looked wistful fellowship at this bride who was to have been her own son's wife. Impulsively she exclaimed, "I—I've some-times felt so conscience stricken about you . . ."

"Why?" Joy asked, over that dimpling back.

For, although suffering so that in the ballroom she could scarcely tell one man from another, Joy sprang to the defensive as soon as she was faced by this other woman. Her, she realized in a moment. Geoffrey's mother, who was now successfully engaged, would be more than ever a little prize ass!

She was wrong: Pansy, too happy not to be gentle, took the rebuff gently enough. "Joy, I was once horrid about you."

"O! When? We only met so enormously long ago!" cried Joy, deliberately switching on radiance. "It couldn't be anything that matters terribly now, Mrs. Ford!"

And even Pansy was coerced for the moment into believing what Joy meant her to believe. The girl actually preferred that big fair "strong, silent" thing she had married to the angel Geoff? Pansy murmured her pleasure. . . . "You see, when one is as happy as I am (for we are sailing for India on the fifteenth without any proper trousseau or anything) one hates not to be friends with everybody, doesn't one?"

Good Morning!

Says the heroine of this piece:

"I hate the place! It has never brought me anything but unhappiness. Trying to make my dreams come true has been like endeavoring to mount to them on stairs of that crumbling sand out there. . . ."

So now you know the significance of the title. A title so rarely has a meaning that I thought I'd make a point of the matter.

The many discouragements of the lady quoted occur on the wild prairies in the days of stage coaches and leg o' mutton sleeves. You discover her as a poor orphan expecting money which is to pay her way east, where, she believes, happiness lurks. The funds were to have come on the stage coach—which has been held up by none other than Mr. Wallace Beery right at the start of the picture. He's the film's GOOD bad man. His BAD bad man is impersonated by Fred Kohler, who as ever Boss Stone, runs the dance hall and insists that our heroine work for him and earn money to replace that which has disappeared. It is in this sink of sin that Mr. Beery finds her just as SHE has discovered what her job really means. Also he learns how he is the cause of it all!

Does he protect that gal?

O, HOW!

Does the girl repay him with heart and hand?

No. Mr. Beery is called upon to deliver her into the keeping of a smiling youth whom, strangely enough, he has also saved from the clutches of the busy Mr. Kohler who would have hanged him just—like—that—had not Mr. Beery—O, well—see the picture . . .

And so, and so, and so! We leave the Good bad man resigned if not exuberant, with none but his faithful horse and the rough night wind to keep him company.

The acting's pretty good in this piece, but the story, as adapted to the screen, isn't so hot even if Zane Grey did write it.

Miss Arthur is nice despite a perpetually pained expression that becomes wearying to the eyes. The Bad Boys, Beery and Kohler are virile and, at times, Mr. Beery is sort of funny. Phillip Holmes as the youth saved from hanging and for the put upon Dorothy, has good looks, considerable ability and a smile the girls will cry for. The scenery is pleasing and the direction passing fair.

"Will you kindly make this correction in your 'Beg Your Pardon' column?

"Our records show that this picture was rejected by the board, and that rejection stands.

All I know is that in the Roosevelt theater offices, in the regulation permit signed at the bottom by Police Commissioner Russell, which is issued to film releasing companies before any picture can be shown. However, the one in question has across its face an additional sentence which reads: "Passed by order of Commissioner Russell." The form of the permit given to "The Trial of Mary Dugan" is the standard one.

His Jail Sentence by British Church Court to Stir Up Parliament

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Copyright: 1929: By The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, July 2.—Hopkins Morris, Liberal member of parliament, announces his intention of introducing a bill in the present parliament repealing the ancient law under which James Henry Stevens, Cambridgeshire landowner, was sent to jail for contempt by an ecclesiastical court because he refused to pay for repairing a church near his property.

The London press today is seething with indignation at the power of the church, which sent a man to jail for an indefinite term without action in the British law courts, saying "the action is reminiscent of the Inquisition and the Smithfield fires." [The Inquisition itself was little used in England, but death after judgment by ecclesiastical courts was legal until the reign of Charles II. in 1676.]

In the meanwhile the established church is not moved by the storm of protest in the Stevens case and is planning to take similar action in 120 other cases unless parliamentary action forestalls it.

Mr. Stevens was convicted under a statute dating to the times of William IV., who lived from 1765 to 1837, when the church court was given power to pass jail sentences, because the Anglican church's own private weapon, excommunication, no longer frightened anybody. Digging up a clause in the 400 year old title in the deed to some of Mr. Stevens' property, in which the owner of the land was required to repair the Huxton church, the vicar demanded that Mr. Stevens pay for the repairs.

On his refusal he was tried by a consistory court and jailed for contempt without the right to appeal to the regular tribunals. What is worse, since an ecclesiastical court has not operated for some centuries, it is not affected by modern law reforms. Whereas the law court is limited to certain maximum sentences which must be made definite, Mr. Stevens' term is not fixed and he will stay in jail until a special meeting of the church court lets him out. That court has announced its intention of keeping him in jail until the repairs are made.

Although some work has been done, that court says it is not enough and evidently is determined to make Mr. Stevens pay for practically rebuilding the edifice. Therefore, as Mr. Stevens refuses to do more, it looks as if he will stay in jail indefinitely unless a move now being taken by his counsel, that of trying to force the ecclesiastical court to hold a meeting and release him succeeds.

Just to make matters a little worse the church court also is going to charge Mr. Stevens with the costs of the action, which will be pretty high, since impanelling a court for this unique proceeding naturally will cost more than if an established routine existed. Mr. Stevens will be charged about $5,000 costs.

The British press insists the action the church is taking today is similar to that of the mediaeval ecclesiastical courts. The press condemns the practice of taking advantage of such ancient legal technicalities to annul a man's legal rights, as the prohibition agents of the United States are using the Volstead law improperly to ride rough shod through the whole American bill of rights.

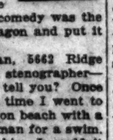
The Question.

What was the most mischievous prank in which you ever indulged?

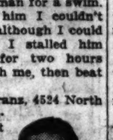
The Answers.

Vern Martin, 1607 West 15th street, Sioux City, Ia., clerk—That's making a fellow 'fess up. What didn't we use to do on some of those halloween escapades, carrying sheds across the street, and what not. One that would have been a movie picture comedy was the time we took a big wagon and put it on a front porch.

Miss Elaine Sullivan, 5662 Ridge avenue, stenographer—Shall I tell you? Once upon a time I went to Clarendon beach with a young man for a swim. I told him I couldn't swim, although I could swim. I stalled him along for two hours letting him try to teach me, then beat him swimming.

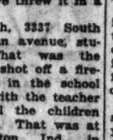


Ralph Von Rautenkranz, 4524 North Richmond street, student—I will forget never nor forgive myself for having anything to do with that stunt. Kids will be kids, and when I was a kid we threw a cat off a pier into the lake. It swam back, and we threw it out again. The worst of it was we threw it in a third time.



Robert Goldsborough, 3337 South Michigan avenue, student—That was the time I shot off a firecracker in the school room with the teacher and all the children present. That was at Chesterton, Ind., in September shortly after school started for the season.

Erich C. Saemisch, 2824 Armitage avenue, retail baker—While on the German cruiser Bremen off South America twenty years ago, I was disciplined by my corporal. Later we were invited to a banquet in one of the towns. A quick push on the rowboat taking us ashore ducked the corporal, who had to return to the ship and missed the banquet. Thus I got even with him without being further disciplined.



Hoover Plans Conference on Child Welfare

Date of Meeting Will Be Set Later.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 2.—[Special.]—President Hoover will call a national White House conference to discuss the health and protection of children, within the next year, according to an official announcement today.

Representatives of the voluntary child welfare organizations, together with federal, state, and municipal authorities interested in protecting the health and well-being of children, will attend.

Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, secretary of the interior, with the cooperation of Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, will direct the work of the conference. Dr. Harry E. Barnard, former state health commissioner of Indiana, has been selected as executive secretary of the conference.

The cost of financing the conference will be paid out of a $500,000 fund placed at the disposal of the President from private sources.

More effective official and voluntary protection and care of children was listed as the big objective of the conference by the President. The President stressed the necessity of giving every child health and protection, so as to give all an equal chance for success. The subjects to be discussed include child labor, teaching of health in the schools and scores of allied subjects.

"Its purpose," the President said, in explaining his reason for calling the parley, the first of its kind since one was called by President Roosevelt in 1909, "will be to determine the facts as to our present progress and our future needs in this great field.

"The conference will not be assembled for another nine months or a year in order that there may be time for complete and exhaustive study of the facts.

"The subjects to be covered embrace problems of dependent children; regular medical examination; school or public clinics for children; hospitalization; adequate milk supplies; community nurses; maternity instruction and nurses; teaching of health in the schools; facilities for playgrounds and recreation; voluntary organization of children; child labor and scores of allied subjects.

"We as a nation are fundamentally concerned with reinforcement of the equality of opportunity to every child and the first necessity for equal opportunity is health and protection."

ONE SWAN POWER KNIGHT RESCUES FAIR ELSA AT RAVINIA PARK

BY EDWARD MOORE.

By way of offering a contrast from the operatic style of Ravinia since its opening ten days ago they put on "Lohengrin" last night, a work wherein leisurely pace and phrasing take the preference over high notes and vocal display. This, too, was a good performance, averaging almost as high as its predecessors. It was just a different manner, and that was what made the contrast.

Of all the Elsas who have narrated their woes and called upon a knight, navigating under one swan power, to help them out of trouble, Elisabeth Rethberg stands well at the head. It is a role that was made to order for the serene radiance of her voice and the no less dignity of her personal bearing. Wagner has been dead these many years and he wrote "Lohengren" a long time before he died, but when he was at work on it he must have had some such person as Mme. Rethberg in mind. It is a great part for her and she is a great artist for the part.

Likewise Edward Johnson stands out as the perfect knight to take up her fight. He has sung the part many times before at Ravinia and in Chicago, but he never did it as well as last night. Vocally he is in better form than he has been in years, and the freedom of his singing reacts favorably upon his bearing while on the stage. Once again his singular ability to illuminate a musical phrase through its words became noticeable. This is high art, for while "Lohengren" requires much straightforward, honest singing, even honest singing can be improved through the right kind of emphasis upon the text.

George Cehanovsky as the herald was excellent. So for the greater part of the time was Desire Defrere as Talemund, though this part calls for a vocal range, especially a low range, that at times made difficulty for him. So, for that matter, was Louis D'Angelo as the king, though he occasionally sounded as though he was being annoyed by a cold. But it seemed almost a waste of good material to put on so fine an artist as Julia Claussen as Ortrud in a version that gave her so little to sing.

The performance was not quite perfect. The quintet in the first act started well but ended in three or four different pitches, and a short passage between Mr. Defrere and the male chorus a few moments before sounded as though it was in at least six. But the orchestra was at its best, which is very fine, indeed, and except for the few circumstances like those just narrated and over which he had no control, Conductor Hasselmans kept the performance going with a firm and expert hand.

Chicago Soon Takes Lead in Fight on Cancer

County Hospital Clinic Starts in August.

Chicago will be the national center in the battle against cancer. A cancer research division will be established at the Cook county hospital shortly after Aug. 1. This was assured yesterday by Anton J. Cermak, president of the county board. He promised adoption of the recommendations of the committee, named by that board to prepare plans.

The county board will confirm the committee's suggestions at its next meeting on July 15. On that date, Dr. William A. Hendricks, who has been proposed as director of the clinic, will be authorized to proceed with the project, sponsored by Dr. Charles Mayo. Dr. Hendricks, formerly was with the Mayo clinic at Rochester, Minn., and now a member of the staff of Wesley Memorial hospital, is on a research tour and will not return to Chicago till Aug. 1.

The committee, which is composed of Dr. Irving S. Cutter, dean of the Northwestern University Medical school; Dr. Frederick Tice of the county hospital, Warden Michael Simmer of the hospital, and Coroner Hayman N. Bundesen, urged immediate action for establishment of the clinic. Their report pointed out that there are 40 cancer cases in the county hospital.

Those 40 cases might be sent to wards for men and women without disrupting the hospital's efficiency or bringing heavy demands on the hospital's finances, the report declares. With the patients assured, the appointment of representatives of the four medical schools in Chicago—Illinois, Chicago, Northwestern, and Loyola universities—can be made to aid in the study.

Dr. Cutter explained that these patients will not be subjected to unsound experimentation. The clinic is to proceed by making scientific observations of cancer cases to make recommendations and to compile statistics. Treatment will be given only when experiments have proved the value of the particular method.

Dr. Mayo is abroad engaged in comparing the observations of himself and other Americans with those of European surgeons. He will return this fall and offer suggestions in the conduct of the clinic at the county hospital. As sponsor of the clinic, he is expected to take an active part in its development.

Dr. Cutter said the clinic will avail itself of the records of the American College of Surgeons, which has made Chicago the center of information and of the dissemination of information. That association began compilation of every known case of cancer in this country and Canada early this year. The archives will contain a complete history of each patient, details of the case, and records of the health of the offspring.

Those studies will be employed at the county hospital clinic. The clinic also will cooperate with associations engaged in the campaign against cancer, both in this country and abroad. Through the clinic campaigns are to be conducted for the enlightenment of the public.

Hebrew Union College Sure of Rosenwald's $500,000

Cincinnati, O., July 2.—(AP)—The Hebrew Union college announced today its campaign for a $5,000,000 endowment fund had passed the $4,000,000 mark and that the $500,000 subscription of Julius Rosenwald, Chicago philanthropist, offered on condition that $2,500,000 be raised by July 1, was made a certainty.

Dr. Julian Morgenstern, president of the college, said the fund would not have totaled $2,500,000 yesterday had not Adolph S. Ochs, publisher of the New York Times, and Mrs. Ochs increased their original contribution of $250,000 to $500,000. The second Ochs gift assured the college of the Rosenwald subscription.

Mothers Earning Money at Home Not Always Best

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Mrs. Bevans has prepared two booklets, one on "Prayers and Graces for Children" and another called "Books to Be Read to the Children or by Them," which will be sent free on receipt of stamped, self-addressed envelopes.

Some time ago we had several articles and much correspondence on the subject of how mothers who were in need of extra money might earn it at home, and not have to leave their children. Letters kept coming in with excellent suggestions, but we had to stop printing them as we felt we could not give more space to the subject.

One, however, a sane letter from a well balanced woman who had children and had earned money at home herself, contained a comment which is worthy of attention. She said, "Sometimes women who find they can earn money at home get so interested that they neglect their children for it."

Well, it seems that the most innocent step may be toward a pitfall, doesn't it? This very thing has happened time and again, where a woman who has been counting every penny becomes slightly intoxicated on discovering that she can earn money at home and that she can ease up the financial situation. Either for the sake of the money or because she becomes so interested in the work itself she gives more and more time to it, and less and less to the personal care of the children.

Of course, if she wants to do less of the actual home work and devote that time to earning money, her children will not suffer. But if she allows it to encroach on the open time that she should have for them, she is making a great mistake. No extra money that is not a necessity can ever compensate to her or to the children for neglect of them. Even if that money means better clothes for them, or "advantages," it is not worth it if the result is absentee motherhood.

Celebration Refreshments.

The more one knows about party planning, the more strong grows the idea that every individual will get the most pleasure and profit by working out his or her own salvation in the matter. Try it once with all your heart, and the experience gained may help you for the next time, and so you go on till you get such experience as gives delight.

Groaning and fussing over the refreshment part of party giving is too universal. It can be made play, once you begin to understand how to do even a few nice things. And it is not a useless accomplishment, as anybody can see by giving a little sober thought to the business and the business of living some twenty-five and one-half thousand days.

What can you do with the red cherries, the blueberries and some white cake or some bleached salad greens? You may call your cherries cannon balls if you will, to hurl against some Bunker Hill, which same might be modeled on the candle-appetizers and salads served today, which mainly consist of half a banana standing in some suitable base. Perhaps you can arrange this for a dessert.

A fine red tomato is an excellent piece of picnic refreshment, and with white sandwiches and a small glass of blueberries—all arranged in individual baskets—might constitute representative parts of three courses—appetizer, main course when the sandwiches contain meat, and dessert. Blueberries with a little sugar without the cream are dainty, but to carry along a bottle of cream or a thermos of it—to the picnic—is easy.

And about peeling a tomato. I am still astonished to hear or see people scalding tomatoes in order that their skins may be removed easily. When using a great number this may be justifiable, but take this case: Each eater can pare his own tomato by rubbing it well with the back of a knife to loosen the skin, which then comes off readily. And this is always the best thing to do when a tomato has been chilled for salad use.

Tomatoes quite plain or with a teaspoonful of mayonnaise are always excellent for picnics because they are so largely water and so thirst allaying.

Saluting the King.

It was while serving overseas during the world war that "my most embarrassing moment" occurred.

The Canadian division with which I was soldiering had been training in England and word was received in camp that King George himself would inspect the division before we left for France.

There were great preparations for the event and everything was just as it should have been on the morning that we were drawn up for the march past the base, where the king was to take the salute of the division.

I happened to be a right hand file, which meant that I would pass directly by where the king and a flock of staff officers were standing. So far, so good, but not for long, for just as we approached the spot, I felt a slow relaxation of the tightly wound puttie on my right leg. Glancing down, I found that the tape which held the puttie was slowly unraveling itself from my leg as I marched.

It was too late to attempt repairs, so I reached down hurriedly, grabbed a handful of the loose end, and marched past the saluting base, where clustered King George and some of the biggest "brass hats" of the British army, a handful of puttie clutched vise-like on the side nearest them!

What happened to me after the parade ended, I would prefer not to tell.

KINGSTON, Ont., July 3.—(AP)—James Armstrong Richardson of Winnipeg head of the grain firm of James Richardson & Sons, today was chosen chancellor of Queen's university.

Back of the Bob Is Just as Important as the Front View

"There isn't much difference," an adult observed, "between these green women with mangy backs of heads and small boys who refuse to wash behind the ears."

The woman was speaking of a particular example immediately in front of us at the theater. The back of this head was pretty panicky. A side slant indicated that care was taken to get a reasonably good front effect. There was no hint, however, that a hand mirror had been raised in the interests of those whose view would be a back one. If bobs were a thing of recent introduction one would dismiss the charge on the grounds of inexperience or lack of direction. But they've been in so long and been through several hazardous threats of extinction that nothing short of fine perfection is demanded of them.

I will say for the great majority of women that they have become just as back-head conscious as fore. But there is no reason why every woman shouldn't present a neat, if not a pretty, back hair arrangement.

The boyish cut, except for an exceptional woman here and there, is an abandoned style. But in spite of the rumors about softer, fluffier, and more feminine dressing of the hair smart heads still preserve a clear and shapely scalp outline. And this is accomplished far more by the attention that is given to the back of the head than the front. It is well to remember that the back of the head has not eyes, nor mouth, nor pretty teeth to distract attention. Its beauty depends entirely upon hair arrangement.

There are few heads that take a straight down combing of the back hair. A slight swirl or a more exaggerated one is more becoming to the average head. A great deal of study could be applied to this part of the cranium. All heads are not shapely, but with the way that hair can be clipped out underneath where the outline is too bulgy or where there is a cave-in hair can be clipped to hide the defect.

FARM AND GARDEN

BY FRANK RIDGWAY

Information dealing with the use of sodium chlorate in eradicating weeds has been widely broadcast during the last year. Plant pest experts, however, are slowing up on their recommendations of this chemical for extensive use. It no doubt can be used about as well in getting rid of weeds on vacant lots in cities as in any other place.

When used for small patches of quack grass, or Canada thistle in pastures, fields, or along fence rows, sodium chlorate probably is superior to any other method of eradication, provided from two or four applications are made, according to an extension specialist of the farming school at Ames, Ia.

But he advises farmers to use only small quantities of it at first, preparing the spraying as often as possible. He also warns users of the explosiveness of this chemical under certain conditions. In a steel or iron drum it is harmless and can be handled with little or no danger, but after the container is opened there is danger of dust or other organic matter getting in which makes it highly inflammable.

"Clothing, wood or other organic material when soaked in sodium chlorate solution may be easily set on fire by friction, and often explodes," according to R. H. Porter of the school. "A person walking through a field recently sprayed with sodium chlorate solution may suddenly find himself surrounded by flames."

Mr. Porter has summarized directions for using this chemical in his new circular, P. D. number 44, which may be obtained by writing to the Iowa State College, Ames, Ia.

"How to Think, Not What," Hailed Goal of Education in U. S.

Atlanta, Ga., July 2.—(AP)—Two general sessions and a series of departmental meetings today stressed the purpose of the 67th convention of the National Education association—education for a new world.

Heading the list of reports to the general session was that of the propaganda committee, which held that all schools should be safeguarded against propaganda. Children should be taught "how to think," not "what to think," the report said.

Discussing race relations, Dr. Robert R. Moton, president of the Tuskegee Institute, said the Negro race was not inferior to the white. "The white race itself," he said, "only a little over ten years ago staged an example of backwardness by killing each other in Europe that was not very inspiring."

Quoting the commandment of Christ to "Love thy neighbor as thyself," Dr. Moton said he believed "there was enough Christianity and democrats in America to bring about harmonious race relations, and that with education both races could work together in respect and friendship toward building a greater and better nation."

Welshmen Plan for National Song Fete

LLANELLY, Wales, July 2.—Thousands of Welshmen assembled here today for the proclamation of the national Eisteddfod in 1930.

At an elaborate ceremony Archdruid Pedrog mounted the Logan stone in Howard park and announced the festival, surrounded by bards, druids, ovates, and other officials.

The gathering of bards—known as gorsed—is one of the picturesque ceremonies in connection with the national song festival. This year a few are gathering at the singing of Welsh national airs by a children's choir of 1,000 voices.

Boys and Girls, Sally Must Have Notes Tomorrow

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Are your letters in the mail, girls and boys, so they'll reach me by tomorrow morning when I choose my hundred guests to meet Buddy Rogers and see the Four Marx brothers in "Cocoanuts" at McVickers theater, July 11?

If not, you must get your letters done today and in the post by this afternoon. But there'll be no trouble in doing that—because with so much fun in store for us, you can easily write a winning letter. Just think, what pleasure it will be to meet a favorite star like Buddy Rogers, and we'll have a private party all to ourselves—one that he came to Chicago ahead of time to give, at the request of our hosts, Balaban and Katz—with Buddy giving the entertainment and telling us about his experiences in Hollywood.

Then there's the show at McVickers—one of the most hilarious and gay that's been seen in motion pictures for many a day. The Four Marx brothers, with their comic antics and their musical talent are a riot of fun in themselves—and we know their show "Cocoanuts," showing their adventures trying to run a Florida hotel is a wonder, because it ran on the stage in New York for two years, and as we'll see it in the talking picture, it will be even better than the stage version, because of the extra features—musical numbers by Irving Berlin—addition to the cast of the lovely Mary Eaton, and that most clever of dancers, Oscar Shaw.

With all that in prospect, can't you write a winning letter telling why you'd like to come? The best letters win! That's all I want, you know—to find the hundred girls and boys who'll get most fun from coming to this party—and you can prove yourself one of them easily. It's just a question of writing and mailing your letter while you still have time to be considered. Be sure, though, you give your name, street address and age, then watch next Sunday's TRIBUNE for the names of the hundred winners.

Just a word for White City winners. Your invitations were mailed yesterday and you should have them today. If any of you in the winning list did not receive yours, please let me know right away.

Shakespeare Theater Corner Stone Laid Near His Birthplace

STRATFORD-ON-AVON, England, July 2.—(AP)—Within a few hundred yards of the spot where William Shakespeare was born, the cornerstone of a $750,000 memorial theater was laid today. The ceremony was performed with a full Masonic ritual, Lord Ampthill, pro-grand master of England, officiating at the ceremony.

Miss Elizabeth Scott, the architect of the theater, presented Lord Ampthill with a trowel bearing the Shakespeare arms, the arms of the town of Stratford-on-Avon, and the coronet of Lord Ampthill.

The theater, which it is expected will be complete sometime next winter, will accomdate 1,000 people, and plans for it have been under constant supervision of men active in the English theater.

The Shakespeare summer festival opened at the temporary memorial theater last night with a performance of "Hamlet." Tonight's play will be "Richard III.," under the direction of Bridges Adams, who has also supervised the plans for the new building.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 2.—[Special.]—Herbert Hoover jr. arrived today at the White House for a visit to his parents. President and Mrs. Hoover gave a dinner tonight. Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wiggins of New York, who have been guests at the White House, returned to New York.

The Secretary of War and Mrs. James W. Good have chosen Manchester, Mass., as the place for their summer outing and will leave here tomorrow afternoon. The secretary will return the first of next week. Mrs. Good and the children will remain for at least a month.

Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Herbert O. Williams left last night for Portland, Me., where they will be at the Lafayette hotel for the remainder of the summer.

Mrs. Pixley, widow of Frank Pixley, formerly well known in Chicago, who has been in Washington over the week-end, left tonight for New York to sail tomorrow for England, with Lady Sharp of London who has been here for several weeks. Mrs. Pixley entertained at luncheon yesterday at the Mayflower for Lady Sharp and among the other guests were Mrs. E. E. Gann, sister of the Vice President; Mrs. Ely E. Fiance Believes in Lots of Freedom and Rights—for Himself

BY DORIS BLAKE.

A girl friend of Ida's has the disconcerting habit of calling up Ida's fiancé a couple of times a week. She ask him to take her to luncheon, which he does, although he insists he cares only for Ida and that she is quite wrong in taking any other view of the lunch dates than polite acquiesence to a lady's requests. (A fairly original abili, you must admit.)

Fiancé must be a good salesman, for he has Ida half convinced that she is of an old fashioned variety, not at all on to modern proprieties. Why, if he thought there was anything wrong with it, he would discourage the phone calls and refuse the luncheon requests.

All of which would be sound and excellent sales talk if the picture could be reversed, Ida, the willingly pursued engaged one with the fiancé, wearing an expression of broad minded understanding of ultra-modern ways and methods.

When little problems like this come up for solution one automatically reaches out for the golden rule to shake in the disturber's face. If he's willing to have done by him as he is doing by his betrothed, well and good. But the trouble, I find, with so much of our modern thought, or the application of modern thinking, is that it is so one sided, usually. The freedom and rights have such a peculiar way of being centered in only one where two individuals are involved.

As a fiancée I shouldn't like it. In fact, I have an idea I'd raise ructions, which wouldn't be the wisest course, either, maybe. But at least, if a man asked me to devote my future to him, I would expect a dignified face on the sworn pact, which isn't exactly being prescribed by toting another girl about to public restaurants.

I wouldn't think of myself as any old fashioned person at all. A jealous one, maybe, but why not? It's not one of woman's outstanding virtues to look smilingly upon a rival, and I'm not so convinced that it is such a glorious virtue, either. Men are so likely to interpret the big, broad understanding soul as belonging to a woman of indifferent passions. That's why I don't recommend a too great generosity of bearing in trials like the one described.

ENGAGEMENTS

Of interest in Chicago is the announcement of the engagement of Miss Lavinia Fyke, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Edgar Ellis Fyke of Centralia, Ill., to Norman Waite, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick C. Waite of Brookline, Mass. Miss Fyke was graduated from Smith college in 1925 and is a sister of Mrs. John R. Montgomery Jr. of 8 East Elm street. Mr. Waite is a Yale graduate and is now in his senior year at Harvard law school.

Mrs. Mary E. Coutanche of Evanston announces the engagement of her daughter, Gwen Anne, to Edward W. Siegel of St. Louis, Mo.

Vanilla Tone Flavors Many Chic Costumes

BY LOLITA.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—Our grandmothers used to speak of a "tasty" costume. Today the mode would afford this expression a new basis of fact. Today the popularity of vanilla as a tone makes "tasty" a literal description.

We are showing above one of the numerous frocks of this year which choose vanilla as a complementary touch. The vestee exploits this tint and blends charmingly with a brown foulard dotted in white. This vestee derives new charm from a curved arrangement of the belt, which achieves the correct blousing above the waist line.

The other details of the gown are delightful. A skirt which is allover plaited is topped by a plaited flounce of the tunic and above this flounce a band, likewise plaited, gives the final finish. Brown kid opera pumps and an exceedingly smart hat combining brown and vanilla tinted felt supply, together with slipon suede gloves, the proper accessories.

It is interesting to see that the touch of contrasting color applied to street frocks such as the above is often very sparing in some of the latest Paris models. For example, a brand new model from Patou developed in black crêpe reserves touches of pink crêpe for the under section of a double plaited jabot and repeats the pink only on an applied ruffle of the sleeve. Equally significant is a late Renée model in black marocain crêpe which uses grege marocain only as a border for two side ties.

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Asks for Bathing Suits.

"Three years ago I received bathing suits for my children through your corner and now that they are worn, I am wondering if you can get others for them. I would like to take them to the lake, but cannot afford to buy the suits. The boys are 12, 5 and 2 years. The girl is 7, and I wear size 40. "MRS. D. H."

Can you make a summer of swimming possible for these children and their mother by donating the bathing suits they are so anxious to have? Perhaps the one you are discarding could be mended for one of them.

"I am the mother of a baby about a year and a half old and since I am finding it necessary to go to work, I wonder if you know of someone who will care for my baby for me. She has never been seriously ill and is a good child. I have no relations I can call on and you are the only person I feel can help me. Mrs. J. E."

If your days are lonely, unexciting ones you'll probably welcome with enthusiasm this idea of having a baby about the house. If you can assist this young mother by caring for her child while she is at work, let me hear from you.

U. S. EAGER TO AID FAR EAST, DAVIS TELLS CHINESE

Says Great Future Lies Before Orient.

BY JOHN POWELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, July 2.—The American people are deeply interested in the far east and have the keenest desire to help both China and the Philippines to the great future which lies before them, declared Dwight Davis, new governor general of the Philippines, in an address here tonight before members of the American chamber of commerce.

Mr. Davis said America wants to help in, not interefere with, China's struggle for unification and reconstruction.

Referring to the Philippine Islands, Mr. Davis said the United States is deeply interested in the welfare and progress of the Filipinos and declared it was his purpose to continue the program of the last year. He hoped that he would have the opportunity to further the program which was so well begun.

Says Hoover Is Interested.

He said that it was particularly fortunate at this state in the relationship between the United States and the orient that America has President Hoover and Secretary of State Stimson, both of whom are interested in and informed on the problems of this part of the world. He expressed the opinion that the election of Mr. Hoover as President and the appointment of Mr. Stimson to the important position of secretary of state indicated that the American people are interested in foreign relations and that Americans residing in the far east have no conception of the deep concern felt by the people at home for the welfare of American relations and interests in the far east.

Mr. Davis said that before leaving Washington he had inquired at the department of commerce regarding the comparative figures of American trade with Europe and with the orient, from which he learned that while trade between Europe and America had declined from 62 per cent to 46 per cent since before the world war, American trade in the far east had increased from 7 to 16 per cent in the same period.

Praises Air Development.

"America," he said, "is coming in closer and closer relationship with eastern trade."

He also expressed the hope that American citizens would pay special attention to the new transportation by air services across the Pacific and was gratified to learn that Americans are taking the lead in the development of air service in China and the Philippines. He said that due to poor methods of communication, the airplane had a great future in the orient, and declared that the United States has the best planes, engines, and aviators and that development of aviation was greater in America than anywhere else in the world.

Mr. Davis was introduced by Dr. F. L. Hawks Pott, president of St. John's university, Shanghai, who expressed the desire that Mr. Davis study the situation in China, since the problems here are similar to those of the Philippines. He said the west has now passed the stage of patronizing oriental peoples and reached the stage for coöperation and for finding the best methods for assisting them.

SUPT. BRANDON TELLS PLANS FOR PRISON REFORMS

New Cells, Cafeteria System Included.

Improvements in buildings and procedure at the Joliet and Stateville penitentiaries were announced yesterday by Rodney Brandon, new state superintendent of public welfare, after a visit to the two institutions.

Supt. Brandon intends to construct a tunnel from the Joliet prison to the quarry across Collins street. Now the men are taken in groups, sometimes as many as 150 at a time, across the highway to the quarry, and numerous armed guards are needed. The transfers also delay traffic.

New Industry Planned.

He proposes a new cell house at Stateville with 500 cells, to house 1,000 prisoners. A new industry is to be instituted—the manufacture of concrete lampposts, to be sold to municipalities and for use by the state.

A new dormitory is to be built on the honor farm to house 130 convicts. At present, the men sleep in three or four old farmhouses. This condition makes escape easy and tempting, but in the new place the men will be under careful supervision.

In the old prison at Joliet the cafeteria system is to be instituted, so the convicts may get all their food warm. Complaints have been made that at present the food is cold when it is distributed.

A department of forestry is to be added to other penitentiary activities. This will provide trees for reforestation in Illinois and for free distribution to residents.

Employment Is Problem.

Supt. Brandon said the greatest problem at the prisons today is to provide employment for the 3,500 convicts. Lacking work to keep them busy all day, he has decreed that all his wards must spend four hours a day in school. His plan calls for convict teachers under the supervision of Dr. John D. Taylor of Jacksonville.

The inmates must also work at least four hours a day. The work on the tunnel, the new cellhouse, and the administration building at Stateville will all be done by convict labor and at an estimated cost of $500,000, Supt. Brandon said.

OPERATE TO LIFT PRESSURE FROM PRISONER'S BRAIN

Check Passing Blamed on Football Game Injury.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 2.—[Special.]—In an effort to correct alleged criminal tendencies and operation to relieve pressure on the brain was performed here today on Howard Buck, 28, of Vincennes, an inmate of the Indiana reformatory and a former football player of the University of Chicago.

Buck is said to have suffered the injury in a football game between Chicago and Purdue, Oct. 18, 1922. He was sentenced to from two to fourteen years at the reformatory for issuing fraudulent checks, some of them to Bert Fuller, campaign manager for Gov. Harry G. Leslie. He began his rentence Feb. 20 of this year. Buck was assigned to the shirt factory and then transferred to clerk for the chaplain and played short stop on the reformatory baseball team.

Throughout this time he suffered terrific headaches, he told officials. In a recent baseball game at the reformatory he lapsed into unconsciousness and prison officials and physicians examined him. His condition was called to the attention of Gov. Leslie, who consented to an operation, believing that if there was a chance to aid the youth it should be done.

Leslie was a former Purdue football player, having been seriously injured in the wreck here in 1904 when most of Purdue's team was hurt.

Buck was taken to the Robert W. Long hospital on parole about two weeks ago and the operation was performed today.

SLEEP POTION IS FATAL.

An overdose of a sleep potion is believed to have caused the death of Mrs. Katie Guck, 34, of 848 Milwaukee avenue, who died yesterday in the Lutheran Deaconess hospital.

INDICT PROMOTER OF GAS STATION CHAIN FOR FRAUD

Louis J. Reycroft, head of the fictitious Tower Chain System, Inc., with offices in the National Security building, 105 West Madison street, was indicted by the grand jury yesterday after he had been arraigned before Judge Edgar Jonas on a charge of operating a confidence game.

Reycroft was interrupted in his alleged scheme to swindle women by promising to make them hostesses at filling stations, which he said he was establishing throughout the city for a New York syndicate. His scheme was to get his intended victims to invest before giving them positions. Miss Grace Burr, 360 East Garfield boulevard, had mailed him a $1,000 bond, which was recovered when he was arrested.

The Better Business bureau discovered Reycroft's methods when he advertised for the women employés with money enough to cover a bond. They caused the police to raid his office just as the women started to flock in for the promised positions.

VOTES FOR SUNDAY MOVIES.

Mount Vernon, Ill., July 2.—(AP)—The Mount Vernon city council last night passed an ordinance authorizing Sunday picture shows.

EUGENE O'NEILL IS DIVORCED BY SECOND WIFE

Reno, Nev., July 2.—(AP)—Mrs. Agnes Boulton O'Neill, writer, was granted a divorce in the District court here today from Eugene G. O'Neill, noted playwright.

The divorce was granted on grounds of desertion. Testimony was taken behind closed doors by Judge Thomas F. Moran.

It is understood that O'Neill agrees to pay Mrs. O'Neill one-third of his annual income, with certain reservations, that Mrs. O'Neill is to be given title to the Bermuda estate, "Spithead," and that custody of the two children is to be divided between them. O'Neill, who is now in Europe, was represented by counsel.

O'Neill and his first wife, Alice Jenkins, were divorced in 1912, three years after their marriage. Mrs. O'Neill has two children by former marriages.

According to reports here Mr. and Mrs. O'Neill agreed at the time of their marriage that either would give the other freedom should love for another arise.

It is said O'Neill told his wife that he cared for some one else.

Why IRONIZED YEAST Works Such Quick Wonders

Think of it! New strength in 3 or 4 days. New weight added so quickly! People are continually amazed at the wonderful weight-building and strengthening benefits of IRONIZED YEAST. Many write that they were doubtful before they started, thinking it was just like the rest. But after taking it regularly for only a few weeks they were surprised and delighted to find they had gained 5 to 15 pounds! Ugly hollows fill out. Skinny limbs become gracefully rounded. Pimples vanish and blemished skin becomes clear and beautiful.

IRONIZED YEAST is two great tonics in one. Weight-building YEAST and two kinds of strengthening, blood-enriching IRON used for years by highest medical authorities.

The yeast is Violet Rayed to increase weight building values. We concentrate it so that 12 SACKS of raw live YEAST make only ½ SACK of the concentrate which goes into IRONIZED YEAST. You can easily see why each small tablet of this new IRONIZED YEAST gives you quick, EXTRA, weight-building results through this 24-to-1 concentration.

Only when Yeast is Ironized is it most effective. For Iron is needed to bring out the weight-building, strengthening values of Yeast. That's the reason folks ask: "Why does IRONIZED YEAST add weight and health so quickly?" Pleasant tablets. No "yeasty" taste. No gas or bloating.

Get a full size treatment of IRONIZED YEAST from any druggist today. If after this generous trial you are not delighted with quick results, get your money back—from druggist or manufacturer.

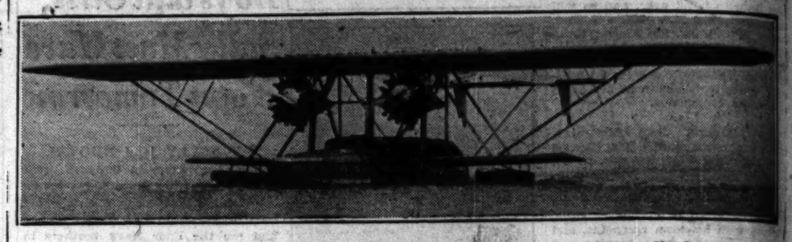
'Untin' Bowler Leaves Chicago on Berlin-Bound Journey

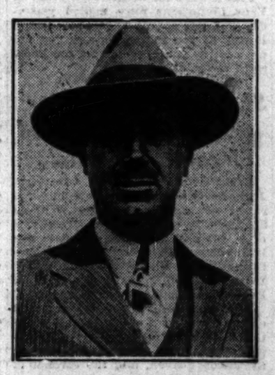


The Tribune's twin-motored Sikorsky amphibion takes off this morning from Grant Park for Canada, Greenland, Iceland and Berlin. Piloted by Bob Gast, former World War flyer, and Shorty Cramer, who has already covered a great part of the route, with Robert Wood, aviation editor of the Tribune, as sole passenger, the 'Untin' Bowler is ready for its voyage. Quin Ryan will describe the flight, and the flyers will say "Good-bye" over W-G-N at 8:00 A. M.

Milwaukee Last Stop in U. S.

From Grant Park the Bowler will aim northward for Milwaukee, where it will make a brief pause in its Berlin-bound journey. Pat Barnes, W-G-N announcer, will be a member of the Milwaukee reception committee. He's there to give radio listeners a last report of the giant plane as it lifts from the waters of Milwaukee harbor and takes its way up Lake Michigan to Canada. And perhaps he'll have a message from the two pilots and their journalist passenger just before she takes off at about 10:30 A. M.

Colonel R. R. McCormick



Not a spectacular stunt, but a voyage of discovery and research, the flight of the 'Untin' Bowler, sponsored by the Tribune, is a scientific, carefully calculated effort to establish a reliable, safe air route between the United States and Europe. How the trip was first envisioned, how preparations have been made for it, and something of its importance to Chicago as an aviation center of the United States will be told this evening by Colonel Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of the Chicago Tribune. 9:00 P. M.

CINCINNATI BOWS TO CUBS IN 11 INNINGS, 5-4

YANKEE YOUTHS DETHRONE KINGS AT WIMBLEDON

Allison, Van Ryn Nip Cochet, Brugnon.

BY WILLIAM SHIRER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 2.—America's Davis cup youngsters, John Van Ryn and Wilmer Allison, today upset Henri Cochet and Jacques Brugnon of France, twice Wimbledon champions, by beating them in four sets in the quarter finals, 7-5, 3-6, 3-6, 8-6.

Their victory climaxed a day which saw Tilden and Hunter advancing into the doubles semi-finals, with an easy win over Baron Von Kehring and H. Kleinschroth, Hungarian-German team, 6-4, 8-6, 6-1, and Lott and Hennessy entering the quarter finals by defeating Lycett and Wheatley, English combination, 6-2, 6-3, 6-1.

Meet Tilden and Hunter.

The triumph of Allison and Van Ryn put them in the semi-finals, where they will next meet Tilden and Hunter. Lott and Hennessey must still eliminate Kingsley and Oliff and then Gregory and Collins, English Davis cup pair, who finished by routing the French today in an unexpected victory over Jean Borotra and Christian Boussus, 5-7, 4-6, 6-1, 6-2, 6-1. If Lott and Hennessey get through these two matches they meet either Hunter and Tilden or Allison and Van Ryn in the finals.

The latter pair went after Cochet and Brugnon with a vengeance today. Wisely concentrating on Brugnon, who is not in his best form, due to an injury to his neck, they peppered their volleys at him for placement after placement and when the French pair attempted to attack from the net the Americans lifted a series of clever lobs which not only drove their opponents back to the baseline but in many cases scored clean placements.

Allison and Van Ryn led practically all the way in the first set, but the French pulled up five all. In the eleventh game Allison won his service, making it 6-5, and took the next game by breaking through Brugnon's service.

Both pairs tossed away numerous chances to annex the second set which the Americans eventually won, 8-6.

Cochet Squares Set.

Leading 5 to 4, Allison and his partner had four set points in the next game against Cochet's service, but the Frenchmen pulled it out after the count was deuced five times, squaring the set five all. Cochet and Brugnon then forged ahead and thrice had set point when they led, 6-5, with Brugnon serving. The Yankee team pulled the game up from 15-40 and finally won it, making it six all. Van Ryn won his following service game and the Americans punched through the next game against Cochet's service for 8-6.

Allison tired in the third set, many of his stop volleys finding the net and the French quickly ran through to take it 6-3.

They appeared to be galloping toward another set a little later when they led 5-3 with Brugnon serving, but magnificent play at the net gave the Americans two games in quick order to square the set five all.

Charges Bring Victory.

The French went to 6-5 and against Van Ryn's service had one set point in the next game, but the Americans deuced it from 30-40 and took it with two neat placements, making it six all. They then broke through Brugnon's service again, leading 7-6, and the match ended in the fourteenth game when, after they had failed to take advantage of two match points in the long deuced game, their constant charging the net brought them the needed points for game set at match.

Helen Wills and Edith Cross played about as well as they were able in the doubles match with Mrs. McIlquham and Miss Harvey, but their best was not good enough and the English couple won 6-4, 8-10, 6-3. Miss Wills made a gallant effort to pull victory out of the fire and almost single handed won the second set after she and her partner had been trailing, 1-5. They took the set 8-6, but could not maintain the pace in the final set.

Miss Wills appeared to better advantage teamed with Francis Hunter, the American pair defeating Crole Rees and Mrs. Watson, 6-1, 6-4, to enter the quarter finals mixed doubles.

Miss Ryan and Betty Nuthall entered the semi-finals of the women's doubles by besting Miss Sterry and Joan Fry, 6-2, 6-1.

The scheduled match between Joan Ridley, young English star, and Mrs. Beamish, who is 21 years her senior, was postponed when rain fell late this afternoon. It will be played on the center court tomorrow, where Mrs. Beamish won her first Wimbledon championship 24 years ago.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 2.—The pari-mutuel system of betting was operating for the first time on an English race track today when the totalizator paid off bets at the Newmarket track. The machine got off to a good start in the first race and paid 40 to 1 to win against the bookies' 33, 4½ to place against the bookies' 3.

SEEK N. A. A. U. TITLES

Harold Osborne, who set a world mark of 6 feet 8¼ inches in the high jump, will carry the colors of the I. A. C. in the National A. A. U. track meet which opens today at Denver.

Ray Conger, also of the I. A. C., won the 1,500 meter championship in last year's meet. He will compete in the mile.

Injury May Keep Simpson Out of Meet

Denver, Colo., July 2.—(AP)—George Simpson, Ohio State sprinter and holder of the unofficial world's record of 9.4 for the 100 yard dash, pulled a tendon in his right leg during a practice trial at the Denver university stadium this afternoon. His coach, Frank Castleman, said the sprinter probably would be withdrawn from the dash event of the senior National A. A. U. track and field championships Thursday.

Simpson's injury is a recurrence of that which he received in the N. C. A. A. meet at Chicago. Today's workout was the first he has had since the Chicago meet. The Ohio State meteor came here to defend his title as the "world's fastest human" in an all star century event.

Dash Features Meet.

The 100 yard dash, advertised as the "century of the century" because it includes the name of almost every American sprinter who has broken or equaled the accepted mark of 9.6 seconds this year, will be the foremost event of the senior championships to be held in the University of Denver stadium July 4.

Charley Paddock, who will be one of the contestants, selects Frank Wykoff of Glendale, Cal., as likely winner. Paddock's argument is that Wykoff will be at the peak of physical fitness for this one race, and that Eddie Tolan and Claude Bracey were brought to top form for other meets, making it difficult for them to repeat.

"Wykoff is in perfect condition right now," said Paddock. "Every bit as good as when he won the Olympic tryout finals at Philadelphia and beat practically the same field he will run against Thursday. Tolan, who has a tremendous finish, looks second best to me, with Bracey third."

Hold Junior Events Today.

Tolan, who holds the distinction of running the 100 yard dash in 9.5 seconds twice within a week this spring, feels very much at home in Denver. The University of Michigan's Negro star was born here 20 years ago. He has been working out for several days and says he is ready for and expects to run the fastest race of his career.

The junior championships, the first of the three act athletic drama, will open the meet tomorrow afternoon, and the finals will be held Friday, with the decathlon and relays occupying the spotlight.

N. Y. RING CHIEFS ORDER SCHMELING TO FIGHT SCOTT

New York, July 2.—(AP)—The New York state athletic commission today told Max Schmeling through his accepted adviser, Joe Jacobs, that he must go through with a match with the English heavyweight, Phil Scott, which has been tentatively set for Aug. 7 at Ebbets field. Arrangements for the bout were made by Arthur Buelow, Schmeling's rejected German manager.

As Schmeling has refused to appear in any match which Buelow had a hand in arranging, another impasse in the troubled managerial affairs of the "German Dempsey" appeared to have been reached.

What effect the latest development will have upon the Madison Square Garden corporation's plans for matching Schmeling and Jack Sharkey in September also was a subject of conjecture.

Jake Atz Resigns Fort Worth Club Managership

Fort Worth, Tex., July 2.—(AP)—Jake Atz, for many years one of the most successful managers in the Texas league, today relinquished the managership of the Fort Worth baseball club.

Atz, a former White Sox player, said he would like to receive an offer to manage the Sox.

$403,000 BET ON ARLINGTON PARK OPENING RACES

The pari-mutuel betting handle for the opening day at Arlington Park was $403,000. It was estimated another $75,000 was shut out by the prompt closing of the mutuels. The betting stops exactly at post time, regardless of the position of the horses on the track.

The Jockey club made an instantaneous hit by posting the exact number of tickets and the amount of money bet on each horse in each race. The books for each race straight, place, and show figured exactly 6½ per cent, which is the amount allowed by the state racing law.

CANOEISTS BUCK STIFF WINDS AND REACH NEWAYGO

Scouts Study Bird Life Along Muskegon.

BY BOB BECKER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Newaygo, Mich., July 2.—Fighting a stiff northwest wind which pushed them back one foot every time they paddled two feet, the Chicago Boy Scouts who are conquering the Muskegon river are ready to tell the world tonight that they know something about canoeing.

When the boys pulled in at their camp site above this town after bucking the white caps for several hours the cry went up, "Who ordered this wind anyway?" And the echo came back "When do we eat?" With the program calling for no lunch until they had covered the distance from last night's camp above Croton to this location above Newaygo the boys were ready for rest, food, and a little lotion on sunburned shoulders.

Portage Around Dam.

Considerable energy was expended by the scouts even before they began to push the river around this morning because they had to make a difficult portage around the Croton dam right after breaking camp. Canoes, paddles, and packs were toted over a stony, hilly trail—a fine setting up exercise for these 16 year old youngsters who are on their way to the shore of Lake Michigan as TRIBUNE canoe cruisers.

A bird study class was opened up this morning while the expedition was breaking camp. The boys are taking a keen interest in identifying the different song and water birds which inhabit this region. When a pair of wax wings, a scarlet tanager, a pair of orioles, and two wrens were seen in the trees around the camp site the class enrolled several new students.

Coming down the river today the bank swallow was the focus of interest. Eight colonies were seen in the high sandy banks which look down upon the river. How these birds excavate deep holes in banks and then build their nests at the ends of the tunnels was explained to the boys.

Take Turns at Dishes.

Along with the training in how to select a camp site, how to pitch a tent, build a fire, and other interesting outdoor tricks, the scouts are getting some fine training in the important art of dish washing, because every boy has to take his turn at bathing the dishes for the whole camp.

Opportunities for learning this phase of campcraft are passed around. A different squad performs each day. So far Harry Grossen has won all honors, not because of the polish he puts on the dishes, but because he got up at 5:30 a. m. to start work. To see any member of this expedition willing to start work that early was such an extraordinary thing that the officers immediately awarded Grossen high honors in the order of kitchen police.

The canot cruisers will start toward the city of Muskegon tomorrow morning. Another portage will open up the day's program, as a big dam has to be negotiated. The Newaygo chamber of commerce and scout council have offered to assist the expedition in the portaging job.

Although this hospitable act was cheered by the scouts, a delegation is being formed by the boys to ask local authorities for a much more important concession, that of having the wind blow from the east instead of the west all day tomorrow because the boys say they have fought enough breeze for a couple of days.

WESTLAND WINS FRENCH AMATEUR GOLF CROWN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, July 2.—Jack Westland, Chicago district amateur champion in 1927 and runnerup for the national intercollegiate title two years before, romped home today in the French amateur golf championship at Chantilly. He beat J. S. Fletcher, the young Englishman, 6 and 5, in the scheduled 36 hole match.

Al Friedman Knocks Out Madey in 5th

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

Al Friedman, Boston heavyweight, knocked out Walter Madey of Chicago in the fifth round of the windup of Promoter Mique Malloy's boxing show at the White City open air arena last night. A right to the stomach terminated the fight after one minute and forty-three seconds of the round.

The show, according to the boxing commission report, attracted fewer than 1,000. The receipts were $2,000.

Steps in with Right.

Until Friedman shot his right to Madey's stomach, honors were about even. There was considerable infighting but neither was able to get set to land a hard punch. In the fifth as they broke from a clinch Friedman stepped in with a right just above the belt. Madey fell and was counted out. The local fighter made no effort to get up. Friedman weighed 185 pounds and Madey, 184 pounds.

Mitz Minikel of Milwaukee was given the decision over Jack Lee of California in the six round semi-windup. They met in the heavyweight division. Jack McGrath, the University of Notre Dame heavyweight, received the six round decision over Walter Radka of Bloomington, Ill., and Al Klein of Cleveland won the decision over Bobby O'Hara of Georgia in the other six rounder. They met at 151 pounds.

Hammer Wins Decision.

In the opening bout Lester Quillen of Grand Rapids defeated Pete Serella of the south side in four rounds. In the other four rounder, Bud Hammer of Gary, Ind., a TRIBUNE golden gloves winner, was given the decision over Bobby Haynes of Decatur, Ill.

Home Town Folks Roar Welcome to Champion Bobby

Atlanta, Ga., July 2.—(AP)—Bobby Jones came home from the golfing wars today to receive the customary roaring welcome from several hundred of the hometown folks who were just as excited about it as if they hadn't been whooping things up for Bobby for the last eight or nine years.

As usual, Bobby was laden with silverware. He brought back for the third time the huge chalice emblematic of the open championship of the United States Golf association, which he won at Winged Foot last week.

Today's greeting was different from the Jones homecoming parties of the past. There was no band and no parade and no nonstop flights of oratory.

RESORT FOLKS SEEK TO STOP SPEED BOATS

Burlington, Wis., July 2.—[Special.]—A petition, addressed to Gov. Walter J. Kohler, and signed by a majority of property owners on Brown's lake, praying for the immediate closing of the lake to all forms of motorboat racing, was on its way today to the state capitol. The document was the latest offensive move in the battle between lake residents and the Brown's Lake Boating association as to whether fishermen or race boat owners should have sole use of the waters.

The petition asserted that, following the second annual outboard races here Sunday, sponsored by the Wisconsin Boating association, hundreds of game fish were found floating on the lake, and asked the state conservation commission to take action. Many property owners, anxious to advertise their grievances, have nailed For Sale signs on their cottages.

Biff Jones Starts West to Discuss Stanford Game

New York, July 2.—(AP)—Biff Jones, head football coach at West Point, left today for the Pacific coast to discuss the coming Stanford-Army game with Glenn S. Warner, coach at Stanford. The game is scheduled to be played Dec. 28 at Palo Alto. Coach Jones will be joined in Chicago by Maj. Philip Fleming, director of athletics at West Point.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Gabby Hartnett, the invalid, put drama into the Cub lineup yesterday. As a pinchhitter in an apparently hopeless ninth he tripled his league leading mates into a 4 to 4 tie with the Reds. Then the Cubs settled down to the business of winning what they previously had thrown away by blunders. And they accomplished their purpose in eleven heated rounds during which the principals resorted to the time honored practice of spiking and 15,000 customers regretted there were no pop bottles to toss. The score was 5 to 4.

Before Hartnett came out of the shadow of the dugout in the ninth the Cubs had done nothing to warrant their high station in baseball life. Except in the third when two runs were driven home against Eppa Jeptha Rixey, the drooping southpaw, McCarthy's sluggers had been unable to function. Murderers' row was a myth so far as Eppa was concerned. But even those two tallies would have won for Charley Root if his mates hadn't mutinied in the field.

Reds Resort to Force.

Having a decision snatched from under their nose apparently nettled the Reds, for whom wins have been scarce this year. They resented the manner in which Stephenson, the ol' hoss of Alabama, slid into second base in the tenth when he broke up a double play. Stephie, of course, still gets his football mixed with his baseball, but his slide appeared perfectly legitimate. It put Crits out of the game, however, with a bump on the leg and then the fun began.

In the eleventh the Reds resorted to everything the law allowed and some things that exceeded it. They had to wait until the eleventh because Guy Bush, who was hurried into the battle in the tenth, didn't permit a man to smack a ground ball and make a play at first base possible in this session.

With the opening of the Reds' eleventh Walker slapped a ball to Hornsby and the Rajah tossed to Grimm. Although out by feet Walker raised his spikes and went into the bag on the wrong side. Grimm was quick enough to jump and avoid more than a spill. Kelly then grounded to Grimm. He too was out with room to spare but he went in as did Walker. His clumsy effort was easily avoided by Grimm.

Stripp Caught off Base.

Then up came Pittenger who had taken Crits's place at second. Bush was a bit irritated at the reckless fashion in which spikes were being tossed at Grimm so he retaliated by tossing a beaner at Pittenger's head. The batter picked up the ball and threw it into right field. It is an unwritten law among umpires that practices such as this reflect on the dignity of the profession so Ump Jorda ordered Pittenger to remove himself from public gaze. The Reds protested but Pittinger disappeared nevertheless.

A fellow named Stripp was sent forth to finish Pittenger's time at bat. Being an ambitious minor leaguer Stripp endeavored to carry out the scheme of cutting somebody. He laid down a bunt along the first base line, this being the customary fashion in which to carry out a plan such as the Reds had in mind. But the ball rolled foul. Schulte, who was catching for the Cubs at the time, followed the batter down the base lines and to all appearances was prepared to retaliate if anything happened. Stripp finally walked and Bush threw a half dozen balls to first base to catch him. The last throw succeeded, but instead of dying gamely, Stripp reds back, spikes flying, into first base. Grimm was too agile to be nicked.

MORSEL OUTRUNS JUVENILE STARS IN ENVOY PURSE

Jimmy Moran 2d; Caruso Far Back.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Morsel, the black son of Vulcan-Sweet Bun, carried the silks of the Le Mar Farm stable of Kentucky to victory in the 5 furlongs Envoy Purse at Arlington Park yesterday. It qualified him impressively for the $10,000 Post and Paddock handicap to be run on Saturday when the western 2 year old championship may be decided.

And while Morsel rolled up his third straight victory the star of temperamental Caruso, the eastern hero of W. R. Coe's stable, was dimmed. When Caruso won three straight races at Washington Park he was regarded as a possible champion. But when he ran unplaced in the battle yesterday and displayed his usual bad post behavior he dropped out of the title class.

Caruso Gets Poor Start.

Caruso had his alibi, for he was away very badly, but despite this he made up no ground and never at any stage showed the speed that marked his earlier performances in Chicago.

The second program of Arlington's season was run off under almost ideal conditions and before a crowd of 10,000. The track had improved until it was fast in midafternoon. The finishes for the most part were close and the well played choices won enough races to keep the form players in a hilarious mood throughout the session.

In the running of the Envoy, which came after Caruso had broken through the barrier and threatened to run away, Phillip, a son of Peter Pan, which was a recent arrival from Canada, stepped out into a commanding lead with Morsel second, and Wild Mint third. Maudlin, which ran coupled with Caruso, also was away slowly and had no chance from the beginning.

Morsel Catches Phillip.

Phillip continued to make the pace until they were straightened out for the run down the stretch. Morsel pulled up alongside him and in an instant had rushed to the front. It was all over but the shouting. Morsel went on to win by a length but was running easily at the finish with Jimmy Moran coming along in time to be second. A little better riding in the earlier stages and Jimmy Moran might have been a keen factor. Wild Mint saved third money.

Morsel ran the 5 furlongs in 1:02 and in the mutuels paid $8.14 to win.

The Morello purse engaging six 3 year olds at a mile and run over the inner course brought an easy victory for Paul Bunyan after he had been in front most of the way.

Neal Thrills Backers.

The best riding exhibition Jockey P. Neal has given in his brilliant Chicago campaign came in the mile and a furlong sixth race. From the head of the stretch, Tamina with Neal in the saddle and Marlboro, ridden by the veteran star Eddie Barnes, raced head and head. First one was in front an inch and then the other.

Tamina was on the inside and after losing the lead momentarily 20 strides from home, she rallied under Neal's hard ride and got up in the last jump to win by not more than a couple of inches. Neal got the biggest ovation of his Chicago stay when he came back to the scales, for Tamina had been heavily played and paid $6.14 in the mutuels.

Earl Sande won a purse with his sprinter Spectre in the third race. The daughter of Bid Lerner was a long shot in the betting, paying $18.66 but she lead most of the way and won handily from Cash Play with Sambo G third.

This polish does not leave an oily surface to collect dust

MANY polishes do and a few minutes after the car is shined it looks as bad as it did before. But Whiz Polish for Duco and Lacquer protects the finish of your car . . . contains waterproof wax just for that purpose . . . and does not contain so much oil that it gathers dust.

Road film, dust, spots and smears quickly vanish when you use Whiz Polish for Duco and Lacquer. The high luster it produces is not only beautiful, but also acts as a protecting film for the finish of your car. Ask your dealer about Whiz Polish for Duco and Lacquer.

Cleveland, O., July 2.—[Special.]—The struggling White Sox had a twin bill in their grasp here today, but when the smoke of battle cleared it was Cleveland, and not Chicago, that had recorded a pair of victories. The tribe was forced to go extra innings in both tilts, winning the opener, 4 to 3, in ten innings, and the nightcap, 5 to 4, in eleven.

Chicago Misses Chance.

Al Thomas, Chicago star and the tribe's pet jinx, had the first contest sewed up until the ninth, when Myatt singled and came in with the tying run on Porter's triple to the bleachers. The Indians then won it in the tenth, when Jamieson beat out a swinging bunt, went to second when J. Sewell walked, and scored when Averill singled.

An error by Averill on Metzler's fly in the ninth frame of the second game gave Chicago an opportunity to win that was made void by poor coaching. Watwood singled, sending Metzler to third. Tritt then batted for Kerr and doubled to right center, scoring Metzler with the tying run. Watwood also tried to score and was nailed at the plate.

Gardner Scores Winning Run.

Both teams went scoreless in the tenth and Chicago was retired without a run in the eleventh. Fonseca, first up for the Indians, tripled. Metzler got one hand on the ball, but was running with his back to the plate and could not hold it. With the infield playing in, Cissell tossed out Morgan, holding Fonseca on third. Gardner then pounded one through the box that Cissell fielded and tried to nail Fonseca at the plate. The throw was a little wide and the Cleveland first baseman tallied the winning counter.

FOXX' 3 BLOWS GIVE HIM .417 IN BIG 6 RATING

Jimmy Foxx batted just .500 yesterday as the Athletics did their daily dozen to the Senators at Shibe park, and by this gesture raised his batting figure to .417, for the highest in the big six. Foxx got three out of six, including a home run which decided the second game in favor of Philadelphia in the ninth. Rogers Hornsby gained a point with two out of five against the Reds, and Lou Gehrig moved up to fifth place by pounding out two hits in three official attempts against Ed Morris of the Red Sox. A's Shake Losing Jinx to Beat Senators Twice, 7-4 and 4-1

Philadelphia, Pa., July 2.—(AP)—Jimmy Foxx' fifteenth home run of the season with two on base in the ninth inning of the second game today gave the Athletics a twin victory over Washington. The scores were 7 to 4 and 4 to 1. Boley, whose double and single drove in four runs in the opening engagement, gave Rube Walberg valiant aid in turning in his eleventh victory of the season. The second game was a pitching tussle between Sad Sam Jones and George Earnshaw, former Oriole star. In the ninth of the nightcap Haas led off with a single. Cochrane sacrificed and Simmons was passed. That strategy went for naught when Foxx hit a homer. Scores:

Pirates Whip Cards, 5-3, in Series Opener

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 2.—(AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals lost their sixth straight game today as Pittsburgh took the inaugural of a series, 5 to 3. Ervin Brame, on the mound for the Pirates, gave the Cards ten hits, one more than the Buccaneers gathered. Three fast double plays in which George Grantham figured aided Brame considerably.

FAVORITES EASY VICTORS IN U. S. CLAY COURT PLAY

Fifteen of the 16 seeded players were winners, taking their matches in consecutive sets in all but one instance. In that, Walter Martin, Toronto, Ont., defaulted.

The near defeat of Ben Gorchakoff, Los Angeles intercollegiate star, by D. K. Murray Jr. of New Orleans was the closest thing to an upset. Gorchakoff, beaten in the first set 6-3, and trailing in the second by four games to two, rallied brilliantly to eliminate the southerner. Superior stamina and a final burst of speed gave the western youth a 6-4 second set and the third and final set, 7-5.

Berkeley Bell, who won the national intercollegiate singles championship last Saturday, was given a hard workout by Charles W. Barnes of St. Louis, Mo. The Texas won by 6-2, 6-4.

Tamio Abe, Japanese Davis cup star, and seeded No. 1, was an easy victor over Lawrence Umphrey of Indianapolis, 6-1, 6-2. Fritz Mercur, Bethlehem, Pa., seventh national ranking player last year; Harris Coggeshall, Des Moines; Wray Brown, St. Louis; Emmett Pare, Chicago; Dr. Arthur Ham, Toronto, Ont.; Julius Seligson, New York City; and Kirk Reid, Cleveland, outstanding players in the tournament, were among the 32 survivors.

In the Wake of the News

BOBBY JONES.

BOBBY JONES, always a great medal player, became national open champion for the third time. He is the only player in recent golf history to have achieved this feat—but it is not a record. Back in the early years of the century, when the fields were not as large as now, Willie Anderson won four times—1901, 1903, 1904, 1905.

Jones, however, stands as the world's greatest player of this decade, both because of his triumphs in open competition and his match play in the national amateur. Therefore we all salute Mr. Jones of Atlanta, an amateur, and marvel that he can perform in such fashion against the best professionals not only in this country but also of Great Britain, where he won the British open in 1926 and 1927.

There also is another side to the picture. The American national open title, if won by a professional, is estimated to be worth about $50,000 in exhibition tours, testimonials for various equipment and other by-products. Possibly that estimate is too high. Certainly $25,000 is conservative. Obviously, if Mr. Jones, the amateur, wins the title, a pro does not have opportunity to earn said $25,000 or $50,000. We do not imagine being open champion ruins Mr. Jones' law practice nor does it hurt the sale of his syndicated articles, but he cannot cash in on it otherwise.

The Wake has heard rumors that various pros are complaining of "Too much Jones" purely from a commercial viewpoint. We do not think these whispered plaints will cause any change in conditions for an event sponsored by the U. S. G. A. The remedy, of course, is for some pro to play better golf than Mr. Jones. But who can blame them for thinking of the $25,000 or $50,000 they do not get and an amateur cannot take.

Duty and Duty.

The Wake on Monday felt a duty to improve the breed of thoroughbreds at Arlington Park's opening under new management. We also needed a piece of information which possibly might be obtained by sauntering through the loop. Rising hour of a newspaper man does not permit a saunter through the loop and visit to a race track. Perhaps the information would keep, while Arlington couldn't open but once. The first chap we met at the track was the only man in Chicago who could supply the information we needed. It's often that way at a race track. We need another piece of information today.

Helper "Little Joe" calls our attention to a newspaper headline, "New Equipment in Senate Will Reduce Hot Air," and questions the propriety of its publication while Vice President Curtis is a Chicago visitor. S-a-y-e, Mr. Curtis will welcome the reduction as much or more than any one else.

4 HORSEMEN BEAT FT. SHERIDAN FOR 12 GOAL TITLE

Corpening Leads in 17-10 Victory.

Matching a six goal handicap with superior horse flesh and unusually good playing, the crack Four Horsemen polo team, representing Oak Brook, yesterday vanquished Fort Sheridan in the final of the Chicago twelve goal handicap tournament, winning 17 to 10.

More than a ripple of excitement was caused early in the third chukker of the championship battle when the mount ridden by Capt. J. S. Rodwell, No. 3 for Fort Sheridan, became unruly and cleared a fence near the pavilion of the Onwentsia polo field. Outside of the playing enclosure where the horse had landed were seated Mrs. Paul Butler, Mrs. Harold Strotz, Mrs. R. R. McCormick, Maj. and Mrs. Frederic McLaughlin and William Mitchell Blair, one of the officials of the final battle. No one was injured.

The lineup and summary of yesterday's championship final:

FOUR HORSEMEN [17].		FORT SHERIDAN [10].
Strotz	No. 1	Lieut. Smith
Corpening	No. 2	Lieut. Reed
Butler	No. 3	Capt. Rodwell
Crites	Back	Capt. Haselrigg

Score by chukkers:

Oak Brook	2	4	1	2—9
Fort Sheridan	1	2	0	1—4

Goals—Corpening [7], Strotz [6], Butler [3], Smith [3], Reed, Crites. Time of chukkers—7½ minutes each. Officials—Referee, Barney Balding and Carl Crawford; umpire, William Mitchell Blair.

With Capt. Herbert Lorber leading the attack by scoring four times from the field, North Shore's polo representatives got away to a flying start yesterday in the current Chicago six goal handicap tournament by defeating the 124th field artillery in a first round match, 7 to 4. North Shore took the lead early, never to be headed. Play was at North Shore.

Myers, Ripple Finish Work; Box Tomorrow

Spug Myers of Pocatello, Idaho and Rex Ripple of St. Louis, who meet in the main event of Promoter Jack Art's boxing show at the Mills' stadium tomorrow night, came through their final workouts without injury to their hands or cuts about the face. Each boxed six rounds with their sparring partners.

Haakon Hansen, Norwegian middleweight, and Johnny Burns of California will meet in the main event of the show at the Logan Square arena on Monday night.

Sammy Mandell, who will defend his world's lightweight title against Tony Canzoneri of New York at the Chicago Stadium on Aug. 2, may establish his training camp in the forest preserve. The board of commissioners of Cook county have offered Manager Eddie Kane many available locations which include cottages for the fighter, his manager and trainer. The commissioners have made Canzoneri a similar offer.

Matchmaker Nate Lewis is planning the supporting card which he hopes to complete before the end of the week. Ray Miller, west side left hook artist, has been signed for the semi-windup and Lewis is trying to secure a suitable opponent.

"LION OF JAPAN," A POOR MAN, SETS UP NEW CABINET

Tanaka Quits Over Killing of Chang Tso-lin.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, July 2.—A new Japanese cabinet, headed by Yuko Hamaguchi, leader of the Minseito party, was installed tonight at the imperial palace.

The new ministry succeeds that of Baron Tanaka of the Seiyukai party, which handed its resignation to the emperor this morning as a result of criticism over the assassination last year of Marshal Chang Tso-lin, Manchurian war lord, and over the wording of the Kellogg anti-war pact.

Immediately after receiving the resignation of Baron Tanaka's cabinet, the emperor summoned Prince Saionji. After an hour's conference with that aged and powerful statesman, Admiral Suzuki, grand chamberlain, hurried to the residence of Mr. Hamaguchi, and by 1 p. m. the latter was formally named premier of Japan.

Makeup of New Cabinet.

Kijuro Shidehara, minister of foreign affairs.

Junnosuke Inouye, minister of finance.

Gen. Isaei Ugaki, minister of war.

Kenzo Adachi, minister of home affairs.

Chuji Machida, agriculture and forestry.

Genji Matsuda, overseas affairs.

Viscount Chifuyu Watanase, justice.

Iihita Kobashi, education.

Matajiro Koizumi, communications.

Maggichi Tawara, commerce and industry.

Yoku Egi, railways.

Premier Self Made Man.

Mr. Hamaguchi is a self made politician like Baron Tanaka, and a poor man's son. He is not wealthy, but has a forceful personality. He has simple tastes and lives frugally. Because of his shaggy hair, eyebrows and mustache and his stentorian voice, he is known popularly as "the lion."

The policies of the new government actually will be little different from those of the Tanaka régime, it is generally thought, although probably the appointment of Baron Shidehara as foreign minister would make possible even greater than before the willingness of Japan for arms limitation.

Baron Shidehara was a delegate to the Washington arms conference and former ambassador to the United States.

All business, commercial, and banking interests receive Mr. Hamaguchi joyfully, as his financial policy is somewhat more conservative than that of Baron Tanaka. Junnosuke Inouye, the new finance minister, is former governor of the Bank of Japan and the nation's ablest financier, and he is expected to inaugurate a policy of drastic retrenchment. He said today that he hoped to remove the gold embargo within a reasonable time, but that immediate action was impossible.

Hunts Children for Hours; Finds Them at Home in Bed

Mrs. Mary Pazak, 2120 North Lincoln street, returned home yesterday morning exhausted after walking the streets for hours searching for her three children. The three, Walter, 13 years old; John, 11, and Violet, 6, were fast asleep in bed. They had spent their carfare at Riverview park and had to walk home.

TEACHERS HEAR PLEAS AGAINST R. O. T. C. CAMPS

Group Connected with Labor Meets Here.

Such subjects as abolishment of reserve officers' training camps, reduction of armament, observance of a national peace day, Negro equality, and kindred matters interested members of the American Federation of Teachers, who assembled in convention here yesterday. There was also some discussion of school problems.

The convention listened to a talk by John Fitzpatrick, president of the Chicago Federation of Labor; an address of welcome by President Caldwell of the Chicago board of education, and several speeches, including that of Dr. Abraham Lefkowitz, legislative representative of the New York Teachers' union.

Several Groups Represented.

The delegates met at the Congress hotel and several groups of the Chicago school teachers were represented. James A. Meade, president of the Chicago Federation of Men Teachers, and Mrs. Lucy Schacht, president of the Chicago Federation of Women High School teachers, were among the speakers. The largest of the Chicago groups, the Teachers federation, is not affiliated with the organization, which has a membership in the American Federation of Labor.

"Education in the future will be carried on by radio," said Mr. Fitzpatrick. "Radio will do away with the newspaper, telegraph, telephone, the school room and the board of education."

Applaud Fight on R. O. T. C.

Dr. Lefkowitz told of several fights his union, local No. 5, had won from the New York board of education and what the union had accomplished in the legislature. He drew mild applause when he said his union had prevented the establishment of R. O. T. C. in New York high schools.

Resolutions were presented, to be voted on later in the convention, as follows:

Urging observance of May 19 at Peace Day in all schools.

Advocating a government pension for teachers.

There was also a resolution in favor of citizenship fore Mme. Rozika Schwimmer.

MOVE FURNITURE UNDER GUARD AS 2 UNIONS CLASH

A clash between two labor organizations yesterday resulted in moving the household furniture of J. M. Hopkins, attorney, from Chicago to Lake Forest under a heavy police guard. Mr. Hopkins, who is connected with Winston, Strawn & Shaw, is the son of J. M. Hopkins, wealthy head of a railway supplies company. Recently he arranged to move from his apartment at 20 Cedar street to 450 Wisconsin street, Lake Forest.

Yesterday as the movers, Lake Forest union men employed by the Davis Moving company, were leaving the Cedar street apartment with a loaded truck two armed men appeared, representing themselves as agents of the "Chicago Furniture Men's association," and informed the Davis men that "Chicago movers must do this job." The Davis men unloaded their truck and returned to Lake Forest.

Informed by Mr. Hopkins that they were within their legal rights in moving his goods, they again set out for Chicago, only to be halted on the Waukegan road by three armed men who wanted them not to move. They proceeded under police escort, and moved the furniture under guard.

PAULINE KAPSA, CHICAGO DOCTOR 20 YEARS, IS DEAD

Dr. Pauline Rose Kapsa, who had practiced medicine twenty years in a loop office, died yesterday at the Belmont hospital of pneumonia. She was 42 years old and unmarried.

With an office at 31 North State street, she acquired a large practice, particularly in obstetrics. She was a member of the staff of the Mary Thompson Lying-In hospital, and a member of the staff and board of directors of the Belmont hospital. She also held a fellowship in the American Medical association.

MORALS SLEUTH IS ARRESTED AS GIRLS' ATTACKER

Boston, Mass., July 2.—[Special.]—With the arrest at Newport News tonight of Joseph A. Farrell, moralist detective for the Watch and Ward society, the authorities say they have got the man who attacked a Cambridge school teacher and a Back Bay young woman. Two other young women have identified pictures of Farrell as the man who attacked them. He was taken off a ship bound for Porto Rico.

Farrell was engaged by the late J. Frank Chase, head of the Watch and Ward society, which has prosecuted many things it has considered immoral, from books and magazines to night clubs and houses of ill fame. Farrell at one time was a witness against a night club and he testified that he considered the place improper because he was shocked by the dancing.

This same Farrell, the police say, beat two young women brutally, because they did not construe an automobile ride as he wished.

PARIS HOSPITAL IS LEFT $15,000 BY HERRICK

Cleveland, O., July 2.—(AP)—The American hospital in Paris and the Herrick public library at Wellington, Ohio, were left a total of $85,000 by the late Ambassador Myron T. Herrick, according to the terms of his will filed in Probate court today.

The American hospital will receive a $15,000 endowment fund and the Wellington library, established during Mr. Herrick's life time as a memorial to his father and mother, is willed $70,000. Of the library bequest, $50,000 will be used to construct a new wing for a children's library and $20,000 is to be used as the library trustees deem advisable.

The will requested that a suitable tablet be erected on the exterior of building to recall that it was the site of the slave rescue in 1858 which resulted in the famous Oberlin-Wellington rescue case.

It also asked that a tablet be installed in the main library as a memorial to the ambassador's mother and father, and another in the new wing as a memorial to his grandson, the late Myron Timothy Herrick, II.

After one other specific bequest, $5,000 to Mary Herrick Smith, a sister, the residue of the estate was left to the stateman's son, Parmely W. Herrick. The total gross value of the estate was estimated at $1,200,000, while the net value after all charges is set at $750,000. Parmely Herrick was named sole executor.

Ambassador Herrick, who also served as governor of Ohio, died at his post at Paris last March 31.

CHICAGO BANKS ENTRENCHED IN GOOD POSITION

BY O. A. MATHER.

Efforts of the federal reserve authorities and the banks to check stock market speculation in the last three months and the effects of their "tight money" policy are reflected in reports on condition made by the Chicago banks yesterday. Calls for statements of condition as of June 29 were issued by the controller of the currency and the Illinois state auditor. The last previous reports were made as of March 27 when speculation was at its height and just a week after the volume of credit devoted to speculation reached its peak. Then the federal reserve authorities demanded that stock market credit be restricted, money rates began to work upward and trading in securities slowed down.

Able to Make Showing.

As a result of these circumstances, the previous trend of sharply expanding bank loans and declining deposits has been reversed and the Chicago banks are in stronger position than three months ago. However, they have not entirely offset the results of the great stock market boom last year. Besides the slowing down in speculation, another factor that has helped the banks in the last three months is the decline in new security offerings, and liquidation of "frozen" offerings. This also has lightened the credit burden of the banks.

There is no doubt that the heavy calling of stock market loans last week, which resulted in 10 to 15 per cent call money, was for the purpose of enabling the banks of the country to make a good showing in the anticipated calls for reports. Banks outside of New York in particular made heavy withdrawals.

So the combined statements for all Chicago banks show that loans and discounts have declined $49,021,000 in the last three months, while total deposits have increased $29,432,000 and cash resources have gained $65,418,000. In the preceding three months, loans and discounts increased $17,364,000, while total deposits dropped $192,372,000, and cash resources receded $133,438,000.

Savings Deposits Gain.

Small speculators appear to have sobered up, as evidenced by a gain of $18,306,000 in savings deposits, whereas in the preceding three months there was a decline of $13,420,000.

But the present figures and those of a year ago reveal something of a carry-over from the orgy of speculation. Loans and discounts now stand $67,094,000 above a year ago and total deposits are $44,721,000 lower. However, cash resources have increased $16,554,000 and savings deposits are $12,800,000 higher.

The value of comparisons between the respective figures of the national and state banks is impaired by several recent consolidations. However, the national banks show an increase

Capital's Duty to Labor Is Seen Widened

BY SCRUTATOR.

Responsibilities which a corporation must assume for the welfare of its employés have been carried in recent months, by governmental agencies engaged in the regulation of the railroads, to a point further along than the individualistic founders of the republic would have dreamed possible.

An arbitration board appointed by President Hoover has found that the Texas and Pacific had no right to move its terminals from one town to another without paying a part of the loss on real estate owned by the employés forced to move or give up their jobs. This in the face of the fact that the railroad contended it was under no legal or contractual obligation to its property owning workers, and that legal precedent was against such loss paying by the corporation.

The board admitted the contentions, but pointed out that each case should be handled individually. One of the towns from which a terminal was to be moved had a population of less than 7,000, and it was estimated that 15 per cent of these would have to go to the new town. Such an exodus would act to depress the property values, and the board held that the loss sustained should be shared equally by the owner and the railroad company.

Reserve Benefits.

To settle the details it was suggested that there be conferences and, if no agreement could be reached by the interested parties, a special arbitration board should be appointed to make decisions. The benefits of the recommendations were reserved to the engineers, firemen, brakemen, conductors and baggagemen compelled to move. They were not to apply to workers dismissed or leaving the railroad's service.

It is perhaps significant of the trend of public opinion that four states have adopted specific laws limiting the power of railroads in moving terminals or shops. Texas, which pioneered in this respect in 1889, added to its law in 1915 and now no road in the state can change its offices, terminals or shops without the consent of the state railroad commission. Oklahoma's legislation, dating to 1917, prohibits the change in shops or division points without similar authority.

Wisconsin in 1925 passed a law that requires all railroads to obtain from the railroad commission permission to move if the removal is to cost the road more than $50,000.

Must Give Notice.

Montana has legislation making any railroad moving a terminal or division point responsible for property loss occasioned to any employé unless the latter is given a written notice six months in advance of the removal. Canada has laws for compensation and also to prohibit moving of terminals without official approval.

At least three railroads, the Erie, the Kansas City Southern, and the Union Pacific, have recognized the needs and the moral rights of their workers in such cases and paid compensation to them. The roads seemingly have an enlightened view, but object to an approach to a system that would make them legally responsible or give commissioners the right to coerce them.

So far the amounts needed for such payments have not been, comparatively, large. But if the system of consolidation of all the roads should go into effect many millions might have to be expended by the roads.

UPPER AVENUE BANK OPENS ITS DOORS TO PUBLIC

The Upper Avenue bank, located in the Palmolive building, 919 North Michigan avenue, officially opened its doors yesterday to the public. The new institution is designed to serve the rapidly growing upper Michigan avenue business and residential area.

Eugene I. Burke, president; Henry C. Murphy, vice president, and Edward C. Schumann, cashier, formed a reception committee to show visitors and depositors through the establishment. Among the first to visit the new bank and congratulate Mr. Burke were Lawrence Whiting, president of the Boulevard Bridge bank, and President William S. Kline of the Lake Shore Trust and Savings bank.

Joseph P. Rend, president of W. P. Rend & Co., a director, brought in the first depositor in the person of Dorothy Rend, his niece. Mr. Rend, who is a brother-in-law of Charles Mitchell, chairman of the board of the National City Bank of New York, last February presented the proposal for the Upper Avenue bank to a group of business men and friends in the belief that the upper Michigan section was growing so rapidly that it merited its own banking facilities.

Wheat Makes Quick Change from Bear to Bull Market

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

One of the most striking and sudden changes in wheat crop prospects ever recorded in the United States has developed within the last thirty days. At the beginning of June winter wheat crop prospects were estimated at the depressing figure of 632,000,000 bu by Chicago experts, and the government returns a little later were for 622,000,000 bu.

Yesterday these same experts issued crop reports of a more bullish nature that averaged 601,000,000 bu or a loss of 31,000,000 bu inside of 30 days. The Kansas crop that was estimated at over 170,000,000 bu by men in the southwest has been cut down to around 140,000,000 while other southwestern states have also suffered reductions due to too much wet weather at a critical period.

Moisture Lacking.

Present prospects in the American northwest are for a spring wheat crop of around 80,000,000 bu less than a year ago, and Canada for more than 100,000,000 less than last year, or about 370,000,000 bu, while last year's record was 508,000,000 bu. Lack of moisture last fall has not been overcome so far this spring, and crop deterioration is reported for the last 30 days. Last year the United States raised 903,000,000 bu of all wheat. Present prospects are for around 50,000,000 bu short of last year, while western Canada estimates are for about 370,000,000 bu, which would suggest a loss of 133,000,000 from the 1928 harvest.

This change in conditions has brought about a reversal of sentiment in the wheat trade the world over, as there is drought and a decided reduction in acreage in Argentina, and a possible cut down in Australia, while European prospects are none too good.

At the end of May, prices were the lowest in recent years with May wheat down to 93¼c and July at 96c. Yesterday July in the Chicago market reached $1.18½ and closed at $1.17⅛, showing an advance of 22½c. September, which was up to $1.23¾, finished at $1.22⅞, while December, which was down to $1.05 at the end of May, touched $1.29 on yesterday's bulge, with the close $1.28⅝, an advance of 23⅝c.

Below Export Basis.

One of the peculiar features of yesterday's wheat market was that the northwestern interests led the buying and furnished the sensational crop reports, and at the same time wheat prices in Buenos Aires and Kansas City sold at the same price, $1.10⅜. Liverpool wheat prices have gained materially on Chicago but are below an export basis. Traders have bought wheat in Liverpool and sold American and Canadian markets for months, considering Liverpool prices too low.

SEARS-ROEBUCK, WARD CO. HANG UP SALES RECORDS

Both Sears, Roebuck & Co. and Montgomery Ward & Co., the country's two largest mail order and chain store concerns, hung up new sales records for June and for the first half year. Sales of Sears-Roebuck last month were $35,747,979, an increase of $10,078,860 or 39.3 per cent over June last year. Sales for the first half of this year totaled $192,728,711, a gain of $46,629,646 or 31.9 per cent over the same period in 1928.

Sales of Montgomery Ward last month were $21,953,639, an increase of $2,774,393 or 14.47 per cent over June of last year. Sales for the half year totaled $122,807,540, a gain of $26,239,625 or 27.17 per cent over the same period in 1928.

Sales of the Hartman corporation for the quarter ended June 30 were $6,168,935, an increase of $704,630 or 12.89 per cent over the same period last year. Sales for the half year totaled $9,609,424, a gain of $895,757 or 10.27 per cent over the same period in 1928. The company has forty-two stores in operation, with six others under lease to open early in August.

New York, July 2.—Wall street took time by the forelock today and set off its Fourth of July fireworks ahead of schedule. Stocks were skyrocketed all over the place—some fifty of them went sizzling up to new altitude records for the year. It was the biggest bull market in weeks.

A Diversified List of Sound Securities

For July Investment

LAWRENCE STERN AND COMPANY has prepared for its clients a list of suggestions for July investment, which calls attention to a number of attractive opportunities in the present securities market.

This list has been very carefully selected and affords a degree of diversification which we believe will make it possible for any conservative investor to choose the securities best suited to his requirements.

We wish particularly to emphasize the fact that high grade bonds are at this time obtainable at a price level which brings a very attractive yield. This present price level for bonds is, in the opinion of most observers, temporary; and bankers, public officials, and economists are in agreement in urging upon the investing public that the present is an especially favorable time to purchase bonds.

We suggest to those having funds available for July investment that they will find it worth while to send for and consider carefully this diversified list of July investment suggestions.

Through subsidiaries, controlled through ownership of more than 99% of all outstanding stocks, it also serves 62 communities in the States of Alabama, Missouri, North Dakota and in New Brunswick, Canada. The total population of the territories served by the system is approximately 331,000.

As a result of the present financing the Corporation will acquire, directly and through a wholly-owned subsidiary, all of the properties owned by the San Bois Gas Company and Quinton Spelter Company and all of the capital stock of the Quinton Relief Oil and Gas Company. These properties form a complete system for the production and sale of natural gas at wholesale and retail in the eastern portion of Oklahoma. Total sales of these properties for the twelve months ended on March 31, 1929 approximated 4,000,000,000 cubic feet. WHEAT IS NOW OVER 22C ABOVE RECENT LOW Crop Shortage Reports Boost Prices.

Foreigners have apparently awakened to the fact that there has been a material decrease in the North American wheat crops in the last few weeks. Marked advances abroad combined with continued dry weather in the spring grain area resulted in general buying yesterday which advanced all deliveries to a new high on the present movement, and 22¼ to 24 cents over the recent low. Profit taking brought about a recession of around 1c from the top with the finish at net gains of 1⅞@2c with July, $1.17@1.17⅛; September, $1.22⅝@1.23⅜, and December, $1.28⅛@1.28⅝.

Strength in wheat was the main factor in corn, and the latter gained 6@6¾c with July at the last 92⅝@93c; September, 94⅝c and December, 81⅝@81½c. Oats were up ⅜@½c with July, 44⅝c; September, 44⅞c, and December, 47⅛@48c. Rye was 1⅛@1⅜c higher, July being 89c; September, 90c, and December, 99⅝c.

Chicago Market Lags.

Short covering was strongly in evidence in Liverpool with an advance of 7⅝@8¼d for the day, equal to 4⅝@4⅞c per bu. Winnipeg, which was closed on Monday, increased its premium over Chicago and finished 4⅛@4½c higher than on Saturday. Chicago showed the least advance of any of the leading markets, as the northwest was 3¼@3½c higher. Buenos Ayres surprised the trade by being 5¾c higher at midday, with the July there at $1.11⅜ or the same prices as at Kansas City, the first time this season that this has occurred. The close was 8.10⅝.

Sensational claims of crop damage were received from the American northwest, with Duluth and Minneapolis houses backing the reports with buying orders. Locals sold early, only to reinstate lines on a strong rally, and many of them sold out again later causing the recession from the top. Commission houses were on both sides. No relief from the dry weather was expected in Canada, and the crop there is steadily deteriorating with the three provinces estimated by Chicago statisticians as having around 368,000,000 bu, against 508,000,000 bu harvested last year.

Corn Acts Heavy.

Outside speculators apparently failed to enthuse over the private estimates on corn showing an average of 2,683,000,000 bu against 2,840,000,000 bu harvested last year, and there was fairly persistent selling by locals and commission houses, although aggressive buying of December by a house with eastern connections was in evidence at times.

Oats prices averaged higher with the December selling at a new high on the crop due to continued dry weather in the northwest. Private estimates showed an average of 1,252,000,000 bu, or 20,000,000 bu less than a month ago and 198,000,000 bu less than last year's harvest. Bulk of the trade in rye was in spreading and unspreading with other grains.

Weevil Scare in Cotton; Shorts Are Good Buyers

Reports of weevil activities in parts of the cotton belt were the basis for considerable buying yesterday to cover shorts by traders in all markets, which advanced prices and made a close around the best of the day despite the weakness and declined 8 to 9 points in Liverpool, where spot sales were 6,000 bales.

CHICAGO BANKS INTRENCHED IN STRONG POSITION

of $8,761,000 in loans and discounts, an increase of $43,469,000 in total deposits, a gain of $26,936,000 in cash resources, and an increase of $3,461,000 in savings deposits, all compared with three months ago.

Condition of State Banks.

The state banks show a decline of $57,782,000 in loans and discounts, a decline of $14,037,000 in total deposits, a gain of $38,482,000 in cash resources, and an increase of $15,345,000 in savings deposits.

Some light on the reasons for the current credit pinch was thrown by two announcements yesterday. The New York Stock exchange reported that loans of its members on security collateral reached a new peak at $7,071,221,275 last Saturday. The figure is $406,083,350 above the total on May 31, and $266,763,869 above the previous peak on March 31; also $2,172,869,788 higher than a year ago.

But it would seem that the present peak figure results from funds furnished by corporations and other lenders and New York banks, rather than the interior banks. The New York federal reserve bank reported that borrowings of its member banks on Monday reached $425,000,000, the highest level in recent years and $21,000,000 above the previous peak recorded on Jan 2. The present large borrowings are attributed to the mid-year settlements, the maturing of rights for large new stock offerings and also the advance in stock market prices.

EVANSTON LOOP TO GET ANOTHER BUSINESS BLOCK

Carlson Buys Leasehold at 1623 Orrington.

Another important improvement looms for Evanston's rapidly expanding business district in the not too far distant future as the result of the purchase yesterday of a ninety-nine year leasehold on the property at 1623-27 Orrington avenue, between Church and Davis streets. The purchaser was Victor C. Carlson, head of the Victor C. Carlson organization, builder of several of Evanston's most prominent business structures, and the seller was Max Witkower, Evanston justice of the peace.

The property originally was leased from Northwestern university and there are about thirty-three years yet to run on the lease. The land leased is 66x210 feet and is improved with an old two story building. While the nature of the improvement has not yet been determined, it was intimated that it would be a commercial structure, possibly five or six stories high. It is not expected that work will start before a year. A. N. Pritzker of Pritzker & Pritzker and R. L. Freeman were attorneys.

Buys Foundry Site.

The Kedzie Foundry company has purchased the property, 185x246 feet, at 3234 West 31st street from Oscar Baur for an indicated $70,000. The foundry firm has been occupying the property under lease. Butler, Lamb, Foster & Pope were attorneys.

Louis J. Hotchkiss and Albert H. Regan exchanged the new ten room house at 1311 Lathrop avenue, River Forest, with Steven F. Chapin for the two duplex apartments at 617-19 South Harlem avenue. Mr. Chapin will make his home in the Lathrop avenue residence. William P. England and Harold M. Perley of the George R. Hemingway organization were brokers.

Plans Millinary Store Chain.

The Klein Millinery company has leased what is claimed will be the first of a chain of millinery stores throughout the city at 3333 Lawrence avenue for five years at a reported term rental of $12,500. R. M. Perbohner is lessor. Milton Netzorg of Kaplan & Co. was broker.

Incorporation papers have been taken out by the Castlereagh Building corporation for the three story and English basement coöperative apartment building nearing completion at 6822 Normal boulevard, Englewood. The structure contains six apartments, of which two have been sold. It is of Tudor design and was planned by Architect Rudolph Boehm. A. H. Whitley & Co. are selling agents. The lot is 50x144 feet.

CROP RETURNS CUT; WHEAT OFF SHARPLY; CORN ACREAGE LESS

A corn crop of 2,683,000,000 bu, or 207,000,000 bu less than suggested at this time last year, and 157,000,000 bu less than harvested in 1928 is indicated by the average of the private crop estimates given to the trade yesterday. Acreage is around 98,000,000, the smallest with one exception since pre-war days, and compared with 100,761,000 acres last year. Condition is 79.4, against 78.1 last year, and a 10 year average of 82.6. Reduction in acreage and the low condition is most marked in the states of large commercial production.

While the spring wheat crop is estimated at about 2,000,000 bu more than last month, this was due to a sharp advance in the par used in figuring the report, and which offset a heavy decline in condition. Winter wheat was lowered 31,000,000 bu from the private returns in June, and was 21,000,000 bu below the government figures. Losses were mainly in Kansas, Oklahoma, Illinois and Missouri. Some damage by black rust is indicated in reports to B. W. Snow. Estimates on oats were reduced 20,000,000 bu from the previous month. Cromwell makes acreage 38,895,000, or 6.3 per cent less than last year.

Here are Three Bank Statements

we recommend to the attention of all Residents and Merchants in the Illinois Central Zone from 39th St. to 79th St., east of Cottage Grove Avenue.

These three banks, adequately housed in their own new Buildings, opposite three important I. C. Depots, serve a total of fifty thousand Depositors, to which are added some months as many as a thousand new accounts.

We should be pleased to welcome you and the members of your family, or your organization, among our prosperous and happy Depositors.

Cerro de Pasco Copper.

R. T. D.—Cerro de Pasco Copper corporation in 1928 began to produce lead and zinc in important tonnage and figures for 1929 will probably show further material increase in the output of both these metals.

The lead and zinc output is mainly from the corporation's own mines, while a considerable proportion of the copper and silver output is from purchased ores.

Net income was $5,756,328, against $3,664,281 in 1927.

After dividends there was a surplus of $703,539, against a deficit of $627,087 for 1927.

Earnings in 1928 were equivalent to $5.13 a share on 1,122,542 no par shares, compared with $3.26 a share on the same share basis in 1927.

Profit and loss surplus as of Dec. 31, 1928, was $4,463,360, against $505,494 the previous year.

Current assets were $34,544,716 and current liabilities were $3,953,660 at the close of 1928. This left a net working capital of $30,591,056, which compares with $26,786,650 the year before.

With the payment of a quarterly dividend of $1.50, May 1, 1929, the annual dividend rate on the no par stock was raised $6 annually. On Feb. 1, 1929, a quarterly dividend of $1.25 a share was paid.

Federal Motor Truck.

F. C., Thomasboro, Ill.—Federal Motor Truck company reported net profit of $550,588 for 1928, against $447,556 for 1927.

After dividends there was a surplus of $165,338 for 1928, against $98,566 for 1927.

Earnings in 1928 were equivalent to $1.10 a share on 499,543 no par shares, compared with 99 cents on 452,562 shares in 1927.

Profit and loss surplus at the close of 1928 was $3,611,477, against $3,676,537 the year before.

Current assets were $6,102,188 and current liabilities were $685,760 as of Dec. 31, 1928. This left a net working capital of $5,416,428, which compares with $5,399,406 the previous year.

First quarter [1929] sales increased fifty per cent over the corresponding period of 1928, it was estimated in April, 1929.

The stock deserves a fair rating.

Kansas Telephone.

L. E. W.—Kansas Telephone company $550,000 first mortgage convertible 6 per cent bonds, dated April 15, 1929, and due April 15, 1939, are secured by a first mortgage on all the physical properties of the company. These properties have an appraised valuation of $1,478,358.

The company's net income in 1928 was $87,994. Annual interest charges on this issue will amount to $33,000.

These bonds are convertible at the option of the holder into 7 per cent cumulative prior preferred stock of the company at any time prior to ten days before redemption of the bonds on the basis of 11 shares of such stock for each $1,000 bond.

They are a suitable investment for a business man's surplus funds.

NEW HIGH ON EGG FUTURES

A government report showing that the shortage in stocks of eggs in warehouse continued large as compared with last year was responsible for an advance of ¾c in the November delivery on the Chicago Mercantile exchange to 38½c, a new high for the season with a heavy turnover. The finish was at 38¾c, gaining ¼c for the day. Sales were 221 cars and receipts 16,968 cases. Butter futures finished unchanged with July, 40¼c, and December, 43½c. The latter reacted after being ¼c higher early. Sales were 71 cars and receipts, 18,445 tubs.

Tendency ruled strong to higher in all classes of live stock again yesterday. The $16.00 quotation has been reinstalled in the cattle market after an absence of about six months. Top hogs advanced to $11.50, equaling the highest in nearly two months, while top lambs passed the $15.00 line for the first time in two weeks.

Hog prices are again equal to the highest point of the last two months and salesmen hope to boost top lightweights closer to the $12.00 line in the near future. Arrivals at 26,000 exceeded expectations, but demand was brisk and extreme top moved up 10c at $11.50, with the general average 5c higher at $10.90, comparing with a top of $11.10 an average of $10.60 at the low time of last week.

Eight local packers handled a total of 12,000. Shippers bought 6,500 and city butchers 3,000, with many of the 7,000 left being held off of the market on the strength of the moderate run of 17,000 estimated for today.

Gains of 15@25c were scored in the cattle market yesterday, carrying prices 25@50c above the low point of last week. A string of 76 Nebraska steers averaging 1,292 lbs., reached $16.00, and 22 yearlings averaging 1,075 lbs., brought $15.90, both new high marks for the season.

In 1928 and 1927 the summer and fall gains in cattle prices were among the sharpest in history. A year ago yesterday top steers sold at $15.75, but were up to $16.25 by Monday of the following week and reached $16.85 before the close of July. In August another dollar was added and in September the top reached $18.65. Two years ago yesterday top steers rested at $14.35, bdt sold at $16.65 in September and were up to $19.00 in November.

The small supply of lambs available yesterday met early clearance at stronger prices, with sales considered mostly 10@15c higher due to lighter sorting.

Choice range lambs reached $15.10, with bulk at $14.75@15.00 and most natives at $14.25@14.75. Prevailing quotations are 50@60c above the low spot of last week.

Lard Stocks in West Increased 13,631,621 Lbs.

Lard stocks at leading western packing points of 133,399,122 lbs. increased 13,631,621 lbs last month, compared with an increase of 26,660,136 lbs for the same time last year and 26,310,938 lbs two years ago. The increase in the past month was the smallest for the period since 1925, when it was 6,049,727 lbs. Total stocks are the largest in recent years with the exception of one year ago, when they were 162,779,157 lbs.

Reports on stocks of lard and meats have had little influence as a market factor. The hog market was strong, with larger receipts than a week or a year ago.

Interest in meats was light, with ribs 5c lower, bellies 2½@7½c lower, the latter on September. Exports of bacon were 196,500 lbs. Prices follow:

Investment Counselors for over a Quarter Century

No Longer

No longer do we have "bull" markets and "bear" markets. No longer do all stocks move up or down together. Motor stocks may react badly while utilities are advancing. One stock in a group may rise while the others decline. In short, investment of capital is growing increasingly complex. Therefore, sound, unbiased investment counsel is today of greater value than ever before.

It is Brookmire's business to render such counsel, and

(1) Brookmire spends hundreds of thousands of dollars annually on research, to insure accuracy.

(2) Brookmire has a background of more than 25 years' experience.

(3) Brookmire has many thousand clients, who are clients because they have found it pays to follow Brookmire advice.

(4) Brookmire is the oldest and largest organization of its character in the United States, further evidence of the value of the Service.

(5) Brookmire urges every client to tell of his capital status and investment objectives, so that personal advice may be given.

There are few individuals whose investments will not be far more successful with Brookmire cooperation. To check up on Brookmire Service, what it is and how you can use it, involves no obligation. The coupon will bring "Investment Procedure for a Business Man" and a description of this organization and the work it does.

CHICAGO STOCKS SWING UPWARD IN ACTIVE DAY

Foote Bros. Gear Makes 4 7-8 Points Gain.

BY GEORGE HAMMOND.

Evidence of a weakening in the fifteen per cent call money rate and expectations that funds required for the half year money stringency would be back in regular channels by today brought a broad upward movement in Chicago stock prices yesterday. Net gains ranged up to seven points on the largest turnover in several months.

Foote Bros. Gear was a feature of the automotive division, shooting up 4¾ to 29 on sudden activity coupled with reports of increased business. Company officials refused to give figures but stated that both sales and earnings are considerably ahead of a year ago. Auburn Automobile advanced seven points on five 100 share lot sales.

Pines Up 2½.

Pines Winterfront reflected announcement of several big orders by gaining 2½. Great Lakes Aircraft was up two points on announcement by Col. B. F. Castle, president, that the company has received an order from the United States navy for eighteen three purpose battle planes, deliveries of which are to start Oct. 1. The total amount involved in the contract is $623,971. He added that orders on the company books now total $4,750,000.

Monsanto Advances.

Monsanto Chemical advanced six points. Stockholders of the company approved the proposal to split the stock on a two for one basis. Directors announced their intention of placing the stock on a regular stock dividend basis in addition to the cash payment. The first quarterly stock dividend will be 1½ per cent payable about Aug. 1.

Campbell, Wyant & Cannon sold up 3½ on the delivery notice to stockholders to meet on July 12 to vote on a proposal to acquire the National Motor Castings company. The acquisition will be made through the issuance of 33,000 shares of unissued stock for the 22,000 shares of National stock. A. M. Castle gained two points on the declaration of an extra disbursement of 25 cents a share.

Middle West Utilities regained seven points and Commonwealth-Edison was up five points. Insull Utility Investment advanced 1½. Chicago corporation was off 1½. Gains up to nearly three points were made by Bastian-Blessing, U. S. Gypsum, Swift International, Art Metal Works, Keystone Steel and Hormell Packing.

Yates Machine Up.

Yates American Machine sold fractionally higher in reflection of the issuance of the May earnings statement showing net of $58,948 after all charges. This is equal to 43 cents a share on 135,000 shares of participating preferred stock. For the eleven months of the fiscal year ended May 31, net was $471,083 or $3.49 a share against a loss of $172,804 for the full preceding fiscal year ended June 30, 1928.

Bunte Bros., candy manufacturers, was not traded. Directors declared an extra dividend of fifty cents a share on the common stock during the day. Theodore W. Bunte, president, stated that sales for the first half of 1929 increased about $500,000 over those of the same period last year. He added that earnings are well in excess of those for the same period of 1928.

DRY GOODS.

NEW YORK, July 2.—(AP)—Firmer cotton markets steadied cloth markets and the very general curtailment of production this week had many areas to offer only stock goods for sale. Yarn prices were nominally unchanged, but concessions from recent quotations were available. Silk merchandise adapted to move more freely for fall delivery. Summer silks are being cleaned up at concessions. The strike of 28,000 garment workers led to quiet in the cloak and suit material markets. Orders received for fall deliveries of high quality merchandise have been good. Burlaps were inactive.

STUDEBAKER'S 4TH OF JULY CLEARANCE
Your own judgment will verify that the used car prices quoted below are the lowest ever offered. Every automobile is equipped with many extras, is in good mechanical shape and is protected by the Studebaker Used Car Pledge, which guarantees five days' free driving trial.

LINCOLN COUPE—Late model that was only driven Sundays and evenings for pleasure purposes. It's in A-1 condition today. Equipped with shutter front, shock absorbers, sun visor, 2 spare tires, etc. At our price of $695, this is an exceptional buy.

PEERLESS SEDAN—1929, with unusually low mileage. This car appears as though you were the factory. Every feature is positively 100%. Can be obtained at a tremendous saving.

PACKARD SEDAN—Late model six that's exceptionally clean throughout. Equipped with 4 whl. brakes, snubbers, spare tire, etc. The motor is excellent and the upholstery appears unused. Will be sold at once for $450.

REO WOLVERINE CABRIOLET—This car was traded in at a very favorable price and we're willing to pass on the saving to you. It's in top notch condition and the equipment includes 4 whl. brakes, shock absorbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. Tires are very good. Has a rumble seat. Only $695.

BUICK PHAETON—Recent model Mast. 6 with a handsome two tone finish in tan and dark tan. This is a snappy, low slung 5 pass. model in unusually fine condition. The motor is top notch and the equipment includes 4 whl. brakes, bumpers, spare tire, etc. A real buy at $650.

CADILLAC COACH — A late model that your neighbors could not tell from a brand new Cadillac. Examine the appearance yourself and you'll agree, every feature is in excellent condition. Take a demonstration in this car and you'll admit it has a sweet running motor, 4 whl. brakes, shock absorbers, shutter front, etc. Special for $650.

DODGE SEDAN—It's a late model "Fast 6" finished in fine mulberry and black. It is very low as this car was in storage for almost a year. Equipped with snubbers, bumper guards, spare tire and other extras. The motor is excellent. $525.

OAKLAND SEDAN—1928. Only driven a few thousand miles. We believe this is the best Oakland value in Chicago. Positively will give you perfect satisfaction. Motor is A-1 and the finish, upholstery and tires appear brand new. 4 whl. brakes, snubbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. Today, $750.

STUDEBAKER LIMOUSINE—1929 Str. 8, used for a few weeks by one of the most important executives of the Studebaker Corp. Now it is certainly 100% like a new motor car. No one could tell this car was ever driven a mile. Equipped with shock absorbers, wire wheels, fender wells, and other extra motor equipment. Has attractive mohair upholstery in the rear and special leather upholstery in the front. Cost $6,000 sixty days ago. Now special for $1,850.

LA SALLE CABRIOLET—1928, that is one of the smartest sport cars you've ever seen. Finish is a pleasing two tone combination of black and maroon. The motor really could not be improved. Top is collapsible and there's a roomy rumble seat. Equipped with 4 whl. brakes, sun visor, wire wheels, shock absorbers and other valuable extras. Very low mileage. For today, $1,085.

HUPMOBILE COUPE—Str. 8, four pass. Vict. with attractive Blue finish. This motor car is the Chicago type, so now it's ready to give you wonderful service. 4 whl. brakes, snubbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. Equipped with 4 whl. brakes, snubbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. Only $685.

STUDEBAKER VICTORIA—1927 Dictator 4 pass. coupe that's one of the best used car buys in Chicago. The motor has been reconditioned by expert Studebaker mechanics and is carried by 90 day free service guarantee. The upholstery has not a worn spot, and the finish is bright and shiny. Equipped with 4 whl. brakes, snubbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. Only $685.
